ZIEGENBALG ASKS FOR SUSPENSION UNTIL CHARGES ARE DISPOSED OF

Board of Aldermen to Convene in Special Session Thursday to Consider Request of Its Vice President.

Walter W. Ziegenbalg, vice president of the Boar dof Aldermen, who is under indictment for allegedly soliciting and accepting bribes, today asked the board to suspend him pending disposition of the charges. The board will convene in special session at 11 a.m. Thursday to consider the request.

The Fourth Ward Democrat, who is serving his fifth term as an alderman, announced his action through City Treasurer John J. Dwyer, chairman of the Democratic City Committee, who, the Post-Dispatch was told, had requested Ziegenbalg to resign to save the Democratic party embarrassment.

Letter to Board.

Dwyer, without comment, made public a letter addressed by Ziegenbalg to the Board of Aldermen. It read:

"Gentlemen:

"Inasmuch as the grand jury has seen fit to indict me, I realize that the adverse newspaper publicity may embarrass the Board of Aldermen if I should continue active as a member and participate in its proceedings.

"Under the circumstances I respectfully request the Board of Aldermen to take appropriate action to relieve me of all official duties temporarily and until my innocence has been established before the proper tribunal."

The board action asked for by Ziegenbalg is the same as taken by the board last month against Alderman Ben Oliver, part-time Negro minister and hotel valet, with whom Ziegenbalg has been indicted jointly on two counts, one of soliciting a bribe and another accepting a bribe for their support of measures introduced in the board.

Committee Named.

At the time Oliver was suspended, the board took no action in Ziegenbalg's case. However, in recessing for the summer vacation period, the board authorized the special committee appointed to investigate Oliver's case to call it back into special session if necessary.

Alderman John T. Curry, acting chairman of the committee, issued the call for Thursday's special session to take up Ziegenbalg's suspension. He and other committee members were attempting to reach other board members by telephone. At least 20 other aldermen must be present to call the meeting to order.

Together with Oliver, Ziegenbalg was charged in an indictment voted by the grand jury last month of soliciting a bribe to assure passage of a measure sought by the Steamer Service Co. to permit installation of an electric cable along its river-front facilities.

Last week Ziegenbalg was named in two indictments. One charged him jointly with Oliver. It alleged payment of $150 by C. Kenneth Thies, an attorney for Cleveland Engine Division of General Motors Corp., after passage by the board of a measure sought by the company authorizing installation of a power line to a barge operated by the company in the Mississippi river.

The second indictment named Ziegenbalg alone. It alleged he received $350 through a third party from Capt. J. W. (Bill) Menke, proprietor of the showboat, Golden Rod, to assure passage of a similar measure to provide electricity on the showboat.

LINCOLN U. LAW SCHOOL IN CITY TO BE CLOSED

Building to be Vacated After 1955 Term—Negro Institution to be Open to Whites.

The Lincoln University School of Law, operated at 4300 St. Ferdinand avenue as a branch of the state institution for Negroes at Jefferson City, will close after the 1954-55 school year as a result of the ending of segregation in public schools, it was announced today.

At the same time H. Byron Masterson of Kennett, president of the Lincoln University board of curators, announced at Jefferson City that the 88-year-old institution would open its doors to white students for the first time.

This decision was in line with that of the University of Missouri curators, who voted last month to end segregation in all divisions of the university, following the United States Supreme Court ruling outlawing segregation.

Masterson said the St. Ferdinand avenue building would be vacated and the school "probably discontinued." The University of Missouri at Columbia, 32 miles from Jefferson City, has a law school.

The Lincoln University school in St. Louis was founded in 1939 and last year had 18 students. It is headed by Scovel Richardson, dean.

In addition to closing of the law school, Masterson said the curators also would look into the desirability of limiting the university to arts and science classes and dropping its graduate courses.

He did not mention the institution's journalism school, but it would be affected by the limitation to arts and science courses.

The university, averaging about 800 students a year, was founded in 1866 by contributions of Negro Civil War veterans and was the first Negro institution to be named after Abraham Lincoln. Previously it had turned down applications by white students for admission, in line with the Missouri segregation law.

AIRMEN HAIL SWITCH FROM K.P.S TO WAITRESSES

ENID, Okla., Aug. 2 (AP)—Waitresses dressed in trim white waitresses' uniforms greeted Vance Air Force Base airmen as they went to chow this morning.

It was only the second day of the Air Force's experiment at turning kitchen police duty over to a catering service. But the trial, due to continue for 11 months, was immediately pronounced a tremendous success.

"Everyone was very enthusiastic, especially men who ordinarily pull K.P. every 15 or 20 days," said Lt. Joseph A. Hays, public information officer.

Cafeteria style still prevails. But instead of the old trays where the gravy slopped over on the apple pie, good chinaware is used. The girls clean off the tables, too.

COMMITTEE VOTES FUNDS FOR TRADE FIGHT WITH REDS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2 (AP)—A fight for trade may break out soon between the United States and Soviet Russia. It involves not only hundreds of household appliances but much more substantial things like farm tractors, family automobiles, television sets and even a good musical comedy or two.

The battles may be fought at some 30 of the more than 77 international fairs and expositions now scheduled for all parts of the world in the next 12 months.

President Eisenhower would direct the struggle between private enterprise and Communist industry with the help of a special $5,000,000 fund that is now being considered in the Senate.

The Senate Appropriations Committee approved the presidential suggestion in a bulky catch-all supplemental appropriation containing more than two billion dollars.

Chairman Bridges (Rep.), New Hampshire, reported that America has been making a poor showing compared with Russia at many of the recent international fairs and expositions.

LOSES 50 POUNDS WITHOUT A DIET, NO FOOD AT ALL

MIAMI, Fla., Aug. 2 (UP)—A vegetarian has developed a diet that knocks off 50 pounds in 50 days. The secret: don't eat at all.

Louis Cress, who ran a filling station in Lodi, N. J., before coming to nearby Dania, Fla., to improve his health, went on the fast because he wasn't feeling good. Today he weighs 88 pounds and feels fine.

"I'm going to gain it all back," he explained. "But the important thing is I've removed the poisons from my system — I'm much healthier physically and mentally.

In 1937, after suffering from severe headaches, he went without food 40 days. The headaches left, along with the poundage.

Cress recommends fasting, however, only to those who "know what they are doing."

5-Inch Downpour in Kansas.

CLAY CENTER, Kan., Aug. 2 (UP)—Sixty national guardsmen maintained an all-night vigil of a downtown area after a storm that dumped water knee-deep on this north Kansas town of 5000 last night. The rain that followed a 30 minute hail storm was estimated at five inches.

PART OF STATE LISTED AS DROUTH DISASTER AREA

76 Out of 114 Counties Designated by Eisenhower for a Federal Feed Subsidy.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2 (UP)—President Eisenhower today designated sections of Missouri and Oklahoma as drouth disaster areas. He also set in motion a program calling for a Federal subsidy of 60 cents a 100 pounds on feed grains for drouth areas.

The President acted after receiving a drouth report from Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson.

Mr. Eisenhower designated 76 counties in Missouri and 26 in Oklahoma as disaster areas eligible for federal assistance. Missouri embraces 114 countries.

Under the feed grain program announced by the White House, the Government will pay a subsidy of 60 cents a hundred pounds on corn, barley, oats and sorghums for farmers in the disaster areas. This subsidy is slightly lower than that granted during last year's drouth.

Benson said the program will be handled through established feed grain dealers.

The farmer will buy his corn on the market from the dealer and the subsidy will be paid to the dealer, thus enabling the farmer to purchase corn, depending on his location, for less than $1.50 a bushel.

Benson said the drouth is spreading damage in the East now, and in the Midwest farmers are beginning to lose livestock.

He said a good rain would help pastures generally, and corn in some areas, but the rain would have to come immediately. He said recent rains in the drouth area have been "very limited and spotty."

St. Louis and St. Charles counties were among the Missouri counties listed as drouth disaster areas.

AIR FORCE NAMES 2 SENIOR MEMBERS OF ACADEMY STAFF

WASHINGTON, Aug 2 (AP)—The Air Force today selected two more senior members of the new Air Academy staff. They are Brig. Gen. Don Z. Zimmerman, who will be dean of faculty, and Col. Robert M. Stillman, commandant of cadets.

The appointment of Lt. Gen. Hubert R. Harmon to be superintendent of the academy to be located in Colorado Springs, Colo., has been announced previously.

Zimmerman, a native of Eugene, Ore., is a graduate of the Nniversity of Oregon and the United States Military Academy. Stillman was born in Greenville, Ohio, and attended Colorado College at Colorado Springs for two years before going on to the Military Academy.

In World War II Zimmerman served in the Pacific with the Fifth Amphibious Force and the Strategic Air Force. His last assignment has been as deputy for intelligence for the Far East Air Force. Stillman commanded the 322nd Bomb Group in Europe in World War II. He was shot down in 1943 and remained a prisoner for two years.

PRESIDENT, FAMILY RETURN FROM STAY AT CAMP DAVID

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2 (UP)—President Eisenhower and his family returned to the White House today after a long weekend in the western Maryland mountains where he escaped Washington's hottest weather in 18 years. The President and Mrs. Eisenhower stayed at Camp David Lodge an extra night because of the hot, humid weather in the capital.

Washington's temperature of 103 Saturday was the highest in 18 years.

INTERIOR DEPT. DOES ABOUT-FACE ON HELIUM AND SAFETY IN MINES

Acting Secretary Says Government Has No Plan to Sell Gas Facilities, Give States Say on Safety.

By GEORGE H. HALL
A Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2—Apparently stung by widespread criticism, the Department of the Interior did a quick about-face today on a controversial report on disposition of the Federal Government's helium monopoly and on possible return of coal mine safety enforcement to the states.

"The Government does not have any plan to sell its helium facilities," acting Secretary of the Interior Ralph A. Tudor told a House Interior and Insular Affairs subcommittee. "The department does not advocate the abandonment of mine safety enforcement by the Federal Government."

After a brief hearing several subcommittee members, wearing broad grins, said the department seemed to have changed its mind since publication of a report by a five-member survey team last Tuesday.

Effect of Publicity.

Representative Ken Regan (Dem.), Texas, said he now saw no reason to worry about coal mine inspection. Representative Wesley A. d'Ewart (Rep.), Montana, said today's attitude of the department seemed "quite different" than that of last week. A United Mine Workers' representative attributed the change to newspaper publicity.

The survey team, appointed last November by Secretary of the Interior Douglas McKay, produced a report that was approved almost in its entirety by McKay, Tudor and Assistant Secretary Felix E. Wormser.

The report recommended that the Interior Department's Bureau of Mines should do everything possible to terminate present production activities and that the helium plants at Amarillo and Exell, Tex., and Shiprock, N. M., and Otis, Kan., "should be made available for purchase or operation by private industry."

Up to Congress.

Tudor said the Government had investigated the possibilities of disposing of the helium plants but had met with no encouragement. In any event, he said, any recommendation for sale "would require full and careful consideration and action by Congress before it could be implemented."

Tudor said McKay would contemplate selling the plants only if they could be privately operated on a basis consistent with national security (helium is in great demand by the Atomic Energy Commission and defense agencies) and meanwhile the program would be enlarged. He said the department would continue to support a request now before Congress for a $6,000,000 supplementary appropriation for expanding the program.

John J. Forbes, director of the Bureau of Mines, who testified also, said administration of the helium operation is being set up on a more efficient basis with a new director at Amarillo reporting directly to him.

Although the interior committee is not responsible for mine safety legislation, George Abbott, committee counsel, asked some questions that have been raised about it. The survey team report took the position that enforcement could gradually be returned to the states, from which it was wrested after a series of mine disasters and exhaustive evidence the states could not do the job.

Team's Recommendations.

The team recommended that the bureau increase its co-operation with state mine inspection departments, miners and operators, to bring state inspections up to federal standards. When this has been accomplished, "the

DOG RIDES KENNEL THROUGH IRON CURTAIN IN FLOOD

PASSAU, Germany, Aug 2 (AP)—A West German police dog, trapped in the Danube river floods, seems to have piloted his doghouse right through the Iron Curtain.

Mayor Hans Billinger told the story today:

Passau residents early last month noticed a doghouse bobbing down the swollen Danube with a police dog riding the gable. Later somebody spotted it at the German-Austrian border. Then the dog was seen at Linz, still going with the current. That was July 10.

Now the mayor has just got a postcard from Budapest, capital of Communist Hungary, about 350 miles downstream from this city. It said a police dog with a Passau tag on his collar had floated ashore there on a doghouse and the writer was trying to arrange to ship him back. Billinger doesn't know who owns the dog.

KNOWLAND ASKS SENATE SEND M'CARTHY CENSURE MOTION TO COMMITTEE

PRESIDENT PICKS GEN. VOGEL AS HEAD OF TVA TO SUCCEED CLAPP

Nominates Army Corps of Engineers Division Officer — Term in $15,000 Post Will Run Until 1963.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2 (UP)—Brig. Gen. Herbert D. Vogel was nominated today by President Eisenhower to the board of directors of the Tennessee Valley authority. Mr. Eisenhower will designate him as TVA chairman when the Senate confirms the nomination.

Vogel was nominated to succeed Gordon R. Clapp, whose term expired last May 18. The President chose not to reappoint Clapp although he was urged to do so by a number of people in and out of Congress.

Vogel's term will run until 1963. The post pays $15,000 a year.

The new TVA director, a West Point graduate of 1924, is now division engineer in the southwest for the Army Corps of Engineers with headquarters at Dallas.

Retiring From Army.

His TVA term will not become effective until Aug. 31 when the 53-year-old officer formally retires from the Army.

He was nominated only to the TVA board of directors. White House press secretary James C. Hagerty said the 53-year-old general and hydraulic engineer will be Mr. Eisenhower's choice for TVA chairmanship after his confirmation.

By the Associated Press.

Vogel has no political affiliations so far as public records go. He is a former lieutenant governor of the Panama Canal Zone and holds the Legion of Merit and the Distinguished Service Medal.

A native of Chelsea, Mich., where he was born Aug. 26, 1900, Gen. Vogel entered upon his present assignment as southwestern division engineer at Dallas on June 23, 1952. His Army file notes that he introduced experimental hydraulics into this country more than 20 years ago and has been closely identified with progressive engineering ever since.

In his present job, he supervises military construction in five states and civil works building in all or portions of eight states. He is also chairman of the Arkansas-White-Red Basins inter-agency committee working on a comprehensive plan of soil and water development, conservation and control in a territory comprosing one-eleventh of the United States.

Studied in Berlin.

He went to Michigan State University before entering the United States Military Academy where he was graduated in 1924. He continued his studies at the University of California and in Berlin. In 1930 he helped build the United States Waterways Experiment Station in Vicksburg, Miss., and remained as director until 1934.

After tours of duty in Hawaii and as an instructor at the Army Engineer School at Fort Belvoir, Va., Vogel was made district engineer at Pittsburgh in 1942. There he directed a $250,000,000 military construction program and won the Legion of Merit for this work.

He was assigned to the Southwest Pacific in January 1944, and served in Australia, New Guinea, and the Philippines and Japan. He received the D.S.M. for his overseas service.

After the war he became district engineer at Buffalo, N.Y. and served there until 1949 when he was named engineer of maintenance and lieutenant governor of the Canal Zone.

One of his sons, Herbert D. Vogel Jr., was graduated from West Point in 1952 and is now stationed near Frankfurt, Germany. The other, Richard E., 13, lives with Gen. and Mrs. Vogel in Dallas.

7 REDS ARRESTED IN WEST, ACCUSED UNDER SMITH ACT

Underground Leader and 3 Women Among Them—One in Hiding Six Months.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2 (AP)—The Justice Department today announced the arrest of two additional alleged Communist party leaders in Colorado, making a total of seven taken into custody in the West in the last 24 hours.

All of those arrested were chargedunder the Smith Act with conspiracy to teach and advocate the violent overthrow of the United States Government.

The Justice Department disclosed that FBI agents this morning picked up Joseph William Scherrer, 34 years old of Pueblo, Colo., and his wife, Maia Scherrer, 36.

Scherrer, described as presently active with the Communist party at Pueblo, was taken into custody at the Scherrer residence, where the FBI said many Communist party meetings had been held.

Wife Arrested in Denver.

Mrs. Scherrer was arrested at the Stapleton municipal airport in Denver. The FBI declined to discuss the circumstances that led to her pickup there.

A native of Brooklyn, Mrs. Scherrer was described as having been active in Communist affairs for more than 10 years.

The FBI said she was named to the party's executive committee in Colorado in 1950 after serving as organizational secretary of the Communist Political Association in Buffalo, N.Y., in 1944 and subsequently with the Denver branch of the Civil Rights Congress, which is on the Attorney General's subversive list.

Scherrer ies a native of Agate, Colo., and attended the University of Colorado and Regis College.

Five party leaders were rounded up by FBI agents late last night in simultaneous raids in Denver and Los Angeles. Four of them were arrested on a street in Denver only a block from the Colorado Capitol. One of them, a woman, had been in hiding for six months.

Another woman was arrested in her home in Los Angeles.

United States Commissioner Joseph D. Neff set bond at $100,000 each early today for the four seized in Denver.

Underground Leaders.

In announcing the arrests, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover described one of those arrested, Arthur Bary, 42, as "one of the party's outstanding West coast underground leaders who has been assigned such missions as investigating how the FBI has been able to arrest other underground leaders."

Arrested in Denver were Bary, chairman of the Colorado Communist party and regional organizer for Colorado, Wyoming, Montana, Utah and New Mexico; Anna Correa Bary, 29, his wife and former organizer of the Communist party in Denver; Harold Zepelin, 28, Communist party organizer for Colorado,

ALSO URGES ALL AMENDMENTS BE SENT TO SIX-MAN BIPARTISAN BODY

G.O.P. Leader Accuses Morse of Revealing 'Top Secret' in Political Talk—Independent Denies It.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2 (AP)—Senator William F. Knowland (Rep.), California, today formally asked the Senate to send the resolution to censure Senator Joseph R. McCarthy (Rep.), Wisconsin, and all amendments to the resolution, to a special committee of three Republicans and three Democrats.

Knowland said Vice President Richard Nixon should name the six members of the special committee and that it should report back to the Senate "as expeditiously as equity and justice will permit."

Senator Ives (Rep.), New York, offered an amendment to Knowland's proposal which would instruct that the special committee report its findings "by Aug. 10 or before the adjournment of the Eighty-third Congress, whichever is the earlier."

Ives asked that his proposal be printed and allowed to lie on the desk, indicating he expected no vote on the issue before tomorrow.

Knowland made his motion an hour and a half after the start of the third day of debate on the resolution by Senator Ralph E. Flanders (Rep.), Vermont, to censure McCarthy for conduct that tends to bring the Senate into disrepute.

The Republican leader did not ask that Nixon sit as a member of the special, or, as he called it, "select" committee.

The pending amendments to the Flanders resolution include the various specific charges which have been filed as bills of particulars by Senators William Fulbright (Dem.), Arkansas, and Wayne Morse (Ind.), Oregon.

Takes Dig at Morse.

Before Knowland's motion, the Republican leader had told the Senate that Morse, who criticizes McCarthy's attitude toward secret government information, had himself once revealed part of a "top secret" document in a political speech."

Morse, springing up in rebuttal, said Knowland was referring to a speech Morse made at Minneapolis in the 1952 election campaign.

And, Morse declared, the then President Truman had declassified the document and made it available for use in the speech.

In tones of astonishment, Knowland said "I am deeply shocked by the revelation" from Morse.

(In Independence, Mo., where he is home recuperating from abdominal surgery, Truman told the United Press he had "no recollection" of giving Senator Morse any top secret document in the 1952 Presidential campaign.

("While I have every confidence in Mr. Morse's veracity," Truman said, "I have no recollection of any such document.")

Knowland, in bringing up the matter, noted that Morse backs censure of McCarthy on the ground, among other reasons, that McCarthy had asked federal employes to hand over to him any information they might have on subversive activity within the government, even if it involved giving him secret information.

McCarthy Confident.

McCarthy, outwardly confident of victory, was calling for an early showdown on the Flanders motion. Some of his critics were conceding they saw little chance of putting over the censure move. There was talk of some move to head off outright defeat.

Morse, who was elected to the Senate as a Republican, broke with his party in 1952 and campaigned for the election of the Democratic presidential nominee, Adlai Stevenson.

Knowland told the Senate that Morse on Oct. 27, 1952, had disclosed portions of a top-secret memorandum which the late James Forrestal had sent then President Truman on Sept. 6, 1947, on the question of withdrawing United States troops from Korea.

Morse had said in the Minneapolis speech that the decision to withdraw troops was a military decision, agreed to unanimously by the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and not a State Department decision.

Mr. Eisenhower had charged in a speech a few days earlier that the decision was made by the State Department.

Knowland said that when he read in the newspapers of Morse's disclosure he immedi-

India's leading atomic scientist, Dr. Homi Jehangir Bhabha, has been appointed secretary of the department, which will have its headquarters in Bombay.

13 TRAINMEN KILLED WHEN BRIDGE COLLAPSES IN SPAIN

HUELVA, Spain, Aug. 2 (UP)—Thirteen railwaymen were killed near here today when a railway bridge collapsed under a passing freight train, plunging the train and its 14 occupants into an 80-foot ravine.

The sole survivor suffered cuts and bruises.

Wills $5000 to Repair Road He Trudged in Italy as Boy

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 2 (UP)—A wealthy Italian-born restaurateur left $5000 in his will to improve a tortuous road in his homeland over which he had struggled as a boy.

Cipriano Damico died Feb. 21 at the age of 76, leaving an estate of more than $486,000, most of it in Bank of America stocks.

Damico came to this country in 1896. Settling in San Francisco, he became a gardener, then entered the hotel business. He retired in 1935 after operating a number of restaurants in the North beach, San Francisco's Italian quarter.

But, said his nephew and attorney, Chester Damico, he never forgot the arduous 45-minute hike over the steep slopes from Zerli, Italy, to the main highway.

"He interested the Italian government in his pet project to build a new road from the Church of Zerli to Frissolino, miles away," the nephew said today. "But the job was never done, and that was why he made the bequest."

The rest of the estate was to be divided among relatives in California and Italy.

Sails Atlantic Alone in 42 Days After Newlywed Aid Backs Out

COBH, Ireland, Aug. 2 (AP)—Sven Joffs came off his seven-ton auxiliary cutter Atea and asked:

"Where can I have my beard shaved off?"

A waterfront bystander directed him to a barber shop.

"Thanks," replied Joffs nonchalantly. "I have just crossed the Atlantic—alone."

The 33-year-old merchant seaman said the voyage took him 42 days. Three severe storms had battered the cockpit.

Joffs was born in Sweden but has lived in New York for 10 years. He said he has long toyed with the idea of sailing his own ship across the Atlantic.

He saved up $6500 to buy the Atea and enlisted a friend as a crew, but the friend got married just as they were about to sail and his bride made him beg off.

So Joffs chanced it alone.

FRENCH RELEASE NATIONALISTS IN TUNISIA, NEW VIOLENCE FLARES

Soldier Reported Killed —Paris Offer Touches Off Killings in Morocco, Sister Protectorate in Africa.

TUNIS, Aug. 2 (AP)—The French freed a number of Tunisian moderate nationalist leaders from house arrest today in the wake of Premier Mendes-France's offer of internal autonomy for the North African protectorate.

At the same time, a moderate nationalist, Tahar Ben Ammar, was named Premier of Tunisia to negotiate with France for increased self-government.

President of the Tunisian chamber of agriculture, he is known for his friendship toward France. He will head a cabinet of eight Tunisians and four Frenchmen. He probably will try to convince the French that they should grant an all-Tunisian cabinet. For the present, however, French officials will act as secretary general of the cabinet, and ministers of finance, education and public works.

Leader Held.

There was no word of any change of status for Habib Bourguiba, top leader of the Nationalist Neo-Destour party who has been confined to a farm near Paris. Bourguiba appealed today for an end to the violence which has resulted in many Frenchmen and Tunisians being killed or wounded in past months.

Tahar Ben Ammar, a wealthy landowner, was named to his new post by the Bey of Tunis, but it was clear the appointment had French approval in advance. The Premier-designate is not a member of the Neo-Destour but is reported to be sympathetic toward its aims and is expected to include it in his cabinet.

A soldier was reported killed and another wounded Sunday in a clash with a band of 50 Nationalist guerrillas in the Bou Hedma mountain region. The French said two guerrillas were wounded.

Violence in Morocco.

Word of the promise of reforms for Tunisia touched off new violence in the sister North African protectorate of Morocco, resulting in the deaths of six persons.

Announcement of the offer of near-independence was generally hailed by Tunisian leaders as a step toward complete freedom, but die-hard French colonists angrily assailed it and some demanded that the French National Assembly turn Mendes-France out.

The Premier's proposal would give the Tunisians control of all their own affairs except defense and foreign relations.

Mendes-France warned, however, that the killing of Frenchmen in the territory must stop.

Effect on Morocco.

As soon as word of partial sovereignty promised to Tunisia reached Morocco, acts of terrorism increased. A Frenchman was shot to death in Casablanca and a bomb, apparently set by Nationalists, blew up another Frenchman's car. A section of rail line was cut and four fires were started in Sale.

The French News Agency reported four Moorish women and a child were trampled to death near Fez. The French said that incident was touched off when Nationalists began riotous celebrations over rumors of the return of former Moroccan Sultan Sidi Mohammed Ben Youssef, exiled in Madagascar for failing to co-operate with French authorities.

For years unrest had gripped Tunisia — under French rule since 1881. In the last two years Nationalist extremists have turned to violence, killing French colonists and burning their farms and shops.

The colonists fear that once the Tunisians gain control they will push them out of their adopted homeland. There are more than 3,000,000 Tunisians and only about 168,000 colonists.

Mendes-France made it a condition of his home-rule offer that the French be allowed to share in Tunisia's future.

Portuguese India Town Taken Over by Nationalists.

BOMBAY, India, Aug. 2 (AP)—Nationalists took over another chunk of Portuguese India yesterday, marching 3000-strong into the little town of Selvassa, 100 miles north of Bombay.

Reports reaching here said the pro-Indian group, spearheaded by the nationalist Goan People's party, overwhelmed the town's police and seized their arms.

Selvassa, a town of 5000, is headquarters of the Portuguese colonial district of Nagar Aveli. Nationalists seized six other villages in the district last Thursday.

India demands that the Portuguese pull out of their small holdings on the subcontinent, but Portugal has refused to discuss the issue.

OPORTO, Portugal, Aug. 2 (AP)—A group of 52 policemen left today for Lisbon on way to Goa to reinforce defenses of the Portuguese colonies in India. They will join a number of Lisbon policemen who also volunteered to go to India.

Youth Caught Stealing Pants.

Two Central District policemen, who early yesterday saw a youth smash a plate glass window at Jack Schultz, Inc., 1333 Washington avenue, and then grab three pairs of trousers, captured him after a chase of one block. He was booked as Mack Wilson, 17 years old, a Negro, 900 block of North Seventeenth street.

Truce Commission for Indochina Agrees to Send Advance Party

Indian, Canadian and Polish Representatives to Set Up at Least Token Supervision by Aug. 11.

NEW DELHI, Aug. 2 (AP)—The Indochina Truce Commission worked today on plans to begin at least token supervision in the Far East battleground by Aug. 11, the date on which the Geneva cease-fire becomes finally effective over the whole country.

Representatives of the three nations on the armistice group—India, Canada and Poland—agreed at an organization meeting here yesterday to send a 12-man advance party to Indochina within a week.

The cease-fire became effective in north Viet Nam last Tuesday and in central Viet Nam yesterday. It will spread to Laos on Aug. 6, Cambodia the next day and will take effect in south Viet Nam—the rest of the country—on Aug. 11.

Indian Prime Minister Nehru told the meeting he doubted "whether we can really start functioning adequately" by the final cease-fire date. But "it may be possible to start functioning in a formal way by sending somebody there," Nehru added.

India was assigned the chairmanship by the recent Geneva conference. The group discussed the size and type of staff it will need and where its headquarters should be located. There was no decision on the headquarters site. The current meetings here, which may continue several days, are only preliminary. The three countries are not expected to appoint their top commission representatives until after the talks.

India's Commonwealth Relations Secretary, Subimal Dutt, will head the advance party which will fly to Indochina in two Indian air force transports.

An Indian spokesman said the conferees split up into subcommittees today to study problems of communications, transportation and housing for the peace commissions they will send into the field in Indochina.

ready to increase its economic assistance to the free part of of war torn Indochina.

Wolf arrived from Washington yesterday as the second phase of the cease-fire went into effect in central Viet Nam. Stop-shooting orders went out to rival troops Sunday morning. About half central Viet Nam's 6,200,000 inhabitants will come under control of the Communist-led Vietminh.

Commenting on evacuating refugees, Wolf warned that "nothing can be accomplished with satisfaction" unless the United States, France and Viet Nam co-ordinate their efforts.

His words were pointed up by the firing of Hanoi's mayor in the dispute among Viet Namese officials over accepting French aid in evacuating civilians from the north. The mayor, Do Quang Giai, had been actively co-operating with the French.

He was replaced by anti-French Nguyen Van Mui, a backer of Dr. Hoang Co Binh, leader of those Viet Namese officials who insist that any French hand in the evacuation would hamper the cause of Viet Namese nationalism.

Wolf, who arrived with Frederick Bunting, chief of FOA's Indochina section, will remain here about 10 days.

French, Red Supporters Fight With Fists, Bamboo Sticks.

HANOI, Indochina, Aug. 2 (UP)—French troops and Communist supporters fought each other with fists and bamboo sticks in the Red river delta yesterday.

Unarmed French patrols were ordered to tear down Red flags which the Reds have been putting up in dozens of villages and over highways. In a village near Hai Duong, halfway between Hanoi and Haiphong on Highway No. 5, a mob of 500 women and children attacked a patrol and tried to lynch an interpreter.

Soldiers fought off the women with bamboo sticks until the interpreter escaped and then they, too, withdrew.

Communists are staging demonstrations and putting out flags to impress tens of thousands of non-Communist inhabitants trying to decide whether to accept Communist rule or flee south to free Viet Nam.

V.F.W. SAYS U.S. SHOWS DISREGARD FOR ITS VETERANS

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 2 (AP)—The Veterans of Foreign Wars today adopted a surprise resolution assailing the Eisenhower Administration and Congress for "growing and cynical disregard" for the welfare of veterans and their families.

Some 8000 delegates cheered when the resolution was presented. It was not on the national encampment's agenda and none of the delegates had an inkling of it until Wayne E. Richards, commander-in-chief presented it.

The resolution contended that disregard of the veterans was allowed to develop while the Administration and Congress was "dealing generously with foreign nations, including former enemies."

Richards said later that the resolution was drafted because the Administration "stepped on" House bill 9020, dealing with benefits to veterans.

DEFENSE IN GASPE TRIAL NOT TO CALL ANY WITNESSES

PERCE, Que., Aug. 2 (AP)—The defense announced today it would not call any witnesses in the murder trial of Wilbert Coffin, 43-year-old prospector. Coffin is charged with the murder of Richard Lindsey, 17, of Hollidaysburg, Pa., in the Gaspe wild more than a year ago.

The announcement was made by Defense Attorney Raymond Maher after the prosecution wound up presentation of its case. Justice Gerard Maher ordered the court adjourned until tomorrow, when the prosecution is scheduled to begin its summing up.

The youth Coffin is accused of murdering was one of three Pennsylvania hunters whose beartorn remains were found in the Caspe bush in July 1953.

Defense attorneys gave no explanation for their decision not to call any witnesses. The prosecution called 85 witnesses in the 16-day-old trial.

COMMITTEE OK'S TAKING TRAITORS' CITIZENSHIP AWAY

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2 (UP)—The Senate Judiciary Committee today approved Administration-backed legislation to strip American citizenship from any person convicted of treason or being a member of the Communist conspiracy.

The House-passed legislation is part of the anti-subversive program which President Eisenhower said he wants enacted before Congress adjourns.

Two major portions of the program — wiretap legislation and immunity from prosecution for certain witnesses—are still tied up in the committee.

CEYLON PRIME MINISTER TO SOUND OUT COLOMBO NATIONS ON ASIA PACT

COLOMBO, Aug. 2 (UP).

CEYLON'S premier, Sir John Kotelawela, said today he would summon the five Colombo powers to sound out their views on Britain's invitation to attend talks in September on a Southeast Asia Treaty Organization.

Kotelawela said the Prime Ministers of Ceylon, Burma, India, Indonesia and Pakistan would meet in Rangoon to discuss the merits of SEATO.

An informed source said India's Prime Minister Nehru already has told Kotelawela that he probably would not attend the conference, proposed by British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden.

PAKISTAN ASSEMBLY DRAFTS INDEPENDENCE PROVISION

KARACHI, Aug. 2 (AP)—The Constituent Assembly today adopted a clause by which it could declare Pakistan an independent sovereign republic under the new constitution now being drafted.

Earlier, some doubts were expressed whether the assembly was competent to draft a constitution for a republic because, under the Indian Independence Act of 1947 as passed by the British Parliament, Pakistan was made a dominion under the British crown.

Minister of Law A. K. Brohi said, however, "no court of law can question directly or indirectly the validity of any constitutional provisions" the assembly makes.

POLAND PROTESTS ON ALLEGED U.S. STRAFING OF SHIPS

LONDON, Aug. 2 (UP)—Communist Poland has protested to the United States against the alleged strafing of two Polish freighters in the South China Sea by American fighter planes which shot down two Red Chinese aircraft last week. The note was broadcast today by the Communist News Agency and was monitored here. It said the note was delivered Saturday.

Red China, in its protest of the loss of its two fighters, also charged that the Polish freighters were strafed.

The United States, which announced the Communist planes were shot down after they attacked United States aircraft searching for possible survivors of a British commercial airliner downed by Red China's fighter planes, said surface craft in the area were not attacked, although they fired on the United States planes.

PUBLIC HOUSING BILL IS SIGNED BY EISENHOWER

President Calls New Law 'Major Advance' — Mason Sworn in as Commissioner.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2 (AP)—President Eisenhower signed the compromise housing bill into law today and praised it as "a major advance toward meeting Americas' housing needs."

The President made no mention at the signing ceremony of Congress's sharp cut in the public housing provisions he had recommended, but he did say in a prepared statement:

"We shall need to continue our public housing program until the needs can be met by private industry. Also, the executive should have broader authority to adjust the terms on home loans to changing economic conditions."

Mason Sworn In.

Immediately after the signing, Mr. Eisenhower stood beside Norman P. Mason as Mason was sworn in as commissioner of the Federal Housing Administration. Mason has been acting commissioner.

Members of Congress and housing officials—including Senator Capehart (Rep.), Indiana, sponsor of the housing bill, and House Speaker Martin (Rep.), Massachusetts — attended the signing and swearing in ceremony in the President's office.

The Senate completed congressional action on the bill last Wednesday night with a 59 to 21 roll call vote. The House had passed it 358 to 30 on July 20.

The measure generally is designed to make it easier to buy homes and to modernize them.

Realtyman's View.

Ronald J. Chinnock, president of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, said the bill "will put home ownership within reach of many thousands of families that have not been able to own their homes in the past."

The one section of the measure differing notably from Mr. Eisenhower's request is the provision for 35,000 public housing units this fiscal year—provided this type of building is devoted only to families actually displaced by federal slum clearance work.

The President had requested authority for 140,000 units over the next four years, without this restriction. The House originally voted for no public housing at all, then compromised on the restricted 35,000-unit figure at Senate and Administration urging.

The new legislation also makes these changes effective at once:

Liberalizes down payment and repayment period requirements on homes bought with FHA-insured mortgages. For example, a house with an FHA-appraised value of $12,000 could have its down payment lowered from the present $2400 to $1200 if new and $1650 if old. Loans could run as long as 30 years in place of the present limits of 20 to 30 years.

Anti-Windfall Clause.

Provides safeguards designed to prevent extra-large profits by builders of Government-backed apartment projects. These stem from the uproar over disclosures that some builders have gained "windfalls" by pocketing the difference between the amount of a Government-insured loan and their actual construction costs.

Contains a clause requiring lenders in the Government-backed home repair loan program to take part of the risk on each loan made. This is aimed at encouraging more policing of such loans by commercial lenders and the stamping out of gyp practices under which home owners reportedly lost millions of dollars through shoddy repair work.

Permits the buyer of a Government-insured home for the first time to take out an increased mortgage for the same terms as the first one if he decides to add improvements such as a wing or a bathroom to his house. Such "open-end" mortgages are said to encourage home modernization.

Provides for recharter of the Federal National Mortgage Association so that private capital will gradually take over this major secondary market for Government insured mortgages.

Includes features for expanding slum clearance and urban redevelopment programs operating under federal-state co-operation.

CASTILLO ARMY, CADETS CLASH IN GUATEMALA

Two Killed in Capital Battle, Earlier Called Revolt by Arbenz Sympathizers.

GUATEMALA CITY, Aug. 2 (AP)—A quarrel between Guatemalan military cadets and the "liberation forces" of Col. Carlos Castillo Armas, chief of the country's ruling junta, erupted into a battle today. Two persons were killed and several wounded.

The fighting caused reports that the cadets and some others had revolted in sympathy with the deposed leftist government of Jacobo Arbenz. Later, however, it appeared the fight was an intra-mural conflict between the cadets and members of the Castillo army, victors in the June-July revolution.

The fight started at 4 a.m. near Roosevelt Hospital where forces of the Castillo army are encamped. A cadet was killed, and virtually the entire body of cadets then attacked the encampment. Firing from rifles, machine guns and mortars was heard for about two hours.

Maj. Enrique Oliva, member of the Castillo junta, and Col. Jose Ortega, chief of staff, moved forces into position for an attack on the military academy. Government planes were given orders to attack the school.

Sporadic fighting continued in the vicinity of Roosevelt Hospital, on the outskirts of the capital, until 8:40 a.m.

Castillo, who spent the night at Chimaltenango, rushed to Guatemala City by plane.

Commanders at the capital's two principal regular army bases announced that these forces were loyal to the government, but were being held in quarters. The commanders asked that the liberating army suspend its action against the military school, and a cease-fire order was given by Oliva and Ortega.

(Private advices reaching New York said there had been a Communist-inspired uprising at El Progreso, 50 miles from Guatemala City.)

Government Forces Firmly in Control, U. S. Learns.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2 (AP)—The State Department said today it has received official information that "military forces supporting the government (of Guatemala) are apparently firmly in control."

Press Officer Lincoln White referred to the events in Guatemala as a "disturbance" and said there was shooting early today "in which several score cadets were said to have participated."

"A few casualties resulted," he added.

White said "the dispute in which the military cadets participated appears to be a local and internal affair between them and some members of the liberation army without backing from the armed forces."

He said he had no information regarding press dispatches saying that an army garrison at Aurora airport on the outskirts of Guatemala had joined the cadets.

EX-PRESIDENT OF COLOMBIA REFUSED ENTRY TO COUNTRY

CARACAS, Aug. 2 (UP)—Laureano Gomez, "banished" ex-president of Colombia, and his son Alvaro have returned to Europe, it was announced today.

The deposed president and his son left by air yesterday for Lisbon after the present government of Colombia refused to allow them to enter the country.

SOVIET UNION'S BIGGEST AGRICULTURE FAIR OPENS

MOSCOW, Aug. 2 (AP)—The Soviet Union opened its biggest agricultural fair yesterday in sprawling permanent exhibition grounds on the north edge of Moscow.

Minister of Agriculture Ivan Benediktov called in the opening speech for maximum efforts to get in this year's grain harvest and provide sufficient fodder for livestock.

The fair includes 76 large, ornate pavilions and 230 other buildings. There were 85,000 visitors the first day, including most of Moscow's diplomatic corps. United States Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson was invited, but declined to attend. The Russians said guests came from Canada, Sweden, Norway, Austria, Israel and other countries.

IRAN TO SETTLE OIL CLAIM FOR $84,000,000

Sum to British Firm in Nationalization Dispute Doesn't Cover Abadan Refinery.

TEHRAN, Aug. 2 (AP)—Iran will pay the Anglo-Iranian Oil Co. less than £30,000,000 ($84,000,000) compensation for nationalizing the company's oil holdings three years ago, finance minister Ali Amini announced yesterday.

The minister said, however, that this sum did not apply to the Abadan refinery, the major installation of the British-owned company.

"As far as the Abadan installations are concerned, a separate formula has been worked out between the Anglo-Iranian Oil Co. and the oil consortium," he said.

The sum applies to nationalization of a small refinery at Koramshah, in western Iran; distribution installations throughout the country; the Naftishah installations near Koramshah; and the compensation claimed by the British for losses in the period of nationalization, Amini said.

(In London, an A.I.O.C. spokesman declined to comment.)

The international oil consortium, comprising Dutch, British and American oil companies, has been negotiating with the Iranian government to get Iranian oil flowing again.

Amini told reporters July 17 the Anglo-Iranian Oil Co. would get £73,000,000 ($204,400,000) for the refinery. The next day, British oil circles in London called this "absolute speculation."

Amini said Iranian payments will be spread over 10 years, beginning from the third year of resumed operations.

"The Anglo-Iranian Oil Co.'s original claims were for more than £300,000,000," he said. "Iran's counter-claim was for £90,000,000. We fought hard and brought it down."

Amini said a statement by the consortium and Iranian government on the general agreement probably will be issued tomorrow or Wednesday in Tehran, London and Washington.

LIGHT PRIMARY VOTE OF 90,000 PREDICTED FOR CITY TOMORROW

Lack of Top State-Wide Contest May Produce Smallest Turnout in 30 Years—Polls Open at 6, Close at 7.

Voters will go to the polls tomorrow in St. Louis and St. Louis county to nominate the major parties' candidates for Congress, State Auditor, local offices and the Missouri Legislature.

This "off-year" primary is expected to produce a light turnout, possibly in the city the smallest in 30 years, largely because no top state-wide office, such as United States Senator or Governor, is at stake.

St. Louis party leaders and election officials estimate only 90,000 ballots will be cast in the city, which has a registration totaling 354,766. With about 210,000 registered in the county, predictions on total number of ballots to be cast range from 80,000 to 100,000.

Poling places in the city will open at 6 a.m. and close at 7 p.m. County polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8:10 p.m. except the University City closing time will be 8 p.m.

The weather bureau forecasts partly cloudy skies and moderate temperatures for tomorrow.

State Holiday.

Primary election day is a state holiday. This means city, county and state offices will be closed. Though state courts will not be in session, a circuit judge will be available at the Civil Courts building to hear city voters' requests for reinstatement on registration lists. At the courthouse in Clayton, two circuit judges will be on duty for this purpose.

John J. Cole, chairman of the county Board of Election Commissioners, announced the usual number of 28 special deputy election commissioners would be doubled and assigned specific precincts to watch as a precautionary measure against any possible irregularities. The special commissioners will be required to make written reports on any violations of the election laws they encounter.

Cole said also that the presence of precinct committee members or other party workers in the polling places will be prohibited. On some occasions in past elections the presence of such persons in the polls has caused friction.

Special Deputies.

In St. Louis, special deputy election commissioners will be stationed at each precinct polling place in the Sixth, Ninth, Fourteenth Eighteenth and Nineteenth Wards to watch for possible irregularities, the election board announced. Other special deputies will be patrolling the rest of the city to settle any disputes which might arise.

Banks will close for the day, but most stores will remain open. Some chain groceries will be closed until 1 p.m. to afford employes time off to vote in accordance with union contract agreements. These are the A. & P., Kroger, Rapp's, Bettendorf's, National Food Center and Tom-Boy stores.

Voting information, including candidates records, will be available in department store booths maintained by the St. Louis, Clayton and University City Leagues of Women Voters.

These booths will be at Famous-Barr Co.'s downtown and South Side stores, downtown stores of Scruggs, Vandervoort & Barney and Stix, Baer & Fuller, the Clayton store of Scruggs and at Simond's Market, McLaran and Riverview drive.

Numbers to Call.

Following the practice in previous elections, the league will supply information to persons who wish to know where to vote. Residents of the city are asked to call FO. 7-7166.

County voters should call the following numbers: Brentwood residents, ST 1-3050; Clayton, PA 7-1968; Ferguson, VI 7-1590; Kirkwood, TA 1-3965; Normandy, HA 8-4314; University City, WY 1-2863; Webster Groves, TA 1-1334, and the rest of the county, FO 1-4846.

Voting information may be obtained by calling the following election board numbers: St. Louis residents, GA 1-5288 or MA 1-5560; county, PA 5-9994, VO 3-6240 or VO 3-6241.

In addition to the county's three direct lines given above, there are five numbers serving various sections of the county: For St. Ferdinand and Airport townships, VO 3-5444; Normandy, Washington and Midland, VO 3-4488; Hadley, Creve Coeur and Clayton, VO 3-6222; Jefferson, Lincoln and Gravois, VO 3-6006, and Lemay, Bonhomme and Meramec, VO 3-3511.

Races in City.

In the city, voters will choose candidates for seven city offices, three State Senators, 18 State Representatives, 10 magistrates and 10 constables. The seven city offices are those of circuit clerk, prosecuting attorney, collector of revenue, license collector, recorder of deeds, clerk of the circuit court for criminal cases and clerk of the court of criminal correction.

County voters will select candidates for County Supervisor, four seats on the County Council, four circuit court divisions, seven county offices, a state Senator, nine state Representatives, five magistrates and five constables.

ST. LOUIS U. RAZING 78-YEAR-OLD HOUSE FOR NEW LIBRARY

The stately, 78-year-old residence at 3655 West Pine boulevard, most recently the home of the St. Louis University Institute of Social Order, was being torn down today to make way for the $4,000,000 Pope Pius XII Memorial Library. Recently the institute moved to 3980 West Pine.

Charles M. Flanagan, wholesale grocer, had the house built in 1876 and sold it 14 years later for $32,000 to William Nichols, bank president, it is shown in the records of Dr. William G. Swekosky, St. Louis dentist whose hobby is the study of landmarks in this area.

Subsequently the structure passed through the hands of a florist and his housekeeper, whose heirs sold it to the university. Harry M. Hochman, president of the Aalco Wrecking Co., which is doing the demolition work, said the plot will provide part of the site for the library, which will house microfilm copies of more than 600,000 manuscripts owned by the Vatican Library, Rome. Razing began last week and is about half finished, Hochman said.

POLICEWOMAN ASSIGNED TO TRAFFIC DUTY RESIGNS

Mrs. Viola Messerli, one of two policewomen assigned to the Traffic Division, resigned from the department today for "personal reasons," Chief of Police Jeremiah O'Connell announced.

Mrs. Messerli, who had been on vacation, was scheduled to report for orientation in traffic duty. She and her husband, Jonathan C. Messerli, a high school teacher, and their two children moved recently to Webster Groves. Permanent residence outside the city limits would make her ineligible for a position in the department, Chief O'Connell pointed out. Mrs. Messerli had been a policewoman three years.

A replacement for Mrs. Messerli in the Traffic Division will be named, the chief stated. The other traffic assignee, Miss Patricia Murphy, began learning her new duties today.

DRIVER DIES AT THE WHEEL OF PUBLIC SERVICE CO. BUS

Elliott L. Prost, driver of a Walnut Park bus for the Public Service Co., collapsed at the wheel and died, apparently of a heart attack, shortly after making a stop at North Florissant and Bremen avenues today.

The bus struck a Be-Mac Transfer Co. truck driven by Alexander Carr, 4908 North Broadway, but neither he nor any of the several passengers on the bus was injured.

Prost, 56 years old, lived at 5745 Janet avenue, Jennings.

CHARGES U.S. AID TO BRITAIN HURTS PLANE INDUSTRY

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2 (UP) — The Senate Appropriations Committee charged today that United States military aid is helping the British develop commercial jet planes to compete with American airliners.

A staff report released by the committee said the "implications" of a 1953 agreement between the United States and Britain were "never fully disclosed to Congress," which provided the money. It said the judgment of United States foreign aid officials who agreed to the program "is open to serious question."

The report referred to grants the United States made to help modernize the Royal Air Force and fulfill British commitments to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

It said these grants have made it possible for the British government to reduce the national income tax and to contribute large amounts to subsidize development of commercial jet transports. It said the United States aircraft industry "is beginning to be hurt" by the competition.

FOUKE CO. HELPING PROCESS CATCH OF 63,882 SEAL SKINS

The Fouke Fur Co., 1328 South Kingshighway, is playing a major part in the processing of 63,882 fur seal skins taken in this year's seal killing operations which ended last Tuesday in the Pribilof Islands in the Bering Sea near Alaska. The skins will be worth $5,000,000 when completely processed and finished.

A crew of 35 men from the Fouke firm has been in the islands to handle blubbering and preparation of the skins for shipment. The skins will be further processed in St. Louis for sale in the semi-annual fur sales held in the spring and fall of next year.

The announcement of the was made yesterday by Clarence Olson, manager of the government's fur seal refuge which is administered by the United States Fish and Wildlife Service, Department of the Interior.

INQUEST IN DEATH OF MAN

An inquest will be held in the death of Louis Kramer, president of the A.A.A. Electric Co., 710 Hamilton boulevard, who was found in a coma in Forest Park, Saturday, and died at City Hospital several hours later.

Police said Kramer, 40 years old, was found in his automobile, parked in Valley drive. In the machine were several bottles of sleeping capsules. Kramer died without regaining consciousness. He lived at 5819 DeGiverville avenue with his wife, Lillian.

2 MEN DROWN WHEN BOAT NEAR DAM BREAKS UP

Craft is Pulled Under by a Strong Undertow Below Clarksville (Mo) Lock.

Two St. Louis area men drowned when their light motor boat broke apart in strong current as they were fishing in the Mississippi river yesterday below the Clarksville (Mo.) lock and dam, 60 miles northwest of St. Louis.

Those drowned were Carl E. Inman, 36 years old, 10533 St. Henry street, St. Ann, a McDonnell Aircraft Corp. assistant foreman, and Warren E. Hohmeier, 34, 5043 Lotus avenue, partner in an automobile painting firm at 3411 Eichelberger avenue.

Pike County Coroner J. O. Mudd of Bowling Green said the men approached within 20 feet of the dam and the boat was pulled under by a strong undertow, causing the craft to break up. There are large signs on the dam warning fishermen to stay 300 feet from the structure.

Inman's body was recovered by a rescue crew from Alton and search for Hohmeier's body continued today by the Alton crew and one from St. Charles.

The two men, old friends, had left St. Louis yesterday for a day's fishing.

4 ST. LOUISANS HURT WHEN PLANE CRASHES IN ILLINOIS

Four St. Louisans were injured today when their private plane crashed into a railroad spur on taking off from a field near Vandalia, Ill., following an emergency landing.

A heavy rainstorm had forced the pilot, Lawrence Abrams, to make an emergency landing near the State Penal Farm, four miles north of Vandalia. In taking off later the plane hit a concrete post and crashed into railroad tracks leading into the penal farm.

The pilot's wife, Mrs. Mildred Abrams, 41 years old, suffered a severe head laceration and bruises. She was treated at a hospital and released. Abrams, their 12-year-old son, Eugene, and J. W. Neuroth, father of Mrs. Abrams, suffered bruises and shock. All live at 4567 Ruskin avenue.

2 ACCUSED OF HAVING BOMB THAT STARTED WEED FIRE

James Laws of Lemay and Charles Weeks of Sappington were held in the St. Louis county jail at Clayton today on charges of possessing a bomb that was said to have started a recent weed fire near Kirkwood.

Deputy Sheriff Marcel Bonzon, who obtained warrants against them late Saturday from Magistrate Frank Tirrell, said they admitted setting off a bomb-like explosive, just to hear the noise, after Laws stole several dozen of the bombs from a Lemay fireworks company. He quoted them as saying they did not intend to start a fire.

FRISCO CONDUCTOR RETIRES

L. E. Rice, 5 Lemp road, Kirkwood, has retired after 51 years, five months service as a conductor for the Frisco Railroad. Thirty-three of those years were spent on passenger trains running between St. Louis and Memphis.

Rice, who is 68 years old, has two daughters and four grandchildren.

Burglar Caught in Tavern.

Officers investigating a report that a prowler was in a tavern at 4209 Delmar boulevard early yesterday arrested a man they found trying to pry open a cash box behind the bar. The prisoner was booked as Robert L. Williams, Negro, 5300 block of Kensington avenue. Entrance was gained by breaking a window.

M'DONNELL NOW LARGE MAKER OF GUIDED MISSILES

Annual Report Tells of $12,000,000 In Orders —Engine Change in Demon Fighter.

McDonnell Aircraft Corp., at Lambert-St. Louis Field has become a substantial producer of guided missiles and now has a backlog of $12,000,000 in orders for the weapons, it was disclosed today in the company's annual report for the fiscal year ending last June 30.

The announcement is the first indication of the extent of work the company is doing in the field of guided missiles, although for years mention has been made of experimental contracts. No details were given in the annual report except that all three types of missiles—air-to-air, air-to-ground and ground-to-air—are included.

It was also disclosed for the first time in the report that the crashes of the company's F3H Demon carrier-based Navy fighter plane last spring have been attributed to engine trouble. The planes were grounded last March after two crashed and a third made a forced landing within a nine-day period. They resumed flying several weeks ago. Deliveries to the Navy are continuing.

Change in Engines.

At present the Demons are powered by the Westinghouse J-40 jet engine. Beginning with the sixty-first to come off the production line, these will be changed to Allison J-71 engines, a later and more powerful type, the report said. At the same time a number of changes are to be made in both the airframe and equipment. The plane is classified as being in the supersonic range, or capable of flying beyond the speed of sound.

Major work was completed during the year on the firm's F-101 Voodoo fighter plane, its first major production contract for the Air Force. An extensive production and development flight test program is to begin shortly on it, the report said.

The company announced last week that 45 engineers and technicians are being moved to Edwards Air Force Base, Calif., for a "secret flight test program." Edwards is the main Air Force test station for new high-speed planes.

In addition to its convertiplane, the XV-1, which is designed to combine desirable features of conventional planes and helicopters, work on a cargo unloading helicopter for the Navy was described in the report. It is designated the XHCH-1 and, like the XV-1, has pressure jet engines for power. These are small engines mounted on the rotor tips, into which air and fuel are forced under pressure.

At the close of the fiscal year last June 30, the report said, the company had a backlog of orders totaling $441,371,868. Of this amount the Government has authorized the expenditure of $364,827,230.

J. S. McDonnell Jr., president, pointed out to stockholders that all government orders are subject to cancelation, stretchout or reduction. If the experimental and production backlog remains substantially unaffected, he said, business should be at about the present level for almost three years. The greater portion will be for the F3H and the F-101. Employment at the plant dropped from a peak of 15,055 to 12,318 in the course of the year.

Sales for the year were $123,091,691, a decline of 7.82 per cent from the preceding year. Earnings after taxes totaled $3,621,417, or $5.03 per share of stock. The ratio of earnings after taxes to sales was 2.94 per cent, compared with 3.56 per cent for the 15 years the company has been in existence. Dividends of $1 per share were continued, however, and the book value of stock increased from $22.66 to $25.87 per share.

The decline in sales was attributed to the completion of deliveries of the F2H Banshee and the "stretch-out," or slower rate of production, for the F3H and F-101 in comparison with earlier schedules. The last Banshee, the 895th produced, was delivered to the Navy on Oct. 31.

ALARM SYSTEM INSTALLED FOR BURKE CITY FIRE UNIT

A volunteer fire department for the unincorporated area in north St. Louis county known as Burke City has reached the operational stage with the installation of an alarm system which can be operated from homes of men on duty. The department will serve all of the Burke City area except an incorporated strip belonging to Calverton Park.

Sixteen men belong to the department at present, and others are being sought. Two men are on duty at all times. The members built a 500-gallon pumper, and have a 400-gallon booster tank and 500 feet of hose, which will be increased. Home owners pay $5 a year for service. The area was formerly served by the Florissant fire district, also volunteer.

A one-story frame fire house was given by the Community Fire District. It is at 114 Williams street. The department, a member of the Associated St. Louis County Firefighters, was formed after a serious fire in Burke City last November. Unit chief is Irving Graff, 315 Williams street.

AUGUST BRINGS RAIN AND COOL WEATHER

1.46-Inch Downfall in 48 Hours—Pastures Helped by Moisture.

August came in like a lamb yesterday on the heels of a wrathfully hot July, bringing with it rain and cooler weather which should last through tomorrow.

In St. Louis, 1.46 inches of rain fell in the 48 hours ending at 9 a.m. today. That brought the year's total to 15.38 inches, more than seven short of the normal 22.78.

The showers, and prospects for their continuance, gladdened hearts in city and country alike. St. Louis County Farm Agent Paul M. Bernard said, however, that the corn crop generally is "too far gone" for redemption.

In wide areas of Missouri and Illinois, drouth has ruined corn and in some sections the withered plants are being cut for silage. Bernard said the weekend's rain will help soybeans and pasture.

Meteorologist Harry F. Wahlgren reported most of Missouri and large areas of Illinois shared in the drenching. Macon and Licking, Mo., had 2.98 inches of rain in 48 hours, while Warsaw had 2.15 inches in the past 24, heaviest for the state.

Belleville had 1.72 inches of rain in the 48-hour period. Waterloo, Ill., had 1.30 and Mount Vernon 1.12. Thundershowers were general across the northern and central Midwest. Sabetha, Kan., got 3.45 inches of rain yesterday and this morning.

In St. Louis, clouds brought welcome relief from the past week's heat. Yesterday morning's low temperature was 65. The mercury rose to 84 during the afternoon, and the low this morning was 69 at 6 a.m.

Wahlgren said the mean temperature for last night was 74.5 degrees, making it the coolest since the previous Sunday night with 73.4.

An added dividend of the rain here was that the St. Louis County Water Co. announced that customers need no longer refrain from law-sprinkling in prescribed hours. Webster Groves also relaxed its sprinkling restrictions somewhat, but Kirkwood's remained in effect.

There was a hint of fall in the air yesterday, augmented by leaves which had fallen from trees because of drouth. Temperatures in the middle 80s were expected tomorrow, with a low in the middle 60s in the morning.

Knowland Urges McCarthy Issue Go to Committee

ately asked the Defense Department and the State Department whether the 1947 memorandum had ever been declassified—that is, whether its "secret" classification had ever been changed.

Both agencies, he told the Senate, replied in the negative.

He then asked the Department of Justice, Knowland said, whether any action was planned against Morse. Knowland said he cited a civil defense document which said the disclosure of "top secret" information would lead to a "break in diplomatic relations, to war or to an attack . . . on the United States . . . ."

The Justice Department replied on Nov. 11, 1952, he said, that the document had been declassified after its disclosure by Morse.

For that reason, the Justice Department informed Knowland, no action was planned against Morse.

Named Eisenhower.

Morse told the Senate the document in question showed that Gen. Eisenhower, when he served on the Joint Chiefs of Staff, had "strenuously urged" that United States troops should be withdrawn from Korea after World War II, but in a campaign speech had denounced the decision to withdraw them.

Morse said Mr. Eisenhower had made a speech in Detroit that "castigated" the State Department for taking United States troops out of Korea.

Morse said he had telephoned the White House about the speech, and talked with Truman himself. In the course of the conversation, he said, Truman told him that Mr. Eisenhower himself had urged taking out the troops. He said Truman "then and there" declassified the Forrestal memorandum.

Two days after Morse made his Minneapolis speech, he declined to say who had authorized him to quote from the Forrestal document. The Defense Department told reporters at that time that it still had the document classified as top secret.

Knowland told Morse he was "shocked" to hear that a classified document was discussed in a private conversation over telephone lines lacking any special security precautions.

Knowland said Truman "not only authorized the Senator to disclose top secret information but did so without notice to his Secretary of State or other officials."

Knowland called it strange that information should be declassified for use in a "political speech" after having been "time and time again" refused to congressional committees.

'Won't Be Diverted.'

Morse told Knowland he was not going to be diverted (from the McCarthy matter) by any irrelevancies." He said there is no doubt that "the document was sent to my office by the White House for use in answer to a misstatement" of facts by Mr. Eisenhower.

Knowland said Truman should at least have made the matter public at the White House, by calling in the press, so that everyone would have the facts and there would be an opportunity to answer them.

"I want to make it clear," Morse replied, "that in my judgement, the former President of the United States is in no way subject to any criticism for the course of action he followed.

"I would welcome it if anyone thinks a great offense or a small offense was committed by the Senator from Oregon, I'd welcome a motion of censure to bring out the background.

"At the time, everyone in the country, so far as I know, save the Republicans, knew who authorized the use of that document."

In tones of astonishment, Knowland said he was "deeply shocked by the revelation" of Truman's part in the incident.

Knowland asserted the President is subject to the statutes of the United States and "is not above the law."

Morse agreed. But he said there is no statute requiring the President to act as Knowland thought he should, and commented that the Chief Executive has authority to act as he sees fit in declassifying information.

Knowland conceded that Morse might be right on that, provided the President was acting as Commander in Chief, but he said it was something else again if Truman acted as head of the Democratic party.

"In my opinion," Morse said, "he was acting as Commander in Chief."

Knowland told his colleagues he thought it would be "bad precedent" to vote on the question of censuring McCarthy without testimony or committee recommendations substantiating the charges against him.

The alternative, he said, was for the Senate to sit as a "committee of the whole" and itself take testimony. This, he said, might require three or four weeks in which the Senate could do nothing else.

Senator Mike Monroney (Dem.), Oklahoma, said McCarthy had been involved in collisions with various study committees on at least five prior occasions. One of these, he said, was "the shambles" of the McCarthy-Army hearing, and added:

"I just wonder if a sixth committee could conceivably meet and come to a decision before the conclusion of the next Congress (in 1956)."

Replying, Knowland told Monroney: "I don't think the Senate of the United States consists of 96 intimidated men. . . . I am not willing to subscribe to the Senator's remark that we are a body of intimidated men."

McCLELLAN FAVORS COMMITTEE PLAN

By EDWARD F. WOODS
A Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2—Senator John L. McClellan, looked to as holding the key to the success or failure of a move to censure Republican Senator Joseph R. McCarthy, said today that although he was not condemning the objective of the so-called Flanders resolution, he felt the charges against McCarthy should be sifted by a special senate committee before a vote of censure is called for.

The Arkansas Democrat made his position known as Senate consideration of a censure motion introduced by Republican Senator Ralph E. Flanders of Vermont went into its third day amid reports that Republicans were attempting to maneuver a cease-fire on the McCarthy question and avert a showdown on censure by referring the Flanders resolution to a special committee for study.

Senator McClellan, who has tangled frequently with Senator McCarthy in recent months as the ranking Democrat on the Senate Investigating subcommittee, told the Post-Dispatch that the Flanders resolution "accuses Senator McCarthy of misconduct, period." He said that a resolution to censure should apprise the accused Senator of what he is being accused of so he can defend himself.

Favors 'Grand Jury' Approach.

McClellan added that he was trying to find the proper approach and he believed, at the moment, that the best means of handling the matter now before the Senate would be through a special committee which, like a grand jury, would hear all the charges and bring in an "indictment" before Congress adjourns.

Knowland later told reporters he would have to reserve judgment on the McClellan proposal. Senator Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, the Democratic leader, declined immediate comment.

But Senator H. Alexander Smith (Rep.), New Jersey, said he would vigorously oppose such action.

Smith has proposed creation of a seven-member special committee to study investigative procedures as a substitute for the censure motion made by Flanders. Smith said in an interview that McClellan's proposal "would only continue what seems to have become impeachment procedures against McCarthy."

Need For Study Cited.

"There should be an opportunity to study this whole situation," Smith said. "This censure move had taken the form of a attempt to impeach McCarthy, even though that is not its stated objective."

He said he did not believe McCarthy could be summoned before a special committee such as McClellan proposed and complete testimony before scheduled mid-month adjournment of Congress.

It was pointed out to Senator McClellan that Senators J. William Fulbright (Dem.), Arkansas, and Wayne Morse (Ind.), Oregon, have submitted amendments to the Flanders resolution, specifically charging Senator McCarthy with certain acts to support the Flanders flat declaration that his actions are unbecoming a member of the Senate and therefore should be condemned.

"I am much more favorable to the Morse and Fulbright approach than to that of Senator Flanders, assuming that censure is in order," Senator McClellan said, "but I still think the charges should be voted by a committee, that this committee should not only hear charges against Senator McCarthy but hear the Senator defend himself. Then the committee could more properly tell the Senate what Senator McCarthy is charged with and what it thinks he ought to be found guilty of."

McClellan added that "some people say all you have to do is look at McCarthy's record to know what he is guilty of but even if a judge sees a man commit murder right in the courtroom he can't immediately order that man electrocuted."

Seeks 'Right Approach.'

Senator McClellan said he was not committed to the idea of a kind of "senatorial grand jury" in the McCarthy matter but he still was looking for the "right approach."

He added that he was holding himself free to indorse any approach to the censure plan but, he said, he thought it ought to be a resolution "that would give the accused a fair opportunity to enter a defense against specific charges."

His idea of a committee to take up the McCarthy question would be one of bipartisan members and including Senators who have least to do with McCarthy or the disputes involving him.

The Republican strategy to shunt the McCarthy censure resolution to a committee was reported to have originated with some G.O.P. Senators who, foreseeing defeat for censure, feared that it might be interpreted as a Republican vote of confidence in McCarthy's conduct.

Senator William F. Knowland of California, Republican majority leader, said last night that he does not intend to permit debate on the Flanders resolution to "drag on" and he predicted that the first Senate vote on the entire McCarthy issue might come on a motion to refer it to a special committee. Otherwise, the first test might come on a motion to send the question to a standing committee or any one of the 96 Senators might move to have the Flanders motion tabled.

Knowland, who is unalterably opposed to censuring McCarthy, said he would not originate a move to table. Appearing on the television program "Meet the Press" last night, Senator Knowland predicted defeat for the Flanders motion if it came to a vote.

Senators Fulbright and Morse submitted their bills of particulars against McCarthy to meet objections that the Flanders motion was too broad and contained no specific charges. They thereby intended to strengthen the Flanders resolution.

Instead, however, it appeared today that the bills of particulars have provided opponents of the censure motion with ground for claims that the entire question of censure and the specific charges require "judicial study" by a Senate committee before a showdown votes is taken.

Some Democrats were hopeful that a minority report by the three Democratic members of the special investigating committee which conducted the Army-McCarthy hearing might be sufficiently critical of Senator McCarthy to strengthen their position that his conduct is unbecoming that of a Senator.

Senator Karl E. Mundt (Rep.), South Dakota, who presided at the televised sessions, has in his possession a 447-page digest of the testimony taken by the subcommittee in its 36-day hearing. The digest was submitted by Ray H. Jenkins, who served as special counsel to the subcommittee. Senator Mundt has contended that the digest is too bulky for an early report.

Democrats' Plans.

Senator Henry M. Jackson of Washington, one of the three Democrats on the subcommittee, said, however, that the minority would not necessarily be bound by the Jenkins digest in making its report but would depend on the transcript of testimony. It is known that Jackson and Senator Stuart Symington of Missouri have been considering a rough draft of what their report will be. It will be taken up with McClellan, who has been absent from Washington for about three weeks carrying on his successful campaign for renomination.

"Nobody knows what kind of twist will come out of this," McClellan remarked on his arrival last night.

One such "twist" developed today when Democratic Senator Allen J. Ellender of Louisiana said that he opposed the Flanders resolution in its present form. He noted, however, that McCarthy's demeanor as chairman of the Senate Investigating subcommittee was, even in the judgment of his stanchest supporters, "unbecoming." He suggested that the subcommittee, itself, recommend whether McCarthy should be censured.

In the absence of a move to table the Flanders resolution or send it to a committee, the pending matter before the Senate is an amendment offered by Senator Fulbright specifying the first of six points which, Senator Fulbright claims, justify censure of McCarthy.

The amendment alleges that McCarthy "while a member of the committee having jurisdiction over the affairs of the Lustron Co., a corporation financed by Government money, received $10,000 without rendering comparable service."

Fulbright, in a speech to the Senate on Saturday, described such an act on tht part of a Senator as a "shakedown."

Fulbright said today that if this amendment could be brought to a vote that members of the Senate would have difficulty opposing it.

The $10,000 fee involved preparation of a booklet on housing for the Lustron corporation which it used as promotion material for its prefabricated homes. The firm, now defunct, obtained loans totaling $37,000,000 from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Senator Fulbright intends to call up each of the six specifications he made Saturday against McCarthy as separate amendments. Senator Morse's bill of particulars, however, is incorporated in a single amendment.

Both Fulbright and Morse included in their specifications allegations made in the Army-McCarthy hearing that McCarthy abused Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker in one of his investigations. Morse also included the Fulbright specification of the fee from the Lustron company.

Other grounds for censure cited by Senator Morse included:

That McCarthy unfairly accused Senators Carl Hayden of Arizona, Mike Monroney of Oklahoma, and Thomas C. Hennings Jr. of St. Louis, all Democrats, and Robert C. Hendrickson of New Jersey, "of improper conduct in carrying out their duties as Senators" as members of a Senate Rules subcommittee which investigated some of McCarthy's activities in 1952.

That he received and made use of "confidential information obtained from a document in the executive files upon which the Federal Bureau of Investigation had placed its highest classification and offered such information to a lawfully constituted Senate subcommittee in the form of a spurious document which he falsely asserted . . . to be 'a letter from the FBI.'" (This was the two-and-one-half page document which created such a furor in the Army-McCarthy hearing.)

That he "openly invited and incited employes of the United States Government to violate the law and their oaths of office by urging them to make available information, including classified information, which in the opinion of the employe would be of assistance to the junior Senator from Wisconsin in his investigations, even though the supplying of such information by the employe would be illegal and in violation of a presidential order."

That he attempted "to invade the constitutional power of the President of the United States to conduct the foreign relations of the United States by carrying on negotiations with certain Greek ship owners in respect to foreign trade policies, even though a few weeks earlier the executive branch of our Government had entered into an understanding with the Greek Government."

Red China Will Conquer Formosa, Commander of Its Army Says

Communists Will Brook No Interference from Other Countries Chu Teh Warns.

—United Press Telephoto.
GEN. CHU TEH

TOKYO, Aug. 2 (AP)—Red China's commander-in-chief said yesterday in a sword-rattling speech that his country is resolved to conquer Formosa and liquidate Chiang Kai-shek and will brook no interference from other countries in doing so.

Peiping radio broadcast the full text of a speech by Gen. Chu Teh commemorating the twenty-seventh anniversary of the founding of Red China's army. Formosa, stronghold of Chiang's Nationalists, is guarded by the United States Seventh Fleet.

"The liberation of Taiwan (Formosa) and the liquidation of the Chiang Kai-shek gang are China's own internal affair," Chu said.

"We will absolutely not allow other countries to interfere."

Chu urged "all commanders and fighters of the land, sea and air forces" to master "the use of weapons in hand and co-ordinated combat by all branches of the armed forces, speed up the modernization of our national defense, heighten their vigilance, stand by in battle readiness and fight courageously at the front."

He said the Communist task would not be complete until Formosa had been wrested from Chiang's Nationalists.

Until that day, "the commanders and fighters of the People's Liberation army (Communist) will not have erased the blot on their honor, will have nothing of which to be proud."

Chu said that Chiang Kai-Sheks Nationalists are "sneaking secret agents by parachuting and other means onto our mainland to carry out sabotage."

Yesterday's main editorial of the Peiping People's Daily, official newspaper of the Chinese Communist party, was devoted to these activities. It said spy and sabotage work have been on the increase since the Korean armistice. The editorial urged the Chinese people to be on the lookout for such agents.

It said the United States has set up a network of espionage bases and is training Chiang's men for such work.

"From these bases, agents and spies have continuously been sent into Chinese territory to conduct sabotage and espionage," the editorial warned.

In Taipeh, Formosa, the commander-in-chief of the Chinese Nationalist army broadcast an appeal to Chinese Red soldiers to desert leaders who have "sold out the country to Soviet Russia."

Gen. Huang Chieh referred to the welcome accorded 14,000 former Chinese Red soldiers in Korea who defected to the Nationalist side.

"It is my fervent hope," he said, "that you will follow their glorious example and turn against your Soviet Russian masters."

The Peiping radio also reported that Premier-Foreign Minister Chou En-Lai returned from Geneva last night to a cheering welcome from more than 6000 people at Peiping's airport.

For days the Chinese Communist press and officialdom have been acclaiming the "victory" scored at Geneva by Chou in the Indochina settlement.

Peiping radio said Chou was welcomed home by Gen. Chu and Liu Shao-chi, a vice chairman of the government. Moscow-trained Liu and Chou, who visited Moscow on the trip home, are the two men most mentioned as the likely successor of Red China's No. 1 man, Mao Tze-Tung.

Also listed in the reception group were diplomatic representatives of Britain, the Soviet Union, Burma, India, Sweden, Romania, Indonesia, East Germany, North Korea, Denmark, Pakistan, Vietminh, Hungary, Bulgaria, Switzerland, Mongolia, Poland, Czechoslovakia "and other diplomatic personnel of various countries."

The broadcast said "Premier Chou En-lai alighted from the plane and was presented with bouquets by Young Pioneers of Peking (Peiping) amidst long applause and cheers."

Earlier in the day, Chou had visited briefly at Ulan Bator, the capital of Outer Mongolia, where he urged Mongolians and Chinese to "rally still more closely around our great ally, the Soviet Union."

need for federal coal mine inspection will decrease and eventually cease to exist," the report said.

"Would that result in the elimination of coal mine inspection?" Abbott asked.

"That is so far in the future . . ." Forbes began with a wave of his hand.

"That is a conclusion the survey team drew, it is not a recommendation," Tudor, who was sitting beside Forbes at the witness table, said. "It is not a recommendation approved by the secretary. The language of the report was unfortunate."

He added that the general conclusions that had been drawn from the report were not advocated by the department.

"Any change in the law would have to be made by Congress," Forbes said. "So far, Congress has co-operated with the bureau. Not one cent has been cut from our health and safety appropriation."

The survey team recommended also that the bureau discontinue the production of titanium and zirconium metals when this can be done without jeopardizing national security.

Zirconium was not discussed today, but Tudor explained why it probably will be possible to discontinue titanium production soon. The bureau began turning out the metal in 1938 on a pilot-plant basis and for some years was the only producer. By the end of next year, Tudor said, the bureau's production will be only about 1 per cent of the national total. The bureau production cost was estimated at $5 a pound; that of private industry $4.73.

The team recommended also that experimental work done by the bureau on the production of oil shale and oil from shale at Rifle, Colo., should cease and that no further work be done with a new retort unless there is a substantial contribution by industry under a co-operative agreement.

The Interior Department spokesmen stated the law authorizing the operation of the retort expires at the end of the year and that it was hoped a 100-day run within the next five months would prove the feasibility of the method to be demonstrated.

Representative Wayne N. Aspinall (Dem.), Colorado, said he thought the time was inadequate to prove whether a method had been found for economical production of oil from shale. Shale reserves are estimated to hold 100 billion barrels of oil, but extraction is expensive. Known fluid oil reserves are about 30 billion barrels.

Tudor agreed to prepare a report stating which of the survey team's 39 recommendations can be put into effect administratively and which would require congressional action.

NATIONALIST WARSHIPS SINK COMMUNIST CHINESE GUNBOAT

TAIPEH, Formosa, Aug. 2 (UP)—Nationalist Chinese warships sank a Communist Chinese gunboat and damaged another off Tachen Island last night, the official Central news agency said today.

The agency said the Red gunboats first were sighted off the central Chekiang coast near Tachen and immediately engaged by the Nationalist warships. The battle lasted an hour, the report said.

The Nationalists did not suffer any damage and returned safe to Tachen.

Starves—Had $6000 in Bank.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Aug. 2 (AP)—After John J. Panso, 75 years old, died of malnutrition in a hopital, police searched his basement flat. They found a bank book showing deposits totaling $6000 and two uncashed income tax refund checks amountng to $200.

7 REDS ARRESTED IN WEST, ACCUSED UNDER SMITH ACT

and Lewis Martin Johnson, 34, head of the Communist party in Utah.

Hoover announced their arrest along with that of Mrs. Patricia Blau in Los Angeles. Donald E. Kelley, United States attorney for Colorado, said all were arrested on warrants issued in Denver and charging them with violation of the Smith Act. That law, under which a total of 115 Communist party functionaries have been arrested since 1949, makes it a crime to teach or advocate the forcible overthrow of the United States Government.

As they left the office of Commissioner Neff, all except Mrs. Bary were handcuffed.

Asked if he had any comment, Bary told the Associated Press: "Yes, if it's permissible to make one."

The FBI agents, one on either side of him, made no protest.

"I think you should know that Commissioner Neff set bond at $100,000 each, which is tantamount to no bond at all. It will be impossible to meet it."

Kisses Wife Goodby.

Asked who might provide bond, Bary refused to answer. As he was about to enter a car, he asked the agents: "Please, if I may, may I kiss my wife goodby."

She embraced him, smiling, and told him: "Don't worry. We'll win. The people will win."

Commissioner Neff said the four showed no emotion other than "amusement" at their arraignment. "It was all a big joke," he said.

The commissioner said only Mrs. Bary availed herself of the right to make a telephone call. He said she called a party named "Sam," apparently an attorney.

The Denver arrests were announced by Charles Brown, agent in charge of the Denver FBI office.

Brown gave no details of the arrests other than to say that all were arrested while standing on the sidewalk on the 1400 block of Logan street, within a block of the Capitol building.

He said the arrests climaxed "a lengthy investigation." Kelley said he was aware of the investigation "some time ago." He said Mrs. Blau probably would be returned to Denver for preliminary hearing on the same date as the other four.

Mrs. Blau, who the FBI said has been associated with Communist party activities since 1943, was arrested at her Los Angeles home, where she lived with her husband. She had been working in a bakery for several months without public attention, the FBI said.

A native of Fort Smith, Canada, she was arrested Aug. 27, 1953, near Stockton, Calif., in connection with the arrests of Communist fugitives Robert Thompson and Sidney Steinberg on the same day in a cabin hideout near Twain Harte, Calif. She was later acquitted on charges of harboring federal fugitives.

Bary had $1872 in his possession when arrested.

His wife was born in Brooklyn, N. Y., to a Mexican father and an American mother. She had been in hiding for the last six months.

Zepelin was active with the Communist party in Denver as early as 1946. He is a Communist party underground leader.

Johnson was employed as a miner and sheet metal worker in Arizona and former chairman of the Maricopa county (Ariz.) Communist party unit. He is a native of Farnam, Nebr.

BEDELL SMITH SAYS SEATO AIMS TO CHECK REDS

Asserts Proposed Asian Alliance Would Try to Guarantee Indochina States.

The New York Herald Tribune-Post-Dispatch Special Dispatch.

WASHINGTON Aug. 2 — Under Secretary of State Walter Bedell Smith said last night that the main object of the proposed Southeast Asian defense organization would be to "draw the line" against further Chinese advances in that part of the world.

The organization would attempt to guarantee the existence of South Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia, the three anti-Communist Indochinese states left "almost defenseless" by the Geneva agreement, Gen. Smith suggested.

In a radio interview over the Columbia Broadcasting System, Gen. Smith cautiously explained that he did not "essentially mean that their borders are lines which would be defended." Observers have said that the partition line along the seventeenth parallel of Viet Nam is impossibe of defense.

Security Threat.

But if the frontiers were crossed by either "overt or covert" aggression this might be regarded by the Southeast Asian alliance as "a threat to our collective security," he said.

"Other things might then automatically happen, if you understand what I mean," Gen. Smith added.

Gen. Smith declined to speculate on the membership of the proposed organization, its charter, councils or methods of implementation.

"Excellent progress" was being made, he said, in preliminary consultations. The United States and Britain have been negotiating for several weeks for a conference of at least seven powers to set up the alliance.

Questioned on whether signatories of the proposed alliance should pledge themselves to go to war automatically if the Communists crossed "the line," Gen. Smith said the answer could only be made after the interested states had worked out provisions that were individually and collectively acceptable to them. These provisions, he added, would have to be in accordance with their constitutional practices.

He agreed that the danger of subversion or internal aggression was even more dangerous than Communist invasion.

Red Subversion.

To halt Communist subversion, the proposed alliance should study the elimination of poverty and ignorance, Gen. Smith said. A collective effort should be made he said to bring about improvement in education along with a greater exchange of information, intelligence and experience.

He specifically recommended mutual assistance for police and local security forces. He appeared to regard such measures for collective assistance against internal subversion as more important than the normal provisions of an outright military alliance.

In his opinion the Southeast Asian arrangement might not even "essentially" be a military pact, he said.

As for "drawing the line" against Communism in Southeast Asia, Gen. Smith said:

"You have to draw the line somewhere. Otherwise we will be eroded, bit by bit.

"The demonstrated peril of Communism is the general area of Southeast Asia is not only its open aggression, but it's even more, I think, the covert subversion. Both of these threats cannot be successfully defeated except by the determined unity of action in the free governments and the people who wish to preserve their sovereignty."

New Belligerence.

Gen. Smith said he expected further belligerent" actions by the Chinese Communists similar to the attacks on the British commercial airliner and on American search planes near Hainan island.

"We are certainly not going to be intimidated," he said. "We will continue to take whatever action seems to us to be necessary in safeguarding our interests, and we'll continue to stand ready, with other nations, in resisting Communist aggression, when we are called on to do so.

"On the other hand, the idea of some of our European friends that we are, as has been said, trigger happy or overly impetuous, I think is not correct. Our actions will be well and carefully considered."

By the Associated Press.

Gen. Smith said that Russia and Red China "would like to lull the world into a false sense of security" behind which they can seek conquest through "subversion, infiltration and propaganda."

What the Reds are trying to do, he said, is weaken the solidarity of the Allies and particularly to "isolate" the United States.

"Their shift to a new soft line," he said, "is an admission, I think, that the openly bullying tactics of the past have not quite paid the dividends that they expected."

He also said that the United States does not intend to renew the Korean war, as suggested by South Korean President Syngman Rhee, in an effort to unify the country.

NATO Orders British Tanks.

HEIDELBERG, Germany, Aug. 2 (AP) — The United States Army's European headquarters yesterday said two contracts totaling $40,650,000 have been placed in Britain for the production of Centurion Mark V tanks and ammunition for NATO use.

MOVIE COMPANIES HELP USIA EXTEND COVERAGE ABROAD

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2 (UP) —The United States Information Agency said yesterday it now reaches an extra 200,000,000 foreign persons each week by releasing motion pictures through overseas commercial channels of the American movie industry.

Andrew W. Smith Jr., chief of the agency's motion picture service, said the government propaganda service found its way to the new viewers by releasing its documentary films through private overseas channels of Warner Brothers, RKO, Twentieth Century-Fox and Paramount Pictures.

This new audience in friendly, free nations, he said, is in addition to persons already reached through the agency's own outlets.

"Motion pictures are still one of our most dramatic means for bringing the story of American foreign policy to the peoples of other free nations, and exposing the false, insidious claims of Red propagandists," Smith said.

MINE KILLS SOLDIER IN KOREA

SEOUL, Aug. 2 (AP)—An American soldier, driving his truck up to a stream to wash it, exploded a hidden mine Saturday in the United States Second Division area. The soldier was killed.

FARM FOOD PRICE DROP FAILS TO GO TO CONSUMER

House Committee Reports Retail Costs Are Still Near Peak—Some Declines Likely.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2 (AP)—The House Agriculture Committee formally reported today what housewives already knew: Grocery prices remain at near-record highs despite a sizable drop in farm prices.

Making public a statistical study of the trend in farm prices and retail food costs, the committee concluded:

"Thus far, almost none of the lower prices received by farmers since 1951 has been passed on to consumers in the form of lower retail food costs.

"Further declines in farm prices are expected as more livestock and livestock products come to the market and (Government) price-support levels are lowered.

"Consumers can expect little benefit, however, from these lower farm prices unless recent tendencies to increase marketing and processing charges are curbed."

A less pessimistic view, from the housewives' standpoint, came yesterday from the Department of Agriculture, which said major foods will be in plentiful supply during the remaining months of 1954 and that prices should ease somewhat.

Output Rise Expected.

The department forecasts a heavier output of pork, veal, lard, turkeys, eggs, processed fruits, fresh vegetables and some rice, as compared with the same months last year. The department said lamb and mutton are the only major items which will be scarcer than last year.

The average person, the department said, probably will eat a little more during 1954 than he did in 1953.

The department reported last Friday a drop in prices received by farmers during the month ending July 15, the second straight month that farm proces declined. The price index, based on 1910-14 averages, stood at 247 compared with 260 in July last year.

The House committee found that the farmer's share of the consumer dollar is steadily dropping "while retail food prices have remained at 1952 peak levels."

It said that out of each dollar spent by the American housewife for foods, 56 cents goes for processing, marketing and transportation charges.

Farmer Gets 44 Cents.

The farmer receives 44 cents, of which 30 cents meets the cost of producing his crop, the report stated, and concluded:

"Thus, the farmer and his family have about 14 cents out of each consumer dollar spent for domestically produced food for their work and their investment."

Going back to removal in 1945 of war-imposed price controls, the committee study said farm prices advanced 29 per cent from then until their peak in 1951, and that since then, farm prices have dropped almost back to their 1946 level.

"In contrast," the committee noted, "retail food prices now mold within a fraction of their 1952 peak."

The committee said housewives now are paying the "highest prices on record" for bakery products and cereals, although farm prices for wheat are down to 1949 levels.

"In contrast to the ups and downs of the farm price of wheat, the retail price of cereals and bakery products has moved only in one direction since World War II—up," the report continued.

THREE REYNOLDS METALS CO. PLANTS CLOSED BY STRIKE

RICHMOND, Va., Aug. 2 (AP)—CIO workers at three plants of the Reynolds Metals Co., one of the nation's largest manufacturers of aluminum, were out on strike today. Employes at five other plants were expected to follow suit within the next few days.

Already made idle, as the result of the breakdown of contract negotiations between Reynolds and the CIO United Steel Workers Union, were about 2500 USW members at Phoenix, Ariz., Troutdale, Ore., and McCook, Ill. Union spokesmen said they expected between 5500 and 7500 more to walk out as the result of the strike call late Saturday.

Delay in receiving official notice of the strike apparently was keeping Reynolds workers on the job in plants at Little Rock, Arkadelphia, Jones Mill and Hurricane Creek, Ark., and LaGrange, Ill.

A.M.A. ACCUSED OF EXCESS AUTHORITY BY STUDENTS

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Aug. 2 (UP)—The Yale Law Journal charged today that the American Medical Association has excessive authority over medical practice.

The 84-page report, published by student editors, was based on nearly two years of research and a questionnaire direct to state medical societies.

"No other voluntary association commands such power within its area of interests as does the A.M.A.," the journal said. "It holds a position of authority over the individual doctor, wields a determining voice in medical education, controls the conditions of practice and occupies a unique position of influence in shaping government health policies."

Missionaries Reported Held.

TAIPEH, Formosa, Aug. 2 (AP)—An interior ministry source said yesterday that underground contacts in Peiping reported the Chinese Reds have arrested more than 100 Chinese missionaries for refusing to take part in a Red - sponsored "reformed church" movement.

'BLACK EAGLE' BACK IN U.S., ANSWERS PRESS WITH GAG

NEW YORK, Aug. 2 (AP)—Col. Hubert F. Julian, Negro flyer known as the "Black Eagle," who recently had passport troubles, returned from England today on the liner Queen Elizabeth.

When reporters sought to talk with him aboard ship, Julian sent out a written message "Good morning, gentlemen. (Gagged.) Hubert F. Julian." As he left the ship he had a handkerchief tied around his head so that his mouth was gagged. He pointed to the gag and kept walking.

Immigration officials picked up Julian's passport when he returned from Europe in June. The action apparently was related to the shipment of arms from Poland to Guatemala. Julian denied he was involved in the arms activity. When he flew to England last month he displayed a new passport.

PHILIPPINE TOWN RAIDED

MANILA, Aug. 2 (AP)—Forty bandits, reported to be Communist-led Huk dissidents, raided San Jose, 80 miles north of Manila, last night.

Philippine news service said the raiders looted about 20 homes and kidnaped a policeman and a civilian.

EAST BERLINERS CALLED ON TO HELP WITH HARVEST

BERLIN, Aug. 2 (UP) — The Communists called on East Berliners yesterday to help with the Soviet zone harvest, saying it was endangered unless it could be handled quickly.

The appeal by the East Berlin city administration followed reports of a serious food shortage in East Germany.

The official Communist organ Neues Deutschland said farmers were in urgent need of help, and called for the formation of voluntary "harvest brigades" from all workshops and factories.

NORTH KOREANS SAY THEY KILLED 2 U.N. SOLDIERS

Charge They Invaded Red Side of Truce Zone but Fail to Produce Bodies.

MUNSAN, Korea, Aug. 2 (AP)—A North Korean report that two Allied soldiers were killed Thursday on the Communist side of the neutral zone was taken up today at a meeting of Allied and Red officers.

The report had puzzling aspects.

North Korea's Pyongyang radio said yesterday three American soldiers intruded on the Communist side 11 miles northeast of Panmunjom, opened fire when ordered to halt and replying Communist fire killed one.

A later announcement of the U.N. command said the Reds claimed two men were killed. However, the Allied report said the Reds were unable to identify the nationality of the men killed, nor did they produce any bodies.

A member of the North Korean patrol said he was shot in the foot by the alleged intruders, but the Allied announcement said he refused to uncover it when requested during an emergency meeting Saturday of a joint truce observation team.

The Reds supported their allegation by producing two machine guns, two magazines of ammunition, a Japanese-made wrist watch and a fountain pen with Chinese characters. These supposedly were captured.

Pyongyang's version said "the incident was so much tell-tale the U.N. members of the joint investigation commission asked to stop the fact-finding before it was completed."

By the United Press.

U.N. officials investigating the incident reported that no U.N. personnel are missing from their posts in the area where the incident allegedly occurred.

The Communists, dissatisfied with the U.N. response, called for an emergency meeting of the military armistice commission tomorrow to press their protest.

American Lt. Col. John A. Brock told newspaper men Allied truce investigators "failed to find any evidence to support the charges."

Brock conducted an on-the-spot investigation shortly after the alleged incident.

"When we got there the Communists claimed they had already buried the bodies," Brock said. "They said they did not know their nationality."

Brock said the Reds showed U.N. officers no military dog tags or personal identification papers to support their claim.

3 BOMBS THROWN AT TRUCE CENTER

SEOUL, Aug. 2 (AP)—Three crude Korean-made bombs were thrown at the neutral nations inspection team compound at the west coast port of Kunsan last night but caused no injury or damage, the United States Eighth Army said today. Only one of the bombs, made from empty beer cans, exploded.

It was the latest in a series of flare-ups following South Korean demands that Communist Czech and Polish officers on the teams leave the country.

The incident followed a demonstration at Pusan yesterday, where two bullets were fired into an inspection team mess hall by an unidentified man. Witnesses said he was a Korean. Police were searching for him.

Some 30 South Korean laundry and kitchen workers employed by the team at Pusan said they would refuse to work as long as the Red representatives remain.

The inspection teams, composed of Czech, Polish, Swiss and Swedish officers, operate at five ports of entry in South Korea and five in Red North Korea. Their function is to see that terms of the armistice are carried out.

BRITISH WARNING AGAINST SEDITION PLOTS ON CYPRUS

NICOSIA, Cyprus, Aug. 2 (AP)—The attorney general, in an extra issue of the official Cyprus Gazette today warned that anyone convicted of seditious conspiracy aimed at changing the sovereignty of this British colony will be joined.

There is agitation here and in Greece for union with Greece, with the Orthodox Church leading the campaign on the island of Cyprus.

The Gazette said "seditious conspiracy, either oral or written, and visible representations made with seditious intention, including intention to bring about a change of sovereignty of the colony," are liable to bring prosecution. Anyone convicted is liable to five years' imprisonment and any group advocating or encouraging seditious intention would be regarded as unlawful.

Britain's proposed modified constitution for Cyprus was approved yesterday by the Turkish community in Nicosia, provided it safeguards the interests of the minority.

Rhee Warns That New War Must Come 'Sooner Rather Than Later'

'We Know the Later It Comes the More Terrible It Will Be,' Asserts Korean President, Visibly Shaken.

NEW YORK, Aug. 2 (UP)—President Syngman Rhee of Korea warned today that "war must come sooner rather than later because we know the later it comes the more terrible it will be."

Rhee, speaking at City Hall after receiving New York's traditional ticker-tape welcome, said America and other free nations must act now in order to avert catastrophe.

Visibly shaken and with his facial muscles twitching, Rhee said that he would depart from his prepared text and exercise "my freedom of speech."

Rhee said the only difference between himself and President Eisenhower was on the point of fighting a third world war now or later. "But we understand the desire of your President to save the world from terrible destruction," he added.

Rhee spoke before some 25,000 persons gathered in City Hall Plaza. Police estimated 150,000 lined the route up Broadway. A light rain failed to drive the spectators inside.

RHEE SEES U.S. 'SIGNS OF FEAR'

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 2 (UP)—South Korean President Syngman Rhee says the United States is showing "signs of fear" in the face of the Communist challenge. He said this "fear" is causing freedom-loving nations to "begin to lose confidence in America and to lose hope of saving freedom."

Rhee criticized this nation's foreign policy in an address yesterday at the Veterans of Foreign Wars convention. He said the American people must be "persuaded" that free nations must fight the Communists "now or later, and that the longer we wait the greater the odds against us."

The reason final victory was not won in Korea, he said, was because "we were afraid of World War III."

"The atomic bomb is a powerful weapon, but we can not permit its existence and possible use to make slaves of us all without a struggle," he said.

Wants U. S. to State Position.

Rhee said if the United States is unwilling to face the Soviet threat "squarely," its allies, including South Korea, should "know it now, so that we shall know what to do for ourselves."

He said Russia does everything possible to create confidence in the strength of its leadership among its allies. It is "confusing" and "distressing," Rhee said, to note that "the United States, facing the Russian bear, does not hide its fear," and is "constantly changing ideas and actions."

"The champion of the free world should not give millions one day and withdraw them the next, or tell the ally not to use the weapons," Rhee said. "Nor should it urge free nations to fight in one breath and ask them not to in the next. Such behavior is terribly discouraging. . . ."

Rhee said it will be "impossible to save Asia" from Communism unless China is liberated from its Red masters.

Rhee said that what he was asking for was not "a declaration of war."

"The problem is the creation of an awareness that we must fight or perish, and the taking of steps to get ready—spiritually, morally and materially to fight for our freedom," he said.

"We can not lose much more and remain strong," he declared. "I need not tell you what will happen the moment our weakness reaches a point where we can not defend ourselves adequately."

GREECE, YUGOSLAVIA SIGN AGREEMENT ON FRONTIERS

SALONIKA, Greece, Aug. 2 (AP)—Greece and Yugoslavia, partners in the Balkan alliance, have signed a protocol establishing common defense plans on the Bulgarian and Albanian frontiers. High army officers represented the two nations in the signing ceremony yesterday.

186 BODIES FOUND SO FAR IN NORTH IRAN FLOOD ZONE

TEHRAN, Aug. 2 (AP)—The newspaper Etelaat reported today 186 bodies had been recovered so far in the flood-stricken Kazvin area 100 miles northwest of Tehran.

Fifteen villages were in the raging floods last Thursday and Friday which followed torrential rains in mountain areas.

Some of the first survivors met a caravan reaching the village of Sirvan and said 100 persons were missing there alone. Weeping peasants were wandering about ravines seeking lost relatives and children.

Mountain floods north of Tehran have shut down most of the capital's electric plants.

KNOWLAND URGES BREAK WITH REDS IN SOME CASES

Cites Possible Incidents Involving U.S. Nationals Which Are Not Explained.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2 (AP) — Senator William Knowland (Rep.), California, said last night he would favor withdrawing recognition from any Communist country, including Russia, when an American national is involved in the future in an incident "and we don't get a competent, satisfactory answer."

Answering a question on the NBC television-radio show "Meet the Press," the Republican Senate leader said other methods had not worked satisfactorily and it might be well to try a new line "for a change."

Knowland said the question of withdrawing diplomatic recognition from Soviet Russia "deserves more consideration than it has had in past administrations."

Espionage Centers.

He said he wasn't sure the advantages of having contacts behind the Iron Curtain outweighed the disadvantage of "having Communist embassies used as espionage centers, as they are" in Western nations.

He disagreed with those who contend Secretary of State John Foster Dulles's trip to the Geneva conference was a failure. Knowland said it brought to the surface the fact that "some of our allies are not prepared to stand up and be counted when the chips are down."

Because of the discovery, he said, the Eisenhower Administration is in the process of reappraising its foreign policy and searching for alternatives to present goals.

In line with this Knowland said, the Senate last week passed a resolution aimed at giving West Germany its sovereignty if the European Defense Community is not ratified by France and Italy.

Defines Policy.

Knowland said he didn't believe Congress would permit full ratification of EDC to be put off beyond next year without doing something about it. Asked to define present United States foreign policy, Knowland said it was "to build up alliances which we have and create additional alliances in weak spots."

Knowland said he had "been shaken" by the loss of a great part of Viet Nam to the Communists but he didn't believe it meant the loss of all of Asia, although it brought that possibility closer.

Asked what he thought of the doctrine of coexistence with Russia as propounded by British Prime Minister Churchill, Knowland said it was as impossible as coexisting in a cage with tigers.

2 FATALLY HURT IN ST. LOUIS AREA AUTO ACCIDENTS

Youth Dies After Machine Swerves Into Tree — Man Struck Walking Along Road.

Everett Russell, a night watchman, was killed last night when he was struck by an automobile while walking in the 9700 block of St. Charles road, Breckenridge Hills.

The driver, Thomas L. Radley, 16 years old, of 5406 Vernon avenue, told police he did not see Russell before the accident. The pedestrian and automobile were both moving west in St. Charles.

Russell, 67, of 1477A Laurel avenue, suffered head and chest injuries. He died at St. Louis County Hospital about two hours after the accident.

Fred N. Schreiner, 6801 Alexander street, was fatally injured Saturday night when his automobile swerved and struck a tree on the north side of Natural Bridge avenue in the 5000 block.

Schreiner was 20 years old and lived with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Schreiner.

Nato Ruby, 4232 North Broadway, whose automobile was behind Schreiner's at the time of the accident, told officers Schreiner was going about 25 miles per hour when he suddenly swerved to the right. Schreiner's parents said he had not been under treatment for any illness. An inquest will be held.

DOGCATCHERS IN NEW YORK STRIKE OVER UNION CHOICE

NEW YORK, Aug. 2 (UP)—Every dog must have his day, and for New York dogs this was it. The dogcatchers went on strike.

Truck drivers and hospital attendants of the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals picketed five A.S.P.C.A. offices in a demand that the 88-year-old A.S.P.C.A. recognize Local 804 of the AFL Teamsters Union as their bargaining agent.

The A.S.P.C.A. truck drivers are the pick-up men who, on call, take away dogs and cats straying the streets and get them from homes when their owners want them disposed of. Last year they picked up 7245 dogs and cats from the streets and 136,351 from homes.

The A.S.P.C.A. has refused to recognize the union as the representative of its employes on the ground that a state labor relations board ruling in 1949 exempted charitable organizations from dealing with unions.

GERMAN COURT TO TRY DEPORTED WOMAN AS SPY

FRANKFURT, Germany, Aug. 2 (UP)—Ursula Schmidt, 27-year-old German divorcee deported from Canada to face charges of spying for the Russians, will be turned over to German authorities for trial as soon as she has been arraigned in the American civil court here.

She was taken off the Greek liner Columbia in Bremerhaven last night and brought here by automobile. The warrant for her arrest was issued 10 months ago, shortly after she went to Canada. While in Germany, she had worked for American occupation authorities and for the United State Air Force.

Two alleged accomplices already have been convicted as Soviet spies—Erwin Felker, who said she persuaded him to become a spy, and Karl Kobisch. Felker was released after serving six months. Kobisch is serving a 3½-year term.

WIDOW WINS FARRINGTON'S HAWAIIAN DELEGATE SEAT

HONOLULU, Aug. 2 (UP)—Mrs. Joseph R. Farrington has scored a runaway victory over two opponents in a special election to name a delegate to Congress to serve the five months remaining of her late husband's term.

Mrs. Farrington, a Republican, received 43,707 votes. Former Judge Delbert Metzger, a Democrat, received 19,604, and Mrs. Helene Hale, independent school teacher, got 2596 in Saturday's voting.

Mrs. Farrington said she planned to leave for Washington as soon as possible and take over her late husband's tasks which have been "unattended much too long."

MINOR ACCORDS ARE REACHED BY ATOM CONFEREES

None of Key Issues Touched — No Compromise Bill Likely Before Tomorrow.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2 (AP)—The Senate-House Conference on the Administration's atomic energy bill opened today and Representative Cole (Rep.), New York) reported quick agreement on a number of minor non-controversial items.

But Cole, chairman of the Joint Congressional Atomic Energy Committee, said none of the key issues involved in the conference — such as whether the Government should go into the atomic power business—was even reached.

The conferees scheduled an afternoon session, but Cole said he doubted if any compromise measure could be worked out before tomorrow.

Cole said the three House G.O.P. conferees were adamant against the Senate amendment which would authorize the Atomic Energy Commission and Federal power agencies to operate nuclear plants if they can get the funds from Congress. He said he assumed the three Senate Republican conferees would take the same position.

As to the other key issue in conference—the patent rights of private firms which enter the atomic power field—Cole said so far there seemed no disposition on the part of the Senate Republicans to agree with their House counterparts.

Cole persuaded the House to adopt his proposal to grant regular patent rights to such firms.

The Senate, on the other hand, voted to require that owners of patentable developments must share them, for a fee, during the first 10 years with all qualified applicants.

There was less disagreement among the conferees over the other major information with America's allies.

GERMAN PIGEON THAT PIERCED IRON CURTAIN IS IN U.S.

NEW YORK, Aug. 2 (AP)—A star campaigner in the 1955 Crusade for Freedom has arrived from Europe. She is Leaping Lena, a German carrier pigeon credited with having flown an anti-Communist message through the Iron Curtain.

Lena flew here from Munich yesterday—by airplane, this time—and will be used as an insignia and poster model for the crusade to raise money for Radio Free Europe.

In a race between two German cities last month, Lena got off course and was apparently found by a man in Pilsen, Czechoslovakia. Two days later, she arrived home in Germany with this message tied to her leg:

"We plead with you not to slow down in the fight against Communism, because Communism must be destroyed." It was signed, "Unbowed Pilsen."

4 CZECH VILLAGES MOVED, POSSIBLY FOR ATOMIC UNIT

MUNICH, Germany, Aug. 2 (AP)—Residents of four villages in eastern Czechoslovakia have been deported to provide a training area which may be used by a Czech atomic artillery regiment, Radio Free Europe said today.

The American-sponsored radio, which did not disclose the source of its information, said 4000 persons were deported from the four villages, all in the Mezmarok district, on 24 hours notice.

The deportees were reported resettled in four other villages.

STABILIZATION TENDENCY IN MISSOURI EMPLOYMENT

JEFFERSON CITY., Aug. 2 (UP)—Gordon P. Weir, state Director of Employment Security, today said Missouri employment is showing a tendency toward stabilization.

Weir said there were 2500 fewer workers employed during June, but the loss was due "almost entirely" to seasonal factors such as closing of schools.

The average weekly wage of $67.24 dropped 27 cents in June as compared with May, Weir said.

AMERICAN AIRLINES STRIKE IN THIRD DAY

Way Clear for Pilots to Quit on Two Other Lines Over Eight-Hour Day.

CHICAGO, Aug. 2 (AP)—All planes of American Airlines, the nation's largest air carrier, were grounded today as a pilot's strike for an eight-hour day entered its third day.

The way was clear also for strikes against two other big line—Trans World Airlines and United Air Lines—but a spokesman for the AFL Air Line Pilots Association said no immediate strike action is contemplated.

The spokesman indicated the union believes TWA and United will accept whatever settlement is reached with American. But strike votes were taken three weeks ago among United and TWA pilots, he said, and they voted to walk out if union officers decide to call a strike.

The issue in all three cases is the scheduling of non-stop transcontinental flights of more than eight hours.

The union president, C. N. Sayen, yesterday proposed a solution which he said would entail "no additional pilots or cost." He proposed changes of plane crews on flights of more than eight hours duration.

"To the company it would mean only a crew change on three additional flights," Sayen said. "To the public it would mean only 20 minutes or less additional time on a New York-Los Angeles flight of over 2500 miles. They would benefit by having fresh, rested pilots for the entire flight."

There was no immediate comment from the airline.

Principal point at issue are westbound flights between those points, scheduled for eight hours and 39 minutes, but which Sayen said sometimes run more than nine hours. Eastbound flights, he said, fall within the eight-hour limit because of prevailing tailwinds.

Federal Reserve Nominee OK'd.

Doubts Beginning to Arise As to Extent U.S. Can Rely On Revitalized W. Germany

Bonn Again Starting to Become Aware of Its Power and Its Meaning on East-West Rivalry—U.S. Policy of Placating Conquered Nation May Be Boomeranging.

By MARQUIS W. CHILDS
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
(Copyright, 1954, The Pulitzer Publishing Co.)

BONN, Aug. 2.

EVEN for those observers who have followed the extraordinary transformation that has taken place in Germany in the last five years, it is difficult to gauge what is happening behind the outward front of recovery brought about by intensive effort, by long hours of sweat and toil on the part of the German worker, and by skilled organization and planning by the brains at the top. The German giant is beginning again to be aware of his power and of what that power can mean in the rivalry between East and West, between the Soviet Union and the United States.

American policy has staked everything on the reconstruction of West Germany's industrial productivity, with the creation of German military force to follow. This has come about with a speed that has surprised even the most optimistic. Now that it is a fact doubts are beginning to develop as to how much reliance can be placed on the awakening giant.

Germans who command respect here at home, such as former Chancellor Heinrich Bruning, are beginning to criticize the Adenauer government for its close link with the United States. They imply that the Federal Republic is today in a position to strike a bargain between East and West.

"After all," they say, "America needs us and tells us so every day of the year. Why should Germany not begin to take an independent position determined by its own strength, its own needs and desires?"

Even American high commissioner James Bryant Conant, who has so earnestly adhered to the policy of everything for co-operation with Germany, is said to have been afflicted of late by doubts. One hears in Bonn of a dispatch he sent to the State Department two months ago which he began by saying, "I may seem to have changed my mind but . . ." He is reported to have expressed reservations about the reliability of Germany as a Western ally once the process of rearmament with military equipment supplied by America is completed.

Conant, it is hardly necessary to add, admits to no such doubts.

Seen from the present perspective, with a revived Germania, once again taking up shield and sword, American policy has veered in less than 10 years from the folly of one extreme to an opposite extreme that may, in the light of events to come, seem to have been equally foolish in its extremism. The Morgenthau plan, which was never actually fixed as American policy, was meant to reduce Germany to a largely agricultural nation. It was based on the assumption that a people demonstrably so powerful and productive could be held in more or less permenent subjugation so they would never again threaten the peace of the world.

While this plan had some Communist inspiration, it must be remembered that it was put forward while the memory was fresh of a rule that had taken millions of defenseless lives in a reign of mass death such as the world had never seen before. There were two obvious reasons why the Morgenthau plan was quickly dismissed. First, it was soon clear that a vacuum could not be sustained in central Europe. Second, Communist aggressive aims made it evident that the West could not be defended if Germany was to be forever weak and defenseless.

Fear of Communism.

The growing fear of Communism has ever since been the chief activating force in America's German policy, a force often cleverly exploited by those with private ends of their own to serve. The Germans quickly realized how the fear of Communism could be used to get what they wanted from America. The extraordinary lengths to which this has gone is seen in the bill sponsored by Senator Everett Dirksen (Rep.), Illinois, to hand back to German owners the German assets in America taken over in World War II.

An estimated 90 per cent of these assets will go, if Congress adopts the Dirksen bill and appropriates the necessary money, to the large industrial cartels that did so much to rearm Germany under Hitler. Pressure to return the assets has come from members of parliament and the government speaking in behalf of the "little people" who lost $1000 or $2000 and whose assets constitute an estimated 10 per cent of the total. But pressure has also come from a powerful lobby of lawyers and publicists with large sums to spend both in Germany and America.

To America's wartime allies this plan to return the assets is disturbing because it upsets a plan carefully worked out by the Interallied Reparations Agency and the War Claims Commission. Under that plan the assets were to be liquidated and the proceeds paid to those who had suffered direct losses by German attack. Thus Norwegian shipowners were to be compensated out of German assets in Norway. The German government was in turn to compensate the German owners. This was to be in lieu of the kind of reparations assessed against Germany after World War I which proved so disastrous in their consequences.

A report of the Dirksen subcommittee cited the Harry Dexter White case as evidence of a plot to destroy Germany.

White Case.

The White case conveniently served German propagandists, too. The Neue Illustrerte picture magazine, with 500,000 circulation, recently ran a series under the title "Those Who Wanted to Destroy Us," drawing on the White case as put out by Attorney General Brownell and claiming material direct from Senator McCarthy's files. McCarthy incidentally first gave German neo-Nazis a rich propaganda windfall when he charged American officers with beating and torturing German prisoners accused of massacring American G.I.s at the Battle of the Bulge.

Congress, if the Dirksen bill passes, would have to appropriate about $200,000,000 to replace the value of assets already liquidated. But of greater value would be the patents and trademarks that would be handed back to a few big firms such as I. G. Farben industries, the chemical combine that before the war was the world giant.

Under the decartelization program Farben was broken up after the war into four separate companies. But this separation has been theoretical rather than real since the four have closely co-ordinated their activities, and, in any event, the decartelization restrictions expire in 1956.

The extraordinary growth of the Farben firms, with invasion of new markets throughout the world, was shown in reports recently filed. One of the four, Cassella Farbwerke, showed an increase of 42 per cent in exports for the first half of this year compared with 37 per cent in the first half of last year. For the third quarter of 1953 the index of production in the German chemical industry was 156, (1938 being 100) as against 128 a year earlier. Naturally stocks of the Farben quadruplets are soaring and they will go even higher if and when Congress hands back such major assets as the General Aniline and Dye Corp. with its hoard of patents and trade-marks.

Approved by Dulles.

Secretary Dulles has approved the Dirksen bill on the ground that taking over the assets of private owners is contrary to American principles. He also said in a press conference statement that, insofar as foreign policy was concerned, he would have no hesitation in recommending the legislation. The pieces are falling into place more or less as they existed before the war. Perhaps that was inevitable from the beginning, but what some observers fear is that the hope of a pluralistic society—that is, a sovereignty with healthy conflicting forces that strike a democratic balance—will be frustrated again.

The tendency is to suppress conflict, criticism and opposition. Former State Secretary Otto Lenz had pushed a plan for a propaganda ministry, with severe penalties to be assessed against reporters and editors who did not publish the "truth," to an advanced stage before he was compelled to put it aside.

This may be merely symptomatic of a difficult transitional time. But the real test for the German Republic, both at home and abroad, is still to come. It would be hard to find in history any parallel for a victor having gone so far to meet the desires and aspirations of a conquered nation. Yet it may be that the very eagerness of American policymakers to placate the Germans has produced a reaction the opposite of that which was sought.

ARMS SMUGGLED TO EGYPT'S ARMY, PREMIER BOASTS

LONDON, Aug. 2 (AP)—The Egyptian army is equipped with smuggled arms, Egyptian Premier Gamel Abdel Nasser told the Sunday Times.

The London newspaper yesterday quoted Nasser as saying in an interview at his home:

"For the past year we have been smugglers. We smuggled arms into Egypt from all over Europe.

"We have had officers disguised under false names and arms were bought and shipped from one country to another as false cargoes."

This was done during a period in which the Nasser government was pressing for withdrawal of British troops from the Suez canal zone. An agreement for withdrawal of the British garrison within 20 months was reached last Tuesday.

CAIRO, Aug. 2 (AP)—Egypt lifted its economic blockade of British troops in the Suez canal zone yesterday, permitting fresh food, beer and other Egyptian products to go to troops for the first time in two years.

FLEESON

Peace in Our Time Will Be G.O.P. Theme

Tax Cuts, Economies, Stabilization to Be Stressed.

By DORIS FLEESON
(Copyright, 1954.)

WASHINGTON.

IT is now clear that, barring accidents, the party in power will feature during the fall campaign a boast of peace in our time. From that peace, G.O.P. orators will argue, all blessings flow including their tax cuts, budget economies and a stabilizing level of prices.

This does not mean that Communism will go unmentioned. The Communist successes will be blamed again on the Democrats and Dean Acheson. The Harry Dexter White case has been dramatized on film for home movies, for example, and Democrats hear that Attorney General Brownell has some new indictments up his sleeve for an election climax.

This shape of politics to come, with monumental anti-Communist talk undiminished but no military moves to invoke the specter of war, has been emerging gradually since last spring. Vice President Nixon's suggestion that American troops might be needed in Indochina was the high water mark of United States belligerence. All has been ebbtide since then.

Rhee Blows Whistle.

It remained for the capital's most recent visitor, President Syngman Rhee of South Korea, to blow the whistle publicly on the vast difference between the anti-Communist atmosphere of the nation's capital and the actual acts which the executive and legislative branches are willing to sanction.

In a New York interview Rhee said bitterly that "short-sighted United States policy" made it impossible to achieve the unification of Korea which was "essential to the future of all Asia and of the free nations. Americans have not got the common guts to face the problem," said the outspoken old man who had utilized a joint session of Congress to call for what would amount to preventive war against Red China.

Rhee thus revealed what the official communique here wrapped up in semantics, which is that he got no encouragement for military adventures.

Only a week before, a similar message started on its way to Chiang Kai-shek and the Nationalist Chinese in Formosa. The American ambassador to Formosa, Karl Rankin, conferred quietly and intensely here with his superiors about what the loss of Indochina would mean. A career diplomat, he started back to his post without fanfare, but his friends perceived that he too had failed to dent the trend.

Others Also Misled.

The South Korean President is not the first foreign leader to fail to understand that what the United States will in the end do is not always to be learned from congressional headlines or their own American visitors. Hitler anticipated that the articulate Isolationists, Borah, Johnson and others, would be able to keep America out of his war.

Rhee saw the pro-Asian campaign of the Republicans succeed. He also apparently believed that such friends as Adm. Radford, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff; Republican Senate Leader Knowland and Gen. Van Fleet, had aroused sentiment that his personal appearance would crystallize.

Not so. Congress gave him a personal ovation and sat on its hands when he called for war. The President rolled out the red carpet but turned away from the war drums.

Rhee put it harshly in New York with his taunt about "common guts," to which he added: "The United States is so mild in its warnings to the Communists because you don't really mean them and the Communists know you don't mean them." U.S. Senators, however, have gibed at Secretary of State Dulles for his inflammable phrases—"massive retaliation" and "unleashing Chiang Kai-shek"—and insisted they were meaningless.

Republican political strategists are satisfied that peace is a good issue. Postmaster General Summerfield, a former national chairman, suggests it should be the major one. Good or bad, short-sighted or wise, it will be in the campaign.

NIXON THINKS G.O.P. CAN HOLD BOTH HOUSES OF CONGRESS

OGUNQUIT, Me., Aug. 2 (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon took in a vacation lungful of Republican Maine air yesterday and said he believed the G.O.P. will hold both houses of Congress in autumn elections.

Nixon said he expects about 80 per cent of the Eisenhower program will be under way by the time Congress adjourns.

"I think the public, once the Administration record has been explained, will approve and be convinced the Eisenhower Administration has been good in general for the people," Nixon said.

Mrs. Nixon and her daughters, Patricia, 8 years old, and Julie, 6, will spend about a month at a sumptuous Ogunquit summer home but Nixon planned returning last night to Washington.

GALLUP POLL

Italians View Americans as Best Friends

Germans Next, Then French and British — Other Ideas on U.S.

By GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., Aug. 2.

WHEN it comes to naming their best friends, 56 per cent of Italians pick Americans as the people they like best, followed by Germans, Frenchmen, and British in that order.

Three out of 10 Italians think the United States is trying to dominate the world, but almost five out of 10 feel that Russia is striving for world domination.

These facts were brought to light in a survey on the attitude of Italians toward America conducted by the affiliated Gallup Poll in Italy, and reported in the Italian magazine Il Giorno Illustrato.

Talking to persons from all walks of life, and throughout the length of the Italian peninsula, reporters first asked the question:

"Whom do you like best: The British, Americans, Germans, or Frenchmen? In which order would you put them?"

The results on the basis of first-place mention:

Americans	56%
Germans	22
Frenchmen	12
British	3
Undecided	7

The second question:

"If you had to describe Americans with only three words, which would you choose?"

The ten most frequently mentioned rank as follows:

Generous, practical-minded, hard-working, intelligent, conceited, naive, sedate, shrewd, brave, idealistic.

Italians are inclined to look with less favor on the United States' Government's foreign policy.

The question was asked:

"Some people say the United States is trying to dominate the world. What do you think?" (Same question then asked about Russia).

The results:

	U.S.	Russia
True	29%	47%
Partly true	40	22
False	23	15
No Opinion	8	16

A further question:

"Some people say the United States is not interested enough in Italy; others say that America meddles too much in Italian affairs. Who do you think is right?"

The results:

Not interested enough	13%
Strikes a happy medium	33
Meddles too much	30
Undecided	24

Democratic Election Optimism Fades As Economy Picks Up

Failure of Farmers to Revolt Over Flexible Supports Was Turning Point in Favor of G.O.P.

By JOSEPH and STEWART ALSOP.
(Copyright, 1954.)

WASHINGTON.

A FEW days ago House Minority Leader Sam Rayburn remarked that the Democrats should win the House next November by about 20 seats. Last April, Rayburn's close friend and collaborator, John McCormack, was predicting publicly that the Democrats would take the House by 40 to 60 seats.

The difference between 20 seats and 40 to 60 seats is an accurate measure of a significant political development.

About mid-way through the current session of Congress the Democrats were spending a great deal of time smugly warning each other against overconfidence. They considered a big Democratic majority in the House a copper-riveted cinch, and they were talking fairly confidently of organizing the Senate as well.

As the session draws to an end, the Democrats have all but abandoned hope of taking the Senate, and some are even privately worried about the House. By the same token the Republicans, who could barely conceal their gloom in the spring, are making extremely hopeful midsummer noises.

As far as the Senate is concerned, fate, which has been grimly active in the Senate lately, has had something to do with this reversal. Senator Lester Hunt was well liked in his native Wyoming, and his election was assured. His suicide rendered this Democratic seat doubtful. Conversely, the seat of Michigan's Senator Homer Ferguson was accounted highly doubtful. The death of his opponent Blair Moody has now made Ferguson's re-election almost a sure thing.

The Democrats have taken other hard knocks recently like the decision of popular Senator Ed Johnson of Colorado not to run again. With 22 Democratic seats at stake this year as against 15 Republicans, it is agreed that it will now take a very heavy Democratic trend to put the Democrats in control of the Senate.

Only a couple of months ago Democrats were claiming that just such a trend was so clearly visible that only the most blindly partisan Republican could fail to discern it. Now they are not at all sure that they see it themselves.

The real reasons for this change are clear enough to anyone who thinks back a little. It was not so long ago, after all, that a bitter farm revolt was widely heralded. The talk in the cloak rooms was about when—not whether—Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Benson would resign. Farm area men like Senator Milton Young of North Dakota were supremely confident of sinking the Administration's flexible-support bill without trace, and Senator Joseph R. McCarthy was, as usual, outdemagoguing everybody else by making noises about 100 per cent parity.

Now the flexible principle has been embodied in the House-passed farm bill, Young and company have steadily lost cohorts in the Senate, and nobody talks anymore about Benson resigning. In short, the Democrats cannot count with any confidence on the rage of the farmers.

It was not long ago either, that Senator Paul Douglas of Illinois and other Democrats were loudly warning that a recession was already upon us. No doubt it would be unfair to say that the Democrats welcomed the prospect, but the notion of running in the middle of an "Eisenhower recession" was not entirely displeasing either.

Now employment is increasing, bucking the normal seasonal trend, and the recession shows signs (which may be illusory) of evaporating entirely. The Democrats complain that this is because the Republicans have discovered that soft money is good politics — but the Democrats have, after all, no exclusive patent on this discovery.

A Lack of Trust and Faith

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

If your report of Senator Symington's recent speech is complete, it seems to me that he omitted certain vital aspects of our weakness. I do not discredit what Mr. Symington said about our military defense, but I am more concerned about what he did not say. He did not say anything about our moral and political weaknesses.

Reports have been coming from all parts of the world, particularly from Asia, that the United States has lost its position of leadership based on trust, hope, and faith in the democratic way of life. Our weakness lies not so much in military defense but in moral and political leadership.

We have turned our face against millions of people who are struggling for independence and freedom; we have bypassed the United Nations in trying to settle some of our international problems; we refuse to recognize Red China as a member of the United Nations; we have not, to my knowledge, signed the genocide pact or the human rights covenant adopted by the General Assembly.

These and other actions have caused the lack of trust and faith in America by other countries. We seem to have lost the idealism of independence which we inherited from our forefathers. We are prone to grow weary of the never ending struggle for freedom and equality, another ideal we inherited from our forefathers.

These weaknesses are much more devastating to our welfare than the "smallness" of our stockpile of bombs or the non-manufacture of ballistic missiles which, in the final analysis bring nothing but misery and death to mankind.

Against Trade, and Not Aid

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

President Eisenhower showed himself to be no better than the typical politician of small mind and big mouth when he raised the tariff on Swiss watches by 50 per cent.

How many people were fooled by Ike's sweet words of "Trade, not aid," when he ran for President in 1952? And how many of us are now sorry that we fell for what we believed were sincere words?

Too many, I fear.

Relief for Dividend Earners

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

When your editorial writers come up with something as important as "Still a Tax Discrimination" (July 23), they should tell the whole story and not just the parts that fit into their socialistic beliefs.

The writer of that editorial knew full well that before every dividend check is mailed out the Government has already taken a big chunk out of it for taxes. In some cases the Government takes more per share than the stockholder receives!

Now that there is a chance for some relief from this unfair double taxation it seems to me the Post-Dispatch would encourage it.

You compare rent income with securities income. You say: " . . . whereas a person with rent or salary pays at full rate." That simply isn't true. By the time a landlord deducts money for taxes, insurance, interest, repairs and depreciation he pays very little income tax on rent income.

Yes, it is "Still a Tax Discrimination" all right. It should be 100 per cent instead of a measly 4 per cent tax credit if it were to be a strictly honest law. ART MARRIOTT.

'With a Helping Hand'

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

St. Louis lost one of its truly good citizens last week. Former Circuit Judge George E. Mix was always ready with a helping hand and an open purse. His special interest was primarily with the blind, aiding them to help themselves, giving courage and strength in their sightlessness. Our shock is great in his passing.

Changing With the Times

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Missouri, in its present state of ignorance, cannot afford to abolish any of its existing cultural centers. Particularly in its capital city is a university to be desired. To abolish Lincoln University would be foolhardy; to change it to suit the changing times would be feasible and intelligent.

Lincoln can be made a university of which the state may be justly proud. It should be opened to all people regardless of race, its leadership should be improved and it should be given a first-class faculty.

A centrally-located small college for all the people will justify its own existence by raising the cultural level of our capital city and of the state. LINCOLN OBSERVER.

Good Work in Tulsa

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Hats off to the Tulsa (Okla.) police for their promptness in arresting the St. Louisans who raced into that community the other day with their muffler wide open. When will St. Louis police start doing the same thing?

Viewing the Primary

Tuesday's primary in St. Louis and the county shapes up as one of the dullest in a long time. This is due in part to the absence of important statewide races that would generate heat locally. It is due also to the cut-and-dried nature of many of the contests, especially in the city.

Whatever the cause, this is unfortunate. It leaves the field to the professionals, the organizational workers. They turn out, rain or shine.

In the city, the David A. Hess-John W. Joynt contest for the Democratic nomination for State Senator from the Second District (all or part of Wards Eight, Nine, Thirteen, Fourteen and Fifteen), pits against each other two of the most dubious candidates on the ballot.

The fact that the Democratic leaders in the district failed to induce an outstanding candidate to enter this race is something they should be held accountable for. Nor are the Republicans deserving of applause. In a district which they have won in other years, they were able to persuade only a single candidate to offer himself.

City Democrats whose votes defeated Callanism in the primary two years ago might be inclined to retire the Lavin brothers, James Patrick and John M., Callanan satellites.

Richard J. Tozer, a brother of the Sheriff, is the leading contender against James Patrick Lavin for the nomination for clerk of the Court of Criminal Correction. John M. Lavin is after his second nomination and term as State Representative in the Sixteenth District (Wards Four, Eighteen, Twenty, Twenty-six).

Another St. Louis Democrat whose candidacy deserves the closest scrutiny is John W. Green, who seeks renomination and re-election as State Representative in the Seventeenth District (Wards Four, Eighteen and Twenty-one). Representative Green is under a grand jury indictment charging he obtained $600 by representing he could obtain a parole for a convict in the state penitentiary. He has denied the charge.

In St. Louis county many voters will consider that Supervisor Luman F. Matthews has earned renomination in the Republican primary. Mr. Matthews's friendly and intelligent co-operation with St. Louis on governmental matters has been beneficial to the whole metropolitan area.

Republican voters in the county will have an opportunity to take Prosecuting Attorney Stanley Wallach off the public payroll. He is retiring from that office after completing his seventh consecutive term as prosecutor, but is trying hard for the party nomination for Circuit Judge in Division 3. His opponent, Magistrate John S. Stevens, a young and conscientious official, appears to be much the better choice.

Another young attorney, Franklin Ferriss, may appeal to many voters as a likely Republican nominee for Circuit Judge in the county's Division 6. His opponents include State Senator Hartwell G. Crain and Louis L. Hicks, a one-time Justice of the Peace.

Perhaps the most hotly contested set of races in the county involves the Prosecuting Attorney's office. In our opinion, the nomination of State Representative Edward W. Garnholz in the Republican primary and H. Jackson Daniel, Webster Groves attorney and former State Assistant Attorney General, in the Democratic primary, would put two promising men on the ballot.

Why All the Delay?

A sweeping new military manpower program which requires military duty for "all qualified young men" followed by compulsory service in a reorganized reserve is proposed by the Eisenhower Administration. With the reserves in such a weakened condition that they are hardly worthy of the name, and with the Selective Service Act expiring next June, this is a matter that should have been brought up for debate in Congress many months ago.

With Secretary of State Dulles, Adm. Radford, who is chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and other administration leaders emphasizing the suddenness with which an atomic war could strike, it is difficult to understand how Mr. Eisenhower, a man with a great military reputation, could countenance such delay.

In a letter Thursday to Senator Saltonstall, chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, who has been pressing his chief for an adequate reserve, the President referred to a part of the proposal that should be in effect now—"a program for reconstructing, revitalizing and reinforcing the reserve and guard structure."

That program, Mr. Eisenhower said, is to be "a top priority item" for submission at the next session of Congress. He referred to his own "deep conviction about the importance of a vigorous strong reserve."

The importance of having a vigorous strong reserve has been emphasized before by Mr. Eisenhower, by his military leaders and by investigating commissions. There have been pertinent comments such as this one last June by Col. C. M. Boyer, executive director of the Reserve Officers' Association:

"From the standpoint of having a reserve trained and capable of being ordered to duty to neutralize with success the effect of a sudden attack, I can definitely state that we do not have such a reserve at this time."

With all this agreement on the need for making our military reserves something that could be counted on in an emergency, and with expiration of the draft law imminent, why was the program proposed Saturday not introduced early in this session of Congress?

The answer apparently is that the Eisenhower Administration prefers to wait until after the fall elections to take up such a touchy program.

Three Indictments and Out?

Alderman Walter W. Ziegenbalg has been asked to resign his office to save the Democratic party further embarrassment, a suggestion which most St. Louisans will consider more than reasonable. He has been named in three indictments charging that he solicited or accepted bribes for his support of bills introduced in the board. He has now asked to be suspended.

The Post-Dispatch has been told that the request for Mr. Ziegenbalg's resignation came from City Treasurer John J. Dwyer, chairman of the Democratic City Central Committee. It is good to see that Mr. Dwyer recognizes that the party has responsibility in this matter. The only question is why it took him so long to act. Mr. Ziegenbalg was first indicted three weeks ago.

Moreover, if Mr. Ziegenbalg is an embarrassment to the party, what about Alderman Ben Oliver? He too has been named in three indictments alleging solicitation of bribes. The Democratic majority in the Board of Aldermen was quicker to throw up its hands in Mr. Oliver's case than in Mr. Ziegenbalg's, for it suspended him without pay after his second indictment.

The Aldermen have taken no official action against Mr. Ziegenbalg—they have not even taken notice that he is under indictment—and he has continued to collect his aldermanic salary. Mr. Ziegenbalg and Mr. Oliver are both embarrassments to the Democratic party, to the Board of Aldermen and to St. Louis.

Tug o' War in the Senate

Was the McCarthy censure resolution not specific enough as introduced by Senator Flanders of Vermont? Did it not name places and dates? Did it not spell out precisely the case against the Wisconsin demagogue who is at war with the Eisenhower Administration?

Then the bills of particulars drawn up by Senators Fulbright of Arkansas and Morse of Oregon should satisfy the most meticulous. And count us on the side of the meticulous who want the charges specific, as in the 1929 case when the overwhelmingly Republican Senate voted 54 to 22 to condemn the Republican Senator Hiram Bingham of Connecticut. The 1929 Senate did so because Senator Bingham put a lobbyist on the staff of the Senate Finance Committee.

These proposed amendments to the Flanders resolution summarize some of the basic points which the Vermont Republican made in his speech to the Senate when he introduced his censure resolution. These include Senator McCarthy's contemptuous refusal to testify before a Senate subcommittee that desired to look into his strange financial operations. They include Senator McCarthy's acceptance of a $10,000 fee from the Lustron Corp. when the company was obtaining $37,000,000 in loans from the Government. They include also Senator McCarthy's defiance of the executive branch by inviting its employes to violate both their oath and the law in supplying him with secret information and Senator McCarthy's inpugning of the loyalty, patriotism and character of Brig. Gen. Zwicker, combat decorated veteran of World War II, and so on.

While Majority Leader Knowland of California, G.O.P. Senate Campaign Committee Chairman Dirksen of Illinois and other stalwarts are doing their best to beat down the censure resolution by one means or the other, some Republicans are being true to the conscience of their party by favoring it.

Such a Republican is Senator Duff of Pennsylvania, who was strong for Dwight D. Eisenhower when Senator Dirksen was still trying to nominate the late Robert A. Taft and when Senator Knowland was still working for Earl Warren for the nomination. Another Republican who has declared his colors for censure is Senator Cooper of Kentucky. Even Senator Smith of New Jersey, who would like to refer the whole ugly business to a committee, says he will vote for censure if his substitute is not adopted.

The Senate has itself to blame for the civil war now going on in its midst. It pretended for months that the Wild Man from Wisconsin was not its responsibility. It let him run loose. It allowed him to misuse the name and authority of the Senate. It permitted him to kick innocent people around along with others who needed to be investigated. It held him to no fair rules.

The Senate, Republicans and Democrats alike, would make more trouble for themselves and the country by voting down or pigeonholing the censure resolution. That would be a McCarthy victory and a signal for him to renew his war on President Eisenhower.

The irresponsible Senator from Wisconsin ought to be dethroned from his chairmanships. The very least the Senate should do now is to condemn his conduct.

Enough of Christian Dior

Christian Dior, a Paris designer of women's dress whose bizarre ideas of the sartorial frequently become fashion pacemakers, is attempting to replace the curvaceous atomic age woman with a straight, narrow, long-torso woman. By practically eliminating hips and busts he would achieve a throwback to the John Held, pencil-shape flapper of the 1920s.

It is difficult to understand why this Monsieur Dior should have acceptance in the United States when it comes to playing around with what Shakespeare called "the glass of fashion and the mould of form." He apparently is a person who sees to it that anatomy fights a losing battle against style. So instead of accepting what is known as "the Dior H-line" why not go back to that old reliable but simple policy of changing style by lowering a dress at one end and adding on to it at the other?

A Tax He Never Paid

The tax bill which has now been accepted by both House and Senate probably contains more good than bad. A great many of the revisions it makes are desirable and necessary.

Individuals will benefit from the more liberal treatment of medical expenses, retirement income, earnings of dependents, costs of child care for working mothers, and the like. Corporations will benefit from the accelerated depreciation allowances and other changes.

It is too bad that an otherwise defensible bill had to be marred by the beginnings of tax discrimination in favor of corporation stockholders.

As everybody recognizes, the comparatively small relief granted to recipients of dividends this year is intended as a first installment.

Tax relief for stockholders is said to be justified on the ground that dividends are now subjected to "double taxation," once as corporation income and again as individual income to the stockholder. The theory is that the stockholders really own the corporation's income, and should not pay taxes on it twice.

Actually, of course, they do not pay taxes twice because it is not the stockholder who pays the corporation income tax in the first place.

That tax is paid overwhelmingly by the consumer, as part of the price he pays for the corporation's product or service. The shifting of taxes to the consumer has become so well established that this very tax bill reinstates corporation tax rates at 52 per cent rather than drop them five points—without a perceptible murmur of protest from the corporations. They do not protest because they know they can pass the tax to the consumer.

So long as it is passed on to the consumer, there is no reason why the stockholder should be given relief for taxes he never paid.

An important aspect of the bill is its cost to the Treasury in revenue. Every tax cut means that much less money going to Washington for necessary expenditures or for application on the deficit. The 1954 excise cuts have reduced the federal income by about $1,000,000,000. The cuts in the tax bill that now goes to President Eisenhower total $1,363,000,000. On last Jan. 1 reductions in the individual income tax and elimination of the excess profits tax on corporations reduced revenue $3,600,000,000 a year more.

All of these reductions, however fair or otherwise desirable, make just that much more trouble in balancing the budget. They make the more pressure for dangerous cuts in defense.

EXPRESSING THE PHILOSOPHY OF THE ADMINISTRATION

The Still-Unsettled Power Issue

The Mirror of Public Opinion

Each side argued atomic bill with moral conviction and little comprehension of what other side was saying; permissive public power written into Senate text; "liberals" of both parties lost mainly, but gained issue for future elections.

Joseph C. Harsch in The Christian Science Monitor

WASHINGTON.

The surprising thing about the great July filibuster in the United States Senate on atomic energy is not that it lasted so long but that it didn't last any longer.

It was ended not by a resolution of a deep and underlying conflict in the United States but by a negotiated truce between battle-weary leaders.

The end result of the 13 days of angry argument which split both parties down the middle was a compromise which defers but does not settle the great underlying question of whether atomic energy, unlocked and developed by taxpayers' money, belongs properly to all the people or is a proper area for the operation of private enterprise.

The original bill presented to Congress by the Administration was a private-enterprise bill.

It was based on the political and philosophical premise that the exploitation of a natural resource for consumer use should be put in the hands of private enterprise regardless of the origin of the resource.

Opposition to the bill was based on the contrary political and philosophical premise that where the resource originated, there it should reside.

Two Sets of Morals

One thing that stood out above all others during the debate was that here was a clash between two points of view so diametrically opposed that on each side there was a firm belief in a moral cause, and an almost total inability on either side to comprehend what the other was talking about.

The Administration side, supported by conservative Democrats, manifested a deep belief that there is superior morality in private as contrasted with public enterprise.

Spokesmen of the Administration saw no reason why the whole use of atomic energy for nonmilitary purposes should not be turned over to private companies to develop for profit.

Nor did there seem anything questionable to these men in the interim proposal to select a private-power group and give it a special and tax-free contract to pipe electric power into the TVA system.

Old Issue, New Form

On the other side were men who feel sincerely that there is something essentially immoral about turning atomic energy over to private enterprise for commercial exploitation when atomic energy was unlocked by the Government and at taxpayer expense.

Also they were shocked by the Administration proposal to select a single private company and give it a contract to produce power for TVA, with the Government paying the taxes.

This is an old issue which has been fought over many times before in many countries, including the United States, but this time it comes in slightly changed form.

Heretofore natural resources were things like oil or coal or gold or water; things which are there for anyone to find and anyone to develop who has the ingenuity and the resourcefulness.

This time the resource was not lying there for anyone to find and develop.

No pioneer, or explorer, or freebooter, or prospector went out and located a vein of atomic energy. It was located by the combined ingenuity of many of the world's greatest nuclear physicists brought together in the United States during the war for the purpose of achieving a new weapon.

In the course of this work they found something which may become the most valuable source of power in history.

Some experts think that in 50 to 100 years the bulk of the world's supply of energy will come from atomic reactors.

Across Party Lines

When that time comes will the possession, and the profit, go to Government and to all the people whose taxes paid for developing the resource, or shall it be vested in that private enterprise which is a special contribution of the United States to the free way of life?

Or will there be a compromise?

The last thing the Eisenhower Administration has any intention of doing is to put the Government into the business of selling atomic energy for general use.

It is trying to take the United States Government out of business.

It is closing down every Government activity it can which could be taken over by private business, including the ancient naval uniform factory at the Brooklyn Navy Yard.

The bill as originally drawn would have put the production and sale of energy from nuclear reactors exclusively into private hands.

It cut across party lines.

The opposition could not change the intent of the Administration, but it could, and did, write into the bill permissive power for Government sale.

Wavering in West

This was a head-on crash between the concepts of private versus public enterprise.

It proved that the idea of the propriety of public enterprise did not end with the 1952 elections.

Most of the Old South defended TVA, and the concept of similar public development of atomic energy.

Many a Republican from the West wavered in the direction of public power.

Senator John Sherman Cooper, a conservative Republican in most aspects, broke with the Administration on the issue.

The "liberals" of both parties lost most of the fight, but gained an issue which may well be important in future elections.

The voters of the United States tossed out the Democrats in 1952, but they did not convert the Senate of the United States to shutting down all public power. Thirteen days of Senate debate proved it.

The question remains open.

Big Operators

From the Chicago Daily Tribune

It used to be a boy's ambition to grow up to be a man, but now there seems to be something one step more sublime, and that is to be an operator. In trade after trade, artisans are abandoning their familiar titles in order to become operators. Bus drivers are bus operators. Cabbies are taxicab operators. Elevator men are elevator operators. There are news stand operators, filling-station operators, beauty-shop operators and punch-press operators. In some hotels, bellhops have become bellmen, and their ambition, no doubt, is to become bell operators. And, finally, aldermen will become council operators and congressmen will be legislative operators.

But by then the bus operator will have become the transit technician and the cycle will begin again.

Between Book Ends

The Sympathetic Gringo

CONQUEST OF DON PEDRO, by Harvey Fergusson. (William Morrow, 250 pgs., $2.75.)

So long as there are separate languages and peoples in this world, just so long will there be slang names in any one of these languages for those who speak any of the others. To the Mexican, the man from north of the border is "el gringo"; he of the lordly, know-it-all, "treat-me-like-the-prince-I-am" attitude. As surely as there are those who fit the stereotype and deserve its stigma, there are the exceptions — those gifted individuals who prove by love and humility that they may be "ajenos" (foreigners) but they certainly are not "gringos."

"The Conquest of Don Pedro" is the story of one such man. For Leo Mendes, the consumptive from New York, the people along his peddler's route were life-savers — literally. They, in turn, sensed his need of them, and gave of themselves in a way no amount of superior commanding, or even well-meant condescension could have forced them to do. Here we see Don Leo sharing beans in a one-room hut, there learning to dance and to swim with the young boys in the village of Don Pedro and finally being greeted with the warmth of an "abraso," that embrace reserved by the people for one of their own. Yet for all of these personal triumphs, Mendes has not been created as a too perfect fit for the Mexican pattern. He is still an American in his punctuality, his sanitation—the little things by which he governs his life. In a decade of growing pains and border disputes (the story is laid in the 1870s), Fergusson has somehow managed to create a character at once distinctive and believable. Don Leo recognizes the necessity for guns in that time and place, but refuses to carry one himself. In less skilled hands this would smack of the "goodie-good," yet here it only serves to make the things which Mendes does seem plausible.

Harvey Fergusson

If the reader can shed his American standards long enough to go along with Fergusson (and Don Leo) on the various free-love binges which form a major part of the plot, he will find the book well-written, with a touch of sympathetic understanding unfelt in many novels about Mexico and Mexicans.

PHOEBE C. ANDERSON.

The Seven Lost Years

THE DESERTER, by Lowell Barrington. (MacMillan, 247 pgs., $3.)

Only the element of murder is missing in Lowell Barrington's first novel to rate it as among the best of the current whodunits. It holds reader interest from start to finish. And yet it is lacking in several important ingredients necessary to classify it as a topnotch novel.

The very fact that Barrington's characters do not react logically—thus making the story weak in characterization—adds to the cumulative mystery and suspense. Sudden, unpredictable turns are taken in every chapter and nothing beyond the bare necessities is revealed to outline the action.

The author develops the story methodically, like a man dressing in the morning—putting on this sock first, then the other; now the left pants leg and now the other.

The subject is somewhat different from the usual fiction material, the book beginning with the release of a former World War II infantry sergeant from an Army prison after serving seven years at hard labor for desertion.

Evidence on which the sergeant was convicted is circumstantial and he, maintaining his innocence, sets forth to find the man who could prove his innocence. What he finds should not be told here, as they say in the mystery story blurbs, because it would give too much away.

Gen. Ridgway Making Headway In Arguing Against 'New Look'

His View Is That 'Massive Weapons' Cannot Be Used in Local Wars and Other Means Must Stop Them.

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND
(Copyright, 1954.)

WASHINGTON.

GEN. MATTHEW D. RIDGWAY is not "at ease" over the "new look." He is not waging any public controversy. That is not his way of doing military business. But within the Pentagon, with the Joint Chiefs of Staff and within the National Security Council, he is pressing his convictions with renewed vigor. The result is that the new look is being looked at again.

The principle views which Gen. Ridgway keeps advancing—and he is gaining a second hearing—are these:

That primary reliance on the capacity for "instant, massive atomic retaliation" leaves the free world unprepared to resist local aggression — as in Korea and as in Indochina.

That if we do not possess an army capable of countering local aggression, we invite local aggression and virtually guarantee its success in advance.

That a stronger, mobile, atomic-equipped army is just as essential to deter aggression and, if necessary, defeat aggression, as is strategic bombing.

That an atomic army needs more, not fewer, men.

Gaining Hearing.

Gen. Ridgway is today the foremost military advocate of giving the new look a second look and a very hard look. His is one view; so far his has been a minority view on the Joint Chiefs. But it is evident that his position is getting a more responsive hearing than it did a year ago.

One reason it is getting a more responsive hearing is the lesson of Indochina.

Throughout the fighting in Indochina the United States possessed the capacity for "instant, massive atomic" intervention.

Our possession of this capability and, in one of Secretary Dulles's speeches, a warning that we might use it, did not deter the Chinese Communists from keeping up their decisive support of the Indochinese Communists.

When our warning went unheeded, we were left with the capability of atomic intervention and no intention or the will to use it.

Thus we had in our hands an atomic capability we didn't use, in part for fear it would turn a local war into a world war, and we had denied ourselves the kind of army we could have used.

The view which Gen. Ridgway holds could be put this way:

The Korea-type wars are the real, present problem. As long as the Communists feel we cannot meet them, they will occur. The Army wants to be prepared to meet the strategy of local aggression which is the actual form which Communist aggression takes.

The Army wants to win the local wars as quickly and as cheaply as possible, without starting a general war. To do this the Army will need to use on the battlefield all the modern weapons, atomic and conventional alike, in the United States arsenal. Korea could have been won in the first two weeks, if the Army had had modern airborne divisions ready to go. But they didn't have because the Army had been skimped for funds while the greater part of the defense dollar had gone to types of weapons not used in Korea. Again, with the Army cut back and still not mobile, we were unable to deal effectively with the problem in Indochina.

New Army Concept.

Today the Army is designing and will shortly have on maneuvers new units creating modern combined-arms (atomic and conventional) battle teams. They will be capable of delivering atomic fire power in large doses. These units will use the airplane the way the Air Force uses trucks. They can be supplied by guided supply missiles.

The concept of the Army is that the modern combined-arms infantrymen can be capable of being moved by air anywhere in the world on an instant's notice and of sustaining assault when they arrive.

It is clear that Gen. Ridgway believes that such an army—and it will take more manpower than now authorized—is essential to a balanced defense and would have the effect of providing needed flexibility to American diplomacy.

The general hasn't won his battle in the Joint Chiefs or in the Security Council. But he is making headway.

DEMOCRATS QUOTE EISENHOWER, MEEK

List Eight Issues on Which President and Man He Indorses Disagree.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2 (UP) — The Democratic National Committee yesterday jokingly proposed a "great debate" between President Eisenhower and Joseph T. Meek, the man Mr. Eisenhower has indorsed for the United States Senate from Illinois.

Meek is Republican nominee for the Senate seat now held by Democratic Senator Paul H. Douglas.

The committee made public a list of excerpts from statements by Mr. Eisenhower and Meek purporting to show that they are lined up on opposite sides of eight issues.

The issues: The Bricker amendment, co-operation with Allies, abolition of the Taft-Hartley law, continuation of foreign aid, danger of "McCarthyism," support of United Nations, extension of social security and fair play in congressional hearings.

The White House last Tuesday made public an exchange of letters in which Mr. Eisenhower told Meek he was looking forward to Meek's victory and Meek pledged Mr. Eisenhower his "loyalties and support" as a Senator.

This brought from Douglas the observation that he has supported Mr. Eisenhower on every foreign policy issue while Meek "has taken an opposite course."

The excerpts, to be published in the September issue of the Democratic Digest, the Democrats' monthly magazine, included:

Meek—"You have to seek for eventual elimination of both the Taft-Hartley Act and the Wagner Act."

Mr. Eisenhower — "I believe that the Taft-Hartley Act should not be repealed . . . that it should be amended."

Meek — "The United States must at all costs walk alone rather than get involved with ingrate and insincere nations."

Mr. Eisenhower—The United States "alone cannot do the job."

Douglas Says Giveaways Make Teapot Dome Look Small.

PEORIA, Ill., Aug. 2 (AP)—Senator Douglas (Dem.), Illinois, yesterday criticized "giveaways" by the Republican Administration which, he said, "make Teapot Dome seem like small change."

Douglas made two picnic addresses during a brief weekend campaign trip in Illinois.

"The Republicans last year gave away the offshore oil resources belonging to the people which were worth eight to 50 billion dollars," the Senator said.

"This year they are trying to give away to a few huge corporations the precious powers of atomic energy which the people have spent 12 billion dollars to develop."

German Students Welcomed Here

From left: KLAUS HAMMESFAHR, Solingen; ROSWITHA KEDDY, Bremerhaven; CARL FLEISCHAUER, Heidelberg; HANS-JURGEN SCHULTE, Munster, shaking hands; GEORG ROGGE, Bremen; MR. and MRS. J. H. SCHWEICH, 6310 Fauquier drive, Clayton, who will be hosts to Schulte; their son, ROBERT; ROLAND ADICKES, Tubingen, and KLAUS ANSCHUTZ, North Rhine Westphalia. After their visit here, the young Germans will attend American universities for a year under the Fulbright Act.

'WHERE'S CHARLEY?' THIS WEEK'S OPERA

Gil Lamb, Martha Stewart Play Leads in First St. Louis Presentation.

"Where's Charley?" the musical production based on the Brandon Thomas farce, "Charley's Aunt," will open at 8:30 p.m. today and continue for one week at the Municipal Opera in Forest Park.

"Where's Charley?" is being presented for the first time on a St. Louis stage.

Gil Lamb, dancing comedian returning to Muny Opera after an absence of many years, will play Charley. Martha Stewart, a principal in last week's "Panama Hattie," will play Amy.

Other principals will be Danny Scholl, Dorothy Coulter, Jen Nelson, Fred Harper, John Moore, Oliver Cliff, Harry Weber, Gretchen Wyler and Ralph Farnworth.

The stage version of "Where's Charley?" opened on Broadway in 1948 and ran 792 performances. Songs include "Once In Love With Amy," "The New Ashmolean Marching Society and Students Conservatory Band," "My Darlin' My Darlin'" and "Make a Miracle."

The plot concerns an Oxford University senior who impersonates his aunt when she fails to arrive as chaperon to a party.

Tickets for any remaining performance of the season can be obtained in the lobby of the Arcade building, at the Municipal Theater in Forest Park or at Famous-Barr's Southtown store.

MRS. CLEMENCE HEIN FUNERAL TOMORROW

Civic Leader Was Active in Club and Charitable Work.

The funeral of Mrs. Clemence L. Hein, civic leader, will be at 2 p.m. tomorrow from the Lupton undertaking establishment, 7233 Delmar boulevard, University City, to Central Presbyterian Church, 801 South Hanley road, Clayton, with private burial in Oak Grove Cemetery.

Mrs. C. L. Hein.

Mrs. Hein, 51 years old, died of cancer yesterday at her home, 7023 Westmoreland avenue, University City, after a brief illness.

The former Dorothy Johnston, Mrs. Hein was a director of the St. Louis Woman's Club, chairman of the city division of the 1949 Community Chest campaign and a former president of John Burroughs School Mothers' Club. Her husband is a director of the International Shoe Co.

She was a graduate of the University of Missouri and also attended Hardin College, Mexico, Mo., and did graduate work at the University of Colorado. Her father was the late Judge Houston Watson Johnston, of Montgomery City, Mo.

Also surviving are two daughters, Cynthia Honey, a student at Washington University, and Dorothy Lee, a student at John Burroughs; her mother, Mrs. H. W. Johnston, of St. Louis, and a brother, Gale F. Johnston, vice chairman of the board of Mercantile Trust Co.

GOVERNOR KNIGHT OF CALIFORNIA HAS SMALL WEDDING

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 2 (AP)—Gov. Goodwin, J. Knight of California and Mrs. Virginia Carlson were married today.

The 57-year-od chief executive, a widower, and the 35-year-old war widow had a small wedding, ony about 30 invited relatives, in the Episcopal Church of Our Savior. The Rev. J. C. Donnell, longtime friend of the Governor, will officiate.

Gov. Knight's first wife, Arvilla, died in 1952. Mrs. Carlson's first husband, Lt. Lyle Carlson, an Air Force bombardier, was killed in 1944 in a raid on the Ploesti oil fields.

Mrs. Carlson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Hershberger of Los Angeles, was attended only by her sister-in-law, Mrs. Richard Hershberger. The Governor's best man was his son-in-law, Robert Eaton, Los Angeles attorney.

TEEN-AGERS URGED TO HELP IN SPECIAL MARCH OF DIMES

Organization of special 'teen-age volunteer groups to help in the Aug. 16 to 31 Emergency March of Dimes was urged today by Postmaster Bernard F. Dickmann, St. Louis campaign chairman.

Dickmann suggested that young persons plan dances, block parties and other events to raise money for the drive, which has been scheduled to provide additional funds for prevention measures against infantile paralysis and for care of patients. National goal is $20,000,000.

"Teen-agers have proved to be valuable workers in the regular March of Dimes campaigns, Dickmann said. "They have a keen interest in polio because they know what it means to have classmates in respirators or attending school in wheelchairs and on crutches," he said.

COL. JAMES STEWART GETS MEDAL, NATIVE ST. LOUISAN

Col. James T. Stewart, a native St. Louisan, received the Bronze Star recently in Tokyo for "meritorious service" as assistant director of requirements in the office of the deputy for operations of the Far East Air Forces.

The citation accompanying the award said in part: "He was instrumental in the successful accomplishment of highly classified projects of major political and military significance. . . . Col. Stewart's outstanding professional ability, sound judgment and comprehensive understanding of the employment of air power were marked assets to FEAF in air operations against the enemy, thereby reflecting great credit on himself, the Far East Air Forces and the United States Air Force."

Col. Stewart is the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Stewart, 6715 Weldon avenue. His wife and child live in Orting, Wash.

MRS. H. K. EDWARDS FUNERAL

Funeral services for Mrs. H. K. Edwards, 415 South Holmes avenue, Kirkwood, wife of the commanding officer of the Naval Air Station at Lambert Field, were held today at the Oak Grove Cemetery Chapel, Wellston.

Mrs. Edwards, who was 40 years old, died last Friday of a circulatory disease at the Great Lakes Naval Hospital, Great Lakes, Ill. In addition to her husband, she is survived by a daughter, Carol, 16, and two sons, Michael, 14, and Bruce, 4.

DR. WILLIAM HALL TO HEAD COLLEGE IN PENNSYLVANIA

LANCASTER, Pa., Aug. 2 (AP)—Dr. William Webster Hall, president of Westminster College, Fulton, Mo., today was named president of Franklin and Marshall College.

The board of trustees at the Pennsylvania college, founded by the Reformed Church, announced that the 51-year-old ordained Presbyterian minister will fill the vacancy left by the resignation of Dr. Theodore A. Distler effective Feb. 1, 1955.

Dr. Distler resigned July 1 to accept a position as executive secretary of the American Association of Colleges. He headed F. and M. for more than 10 years.

Dr. Hall is a graduate of Princeton University. He has held positions at Robert College, Istanbul, Turkey; the American College at Sofia, Bulgaria, and the College of Idaho at Caldwell. He was president of the last named school.

It was during Dr. Hall's tenure as president of Westminster that Winston Churchill, British prime minister, made his historic speech several years ago at the Missouri college's commencement exercises in which he coined the phrase "iron curtain" in referring to the Soviet Union.

ZIONIST PRESIDENT ASSAILS U.S. POLICY IN MIDDLE EAST

TEL AVIV, Aug. 2 (AP)—The United States should "abandon its discredited policy of appeasement of the Arab states at the expense of Israel," Mortimer May of Nashville, Tenn., president of the Zionist organization of America, said at a mass meeting last night.

May said he believed the evacuation of the Suez canal by Britain, together with possible arms deliveries to Egypt and the other Arab states by the United States would upset the balance of power in the Middle East and invite the Arabs not only to refuse to make peace with Israel but to renew war against it.

Emphasizing he believed it necessary "to correct pas diplomatic errors of omission and to provide safeguards for Israel security," May urged western policy makers "to bring Israel into the Middle East defense network.

DUKE OF EDINBURGH ARRIVES ON CANADA'S WEST COAST

VICTORIA, B.C., Aug. 2 (UP)—The Duke of Edinburgh arrived on the Canadian west coast yesterday on the second lap of his three-week informal tour of Canada.

The husband of Queen Elizabeth and his bachelor party arrived aboard a Royal Canadian Air Force C-5 airliner from Ottawa.

During a stopover at Rivers, Man., the Duke paid a one-hour visit to the Canadian Joint Air Training Center. He was to visit a Canadian Navy shore base today. Then he will attend the British Empire Games at Vancouver.

TRUE D. MORSE SAYS GREAT PLAINS ARE OVERFARMED

CUSTER, S.D., Aug. 2 (AP)—Under Secretary of Agriculture True D. Morse said today 14,000,000 acres in the Great Plains should be taken out of cultivation.

In a speech at a meeting of the Great Plains Council, Morse, a St. Louisan, added that farming of the drier areas "is exploiting farming."

"Those who gamble on cashing in on the few years of extreme high yields on such lands should be prepared to assume the risks and losses for the years when little or nothing will be produced," he said.

Morse recommended that plains farmers maintain reserves of feed and seed against dry years "far beyond the practices of most farmers and ranchers."

Reserves, he said, may include a wide margin of grass for grazing, from one to three years extra supply of hay or other roughage, silage, and grain and other concentrates.

FUNERAL SERVICES HELD FOR MRS. LILLA S. HADLEY

Funeral services for Mrs. Lilla S. Hadley, wife of the late Everett A. Hadley, chief engineer of Missouri Pacific Railroad when he died in 1932, were held today at the Lupton undertaking establishment, 7233 Delmar boulevard, University City. Burial will be at Lowell, Mass.

Mrs. Hadley, 75 years old, died of infirmities of age Saturday at the Bernard Nursing Home, 4385 Maryland avenue. She was the mother of Carleton S. Hadley, general counsel for the Wabash Railroad at the time of his death in 1945. His widow later married Alben W. Barkley, then Vice President of the United States.

Surviving are two granddaughters, Miss Jane R. Hadley of Paducah, Ky., and Mrs. Weldon Behrends of San Angelo, Tex.

STEVENSON IN MONTANA, TO SPEAK AT GREAT FALLS

GREAT FALLS, Mont., Aug. 2 (AP)—Adlai Stevenson, suntanned and fresh from an Alaskan vacation, arrived in Great Falls last night for a talk before an estimated 500 Montana Democrats today.

The 1952 Democratic presidential nominee will go to Missoula tonight to meet with regional Forest Service officers. Stevenson plans to study forestry problems in this section before leaving later this week for Kansas City.

DR. FRANK BEARDSLEY DIES

The Rev. Dr. Frank G. Beardsley, retired Congregational minister and author of several histories of religion in America, died Saturday in Massachusetts. He was the father of Mrs. Margaret B. Warren of St. Louis.

Dr. Beardsley, 83 years old, had lived in Wellfleet, Mass., since his retirement in 1951. He was a native of Ovid, Mich. His wife, three sons and three other daughters also survive.

ARCHBISHOP RITTER ACCEPTS VOWS OF 59 IN NUNS' ORDER

Archbishop Joseph E. Ritter of St. Louis today accepted the vows of 59 newly professed School Sisters of Notre Dame in the convent chapel, 320 East Ripa avenue, Lemay.

In ceremonies Saturday, 55 postulants in the same order became novices. Last Thursday 25 School Sisters of Notre Dame took their final vows in the order. Those from St. Louis in the profession class who made their vows today include:

Sisters Janet Marie Abbacchi, Mary Andre Aubuchon, Marie Michelle Bakula, Gladys Marie Banks, Marie Elise Burkhart, Vincent Marie Duggan, Marie Richard Eckerle, M. MRS. EISENHOWER PRAISES NEGRO WOMAN LEADER'S LIFE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2 (AP)—Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower yesterday praised the late Mary Church Terrell, first president of the National Association of Colored Women, as one rarely endowed with gifts dedicated to the betterment of humanity. Mrs. Terrell died July 24.

Mrs. Eisenhower's message was read to the organization's convention at the Metropolitan Baptist Church. It said:

"I am proud to honor the memory and the great work of your first president, Mrs. Mary Church Terrell. She was rarely endowed. For more than sixty years her great gifts were dedicated to the betterment of humanity, and she left a truly inspiring record.

"Her life was the epitome of courage and of vision and of deep faith—an example worthy of emulation by all who love their fellow men."

FUNERAL FOR SAMUEL WADE, FORMER ALTON BANK OFFICER

Funeral services for Samuel Wade, former chairman of the executive board of the First National Bank and Trust Co. in Alton, will be tomorrow at 11 a.m. at his residence, 503 East Twelfth street, with burial in Alton Cemetery.

Mr. Wade, 81 years old, died Saturday of infirmities at his home after a long illness. Member of an old Alton family, he entered the banking business in 1896 with the old Alton National Bank which later merged with the Citizen's National Bank to become First National Bank and Trust Co. Mr. Wade retired from the bank and his executive board post on Jan. 9, 1951.

Survivors include a son, Henry Wade of Atherton, Calif.; a daughter, Mrs. Harold Boeschenstein of Perrysburg, O.; a sister, Mrs. George Duncan of Alton, and six grandchildren.

CHURCH GROUPS STUDY UNIFICATION MOVEMENT

CHICAGO, Aug. 2 (AP) — Leaders of the Anglo Catholic, old Catholic and Orthodox churches sought today in a mass conference means of unifying all Christian faiths.

The meeting, expected to attract 25,000 church officials, brought together the principal Protestant groups which embrace Catholic liturgies. It did not include representatives of the Roman Catholic church.

WRAY'S COLUMN

Canadian Football? You'll See It on TV.

AUGUST may not seem seasonable for football, but here it is—the All-Stars play the Detroit Lions, pro champions, at Soldiers' Field, Chicago, next week. . . . And, beginning August 28, St. Louisans will have a look at a gridiron novelty — Canadian professional football.

In the past two years the Canadian type grid game has entered the news importantly. . . . Clubs above the border have been raiding this country of material which our National pro league thought it had safely packaged for home consumption.

Canadian clubs have outbid our National League for some of its most noted contract stars. . . . War talk arose, but apparently nothing will happen—there's enough talent to go around, it seems.

* * *

It brings up the point that the public, and especially television station owners, have become interested in what Canadian football really looks like. . . . So it's coming here—via TV.

* * *

Thirteen Canadian League football games will be telecast in St. Louis by NBC, over KSD-TV, beginning August 28 and continuing through Nov. 20, featuring games of the Eastern "Big Four" teams. . . . Perhaps also the climactic game for the Grey Championship Cup will be made available on Nov. 27.

* * *

Americans Coach Canada's Champions.

NOT only are the Eastern and Western division clubs of the Canadian League heavily reinforced with American players, but American coaches also have been lured above the border. . . . The current Canadian championship team, Hamilton, is coached by Carl Voyles, formerly with William and Mary, Auburn and the Brooklyn Dodgers N. L. pro team.

* * *

As with our pro league, the Canadian setup consists of eastern and western divisions, the former including Toronto, Montreal, Ottawa and Hamilton, with the Western group including Calgary, Vancouver, Winnipeg, Regina and Edmonton.

* * *

The league has aroused amazing interest in Canada and the attendance apparently has been good enough to meet the high financial pressure.

Viewers of the TV Canadian grid struggles will perhaps not find much to distinguish the style of play employed up north from our own game. . . . But there are differences.

The gridiron itself is of the old American measurement—110 yards long, with midfield at the 55-yard line. . . . The field also is 11⅓ yards wider than ours. . . . Then too, there are 12 men on the field instead of 11, the extra man being a "flying wing," used largely as a flanker.

* * *

Canadian rules call for only three downs in which to gain 10 yards and the net result is that the offense is designed to set up the long gainer. . . . They really heave that ball around, they say.

* * *

There's no "backfield in motion" rule, so any area in the enemy defense may be quickly attacked. . . . Downfield blocking is permitted only within 10 yards of the line of scrimmage and once the ball, carrier reaches the wide open spaces, he's really on his way.

You'll have to study up on the Canadian scoring, which is different from ours. . . . A touchdown counts five, not six points. . . . One point—a "rouge"—is scored against a team which receives a kick in the end zone and fails to run the ball out. . . . A rouge also may be scored by running the ball out of the end zone which is 25 yards deep, rather than 10. . . . This puts a premium on good punting, we're told, and makes for fewer ties.

* * *

Overworked Canadians Have to Be Stimulated.

NOT all reports from returning American players who tried the Canadian adventure have been rose-colored. . . . Frank Finch, writing in the Los Angeles Times, recently said: "The Los Angeles Rams' new tackle, Bobby Cross, who walked out of the Chicago Bears training camp a year ago to join the Hamilton Tiger Cats of the Canadian 'Big Four,' came back to the States thoroughly disillusioned.

* * *

" 'Widespread use of benzedrine tablets, broken promises, man-killing schedules—all are common,' Cross told us."

Bob Snyder, former Ram's coach and later boss of the Calgary team of the Western Canada circuit, said as much as Cross—and more. The charges have been denied, but the work schedule really is tough, the teams playing two games each week—Wednesdays and Saturdays—the total calling for five exhibition and 14 regular games, plus two title playoffs.

"Up there they work players like horses," was one comment heard. . . . And stimulate them the same way, it seems.

Opposing Clubs Get 5.3 Runs Per Game

By Bob Broeg
Of the Post-Dispatch Sports Staff

BROOKLYN, Aug. 2 — Even though his Cardinals today had completed two-thirds of their schedule a game under .500, Manager Eddie Stanky stoutly insisted the Redbirds would win more games than they'll lose this season.

"We've got to and we will," Stanky said determinedly, "to finish in the first division. Personally, I haven't been out of it since 1944 (with a war-time Brooklyn club) and the Cardinals only once in that time."

However, though clinging to fourth place now and optimistic about possibilities for progress the rest of the way, the Redbird manager said he would try to look to the future, too.

"That means," he explained, "that as much as we want to win ball games this season, we're looking ahead, too, and that's why any new pitchers we bring in will get their chance now. So Gordon Jones (brought up from Omaha, Saturday) will get a starting assignment in the series at Pittsburgh next weekend."

The desire to learn as much about as many pitchers as possible before (1) the lifting of the trade barrier at the end of the season and (2) the beginning of spring training is quite understandable.

Allow 537 Runs in 101 Games.

After all, through the first 101 games this season the Cardinals, though leading the major leagues in runs scored, 562, had tallied only 25 more times than their opponents. The foe's average of 5.31 runs a ball game is a startling indictment of the St. Louis staff's weakness.

In those first 101 contests Stanky used 16 pitchers a total of 270 times. He was trying to establish a bullpen and find another effective starter, particularly because of the broken finger that kept Tom Poholsky idle for more than a month and then handicapped him when he returned.

The following breakdown of earned-run averages and homers yielded by Redbird pitchers this season needs little amplification:

PITCHER.	G.	INN.	ERA.
Lawrence	16	69	2.99
Beard	7	32	3.00
Poholsky	18	84	3.25
Haddix	28	178	3.33
Raschi	21	146	4.19
Lint	23	62	4.50
Staley	29	124	5.01
Brazle	38	61	5.16
*Miller	19	47	6.52
Presko	27	83	6.63
Deal	26	83	7.29
*Scheib	3	5	10.80
*Wright	9	10	11.70
*Greason	3	4	13.50
*White	4	5	19.80
*Lana	1	¾	7.00

*No longer with club.

The 123 homers yielded by Redbird pitchers have been given up individually this way: Staley 20, Raschi 18, Haddix 14, Deal 10, Presko 10, Lint 9, Brazle 8, Poholsky 8, Lawrence 8, Miller 5, Greason 4, Scheib 3, White 2, Wright 2 and Beard 1.

The Cardinals' staff kept its home-run ball under wraps yesterday against Philadelphia in the final of a four-game series at Connie Mack Stadium, but the banjo-batting Phillies still teed off with 16 hits in an 8-3 romp for Curt Simmons.

Only Poholsky, testing his swollen right index finger in a two-inning mop-up, was effective as Beard was pounded out in the second inning and Deal and Presko also cuffed.

If Simmons Were a Redbird!

Richie Ashburn and Willie Jones shared six hits, one more than the Cards collected off Simmons, whose 3.19 earned-run average is more accurate measure of his pitching than his 9-9 won-and-lost record.

The trimph was the southpaw star's first of the season over the Cardinals, whom he has faced far more infrequently than usual. And for all the misfortune the Redbirds had during the first two thirds of the campaign, one of their better strokes of luck was that they didn't have to hit against Simmons more often.

If he had had the heavy-hitting Cardinals behind him, Simmons would be one of the league's top winners. And if the Redbirds had had the fast-firing young Pennsylvanian, those first 101 games wouldn't have seemed as long as the 1001 tales of the Arabian Nights.

Qualifying Play In Tam Event

CHICAGO, Aug. 2 (UP)—Qualifying rounds for the All-American tournament at Tam O'Shanter country club began today with golf's biggest pot of gold at the end of the line.

But the "All-American" is just one feature offered by Promoter George S. May in a two-week $205,000 swinging marathon.

The "world" championship contest, offering a $50,000 purse to the male winner, winds up the meet.

Thanks to Skull Cap, Adcock Still Smiles

—United Press Telephoto.

JOE ADCOCK, Milwaukee slugger (left) and Manager CHARLEY GRIMM smile as they discuss Adcock's narrow escape from injury in the Braves' game with the Dodgers at Ebbets Field, yesterday. Adcock was hit in the head by a pitch by Clem Labine. His protective skull cap was dented by the pitch but Adcock had only a slight headache. Adcock insisted he "wasn't mad at anybody." He played in today's game.

Moylan Beats Talbert In Southampton Final

SOUTHAMPTON, N. Y., Aug. 2 (AP)—Eddie Moylan of Trenton, N. J., posted a straight set victory over Billy Talbert, U. S. Davis Cup captain from New York City, to win the sixty-fifth annual Meadow Club Invitation Tennis tournament.

A surprise winner over top-seeded Tony Trabert Saturday, Moylan was the master throughout the hot afternoon before a capacity gallery. The scores were 6-0, 6-2, 6-4.

'Bean Pot' Cooling Off; Adcock Says He's 'Not Mad at Anybody'

BROOKLYN, Aug. 2 (AP)—"It's all part of the game, I guess," Joe Adcock sighed today before heading for Ebbets Field and another joust with the Brooklyn Dodgers. "I'm not mad at anybody."

Adcock was talking about his narrow escape yesterday when he was beaned by Clem Labine. The slugging Milwaukee Braves' first-baseman, who broke a hatful of records Saturday when he hit four home runs and a double, was carried from the field practically unconscious after being hit.

"When a fellow throws me high and tight, I don't mind," Adcock continued. "I can duck that kind of pitch. But when he throws behind your head, I think he means business. But what's there to be mad about? I'm just out there to make a living."

The beaning almost precipitated a full-scale riot when charges and counter-charges were hurled between the two teams.

Jackie Robinson and Lew Burdette of the Braves came closest to getting into a fight and had to be separated by players and umpires. While Adcock was on the ground, the Braves began accusing Labine of throwing the bean-ball intentionally.

Addressing a remark to Burdette, Robinson said:

"That was only an accident and you know it. You're a fine one to complain about bean-balls, you throw at practically everyone."

Then they went at it.

"Can you imagine that Burdette," Robinson said indignantly later. "I was watching Ed Mathews out of one eye, though. I thought he'd try to sneak one in."

Labine, for his part, denied trying to hit Adcock.

"I wasn't trying to hit him in the head," Labine snapped. "That goes without saying, doesn't it? I was only trying to brush him back. Instead of twisting back, he actually ducked into the pitch."

Manager Charlie Grimm of the Braves wanted to forget the incident.

"I don't think Labine did it on purpose," he said. "Just one of those things that happen in baseball. Adcock is all right and he'll be in the line-up today."

Only the fact that he was wearing a protective plastic helmet—the type pioneered by Branch Rickey—kept Adcock from being injured seriously, according to Dr. Eugene Zorn, the Brooks' team physician who examined the player. No X-rays were taken and Adcock had nothing more than a slight headache.

"Those helmets are the greatest invention since the cotton gin," observed Dr. Zorn.

The Braves, incidentally, won the game, 14-6, for their tenth straight victory.

Birds Rest Today; Raschi, Haddix And Lawrence to Face Dodgers

BROOKLYN, Aug. 2—With the Atlantic seaboard sweltering in the heat, too, the Cardinals today welcomed a scheduled rarity—an old-fashioned open date—before invading Brooklyn's Ebbets Field tomorrow night for a three-game series against the staggering defending champion Dodgers.

Manager Eddie Stanky said he would pitch Vic Raschi, Harvey Haddix and Brooks Lawrence in that order against Brooklyn.

The off-day was particularly beneficial to the pulled right hamstring muscle with which rookie First Baseman Joe Cunningham has played before and since joined the Cardinals. Every time Cunningham stretches for a throw, the taped leg is especially distressing, and he hobbles in running out long hits.

Capt. Red Schoendienst too, feeling the strain of roaming the infield, also could use the open date to build back his strengh, though the Redhead was grinning appreciatively at a compliment paid him by another old second baseman, Manager Stanky, who told a Philadelphia writer:

"Like Charley Gehringer, you just wind Red up and let him run for 154 games."

Roy Hamey, the Phillies' general manager, nodded agreement before yesterday's game as his new manager, Terry Moore, said frankly: "I've seen more mistakes, mental and physical, the last two years or so than during my entire playing career with the Cardinals."

Eddie Mayo, the Phillies' third-base coach and former American League infielder, paid Stan Musial a high compliment after pointing out that by digging all the way, The Man scored from first base on the easy two-out fly ball Del Ennis dropped in right field Saturday night.

"A lot of kids in the stands, not to mention the players on both ball clubs, saw baseball's greatest player demonstrate what hustle will do," Mayo said. "Most guys would have been jogging and only reached third base at best on that play."

Eddie Eases Up On Fines.

Because, as he put it, "our Kitty is financially sound," Manager Stanky yesterday lifted for the rest of the season the $1 system of assessments for playing-field shortcomings, such as failure to sacrifice, inability to drive home a run from third base with fewer than two out, etc.

Alex Grammas, playing a smooth and steady shortstop for the Cardinals, was guilty of an omission in the first inning when he failed to rush out into left field as Rip Repulski challenged the wall for Gran Hamner's drive, which hit the fence for a double and bounced back far enough toward the infield to permit Richie Ashburn to score from first.

Ashburn's Speed Helps.

Ashburn's quick getaway from the plate and fleetness enabled the Phillies' choke-hitting lead-off man to beat out a routine third-inning grounder to third and a fifth-inning bunt.

Musial, who collected two of the Cards' five hits off Curt Simmons, contributed the game's outstanding fielding play when he raced back to the right field fence and toward the foul line for a brilliant backhand catch of Earl Torgeson's sharp line drive.

The Cardinals' five hits were crammed with two Philadelphia errors and a walk in the two innings they scored their three runs—the fourth and fifth—and they failed to break out with more tallies only because Simmons stopped Bill Sarni and Ray Jablonski with double-play pitches.

Presko Fails Again.

Joe Presko, again horribly ineffective, allowed only one run on seven hits in two innings because Grammas nimbly started a double play in one frame and Repulski's strong throw retired limping Gran Hamner at the plate in the other.

Smoky Burgess, the Phillies' catcher, was forced to leave the game in the fourth inning when he was struck on the middle finger of his right hand by a foul tip off Sarni's bat. He was taken to a hospital for X-rays.

Only 5707 Watch Game.

Even though the weather was not quite as stifling, attendance dropped from 27,204 for Saturday night's twilight-night doubleheader to just 5707 for the Sunday single game. Hamey, Moore and the Phillies have a big job ahead.—B.B.

Where Would Milwaukee Be With Antonelli?

NEW YORK, Aug. 2 (AP)—Where would the Milwaukee Braves be today if they still had Johnny Antonelli?

Although they traded away the young lefty who turned out to be the top winner in the majors with a gaudy 16-2 record, the slugging Braves are a positive factor in the National League race.

All that hitting, and Antonelli, too, might very well have meant a sure fire pennant in Milwaukee this season. Of course, they may make it anyhow, the way they've been ripping and snorting on their 10-game winning streak.

Antonelli's brilliant record and the Braves' late summer splurge both were very much in the news yesterday. Antonelli ran his winning streak to 11, longest of the season in either league, as the New York Giants roughed up Cincinnati 9-4 in the first game of a doubleheader. The Giants also won the second game 5-0 on Jim Hearn's six-hitter to pull five and one-half games ahead of Brooklyn.

Milwaukee put the slug on Dodger pitching for their second 19-hit day in succession and a 14-6 romp, moving within four games of Brooklyn.

A. L. Leaders Win.

The three top teams in the American League — Cleveland, New York and Chicago—kept in step by winning doubleheaders. Consequently, the end of the day found them in the same positions—the Indians leading the Yankees by two and one-half games and Chicago by seven.

Cleveland knocked over Washington, 3-1, for Early Wynn's fifteenth, and 5-4 on Hal Newhouser's decisive single. The Yanks had trouble in Baltimore but won two, 8-6 and 2-1, using a total of seven pitchers including Eddie Lopat and Allie Reynolds in relief. Chicago swept a pair from the feeble Philadelphia Athletics, 6-5 and 12-1, with Virgil Trucks winning No. 15 in the finals. The other American League game, involving non-contenders, featured a batting show by Ted Williams, who hit a single, 420-foot double and his eighteenth homer in Boston's 10-8 victory over Detroit.

Pittsburgh managed its first shutout of the year when Dick Littlefield blanked Chicago on three hits, 2-0, but the Cubs didn't wait long to get even with a 12-2 romp as Dave Cole threw a two-hitter. Cole, winning his second, didn't allow a hit until Bob Skinner singled with one out in the eighth.

Before he was hit by a pitched ball, Joe Adcock had doubled for his eighth extra base hit in a series that has proven disastrous for Brooklyn's comeback hopes. Eddie Mathews hit his twenty-eighth homer and Bill Bruton and Del Crandall also homered for the Braves. Bruton also had a pair of triples and Danny O'Connell banged out four hits. Gil Hodges hit his twenty-ninth homer, Snider his twenty-sixth and Robinson his eleventh off Conley.

Rhodes to the Rescue.

Dusty Rhodes again came to the rescue of the Giants when he batted for Antonelli with the score tied at 3-3 in the seventh inning of the opener and hit a two-run homer. His triple helped the Giants score three in the first inning of the second game to give Hearn a cushion. Al Dark, Hank Thompson and Ray Katt of the Giants and Ted Kluszewski and Roy McMillan of Cincy also hit homers in the first game.

Cleveland continued to roll along, moving over the .700 mark with a 71-30 record. Wynn struck out nine while winning his fifth straight but Mike Garcia needed help in the second. Newhouser's single off Bob Porterfield won the game after Vic Wertz's homer tied the score. Newhouser then retired nine men in a row over the last three innings.

Tom Morgan and Johnny Sain had all they could do to hold off Baltimore after Harry Byrd was knocked out in the first Yankee game. Yogi Berra had four hits and Gene Woodling his third homer. Ralph Branca, Brooklyn and Detroit castoff, made his first start for New York in the second, retiring because of wildness in the fifth. Marlin Stuart won on relief with Lopat and Reynolds to mop up. Enos Slaughter's pinch double and Bill Skowron's pinch single drove in the Yank runs.

Marciano-Charles Bout at Yankee Stadium, Sept. 15

NEW YORK, Aug. 2 (UP)—Promoter James D. Norris of the International Boxing Club announced today that the Rocky Marciano-Ezzard Charles heavyweight title bout will be held Sept. 15 at Yankee Stadium.

The return 15-round match was arranged last week, but the site and date were not decided until today. Marciano and Charles will sign formal contracts for the match tomorrow at the headquarters of the New York State Boxing Commission.

Silverman Wins From Buchholz In Title Meet

KALAMAZOO, Mich., Aug. 2 (AP) — Tournament favorites Jerry Moss, Modesto, Calif., and Alan Silverman, Brooklyn, N.Y., won singles titles yesterday in the thirty-ninth annual national junior and boys tennis championships.

The 18-year-old Moss, second seeded, defeated fourth ranking Mike Green, Miami Beach, Fla., 1-6, 6-2, 6-1, 6-3, in the junior final.

The topseeded Silverman, 15, was extended in beating Earl Buchholz, 100-pound youngster from St. Louis in the boys final, 3-6, 6-4, 6-4.

Both newly crowned champions will be too old to defend their titles next year.

Moss, born in Florida but playing as a member of the California delegation, dominated play at the net in the last three sets against Green, and his superior shot-making enabled him to control the action.

Green, 17, had one consolation. The 1951 national boys champion has one more year of junior competition.

The 13-year-old Buchholz, who has one more shot at the boys' crown next year, was the sentimental favorite of the gallery and he took nine straight games off the favored Silverman to take the first set, 6-3, and lead in the second, 4-0.

Then Silverman, momentarily lured into trading sharp, crisp rallies with Buchholz, relied upon the careful play that has marked his matches throughout the weeklong tournament to win the last six games of the second set, 6-4.

In the junior doubles final, Moss and Earl Baumgardner, Oakland, Calif., the fourth seeded team, upset the top seeded combination of Mike Franks, Los Angeles, and Jon Douglas, Santa Monica, Calif., 3-6, 6-4, 8-6, 6-8, 6-2.

The favorites won in boys' doubles final as Earl Buchholz, St. Louis, and Ned Neely, Atlanta, defeated the fourth-ranking Bruce Brian, Baltimore, and Don Ralph, Bethesda, Md., 6-2, 6-4.

Maplewood Faces Aubuchon Legion Club at Busch Stadium Friday

Outstate Play Easy For Both

By John J. Archibald

Half of the entrants in the state American Legion baseball tournament at Busch Stadium next weekend will be from St. Louis, but somebody is likely to be disillusioned before the meet is a couple of hours old. Maplewood and Aubuchon-Dennison, which easily rolled through zone tournaments, will oppose each other in the first game Friday evening.

Both clubs had happy times during the trips outstate, with good hitting and sensational pitching in abundance. Maplewood won three straight games in taking the zone title at Mexico, and Aubuchon-Dennison, though hard-pressed in its Saturday match with Festus, also swept three games in the tournament at Farmington. They and two zone champions from the western part of Missouri will compete in a two-losses-and-out event at Busch on Friday, Saturday, and Sunday.

Kansas City qualified for the finals by beating St. Joseph Central, 6-5, in the Albany zone meet. Kansas City previously defeated Albany, 9-7. St. Joe had whipped Brookfield, 6-5, and Albany, 13-5.

Maplewood defeated Jefferson City in yesterday's final, 8 to 0, with Wayne Thompson hurling his second two-hitter in three days. The Aubuchons found that the Festus team which had held the St. Louisans to a close 4-1 decision Saturday had run out of gas (and pitchers) by Sunday, and St. Louis's city champion won, 25 to 0.

No Place Like Home.

The disillusioning is likely to occur when either Maplewood or Aubuchon finds that out-of-town trips can be deceiving, and that competition around home is usually much tougher.

But regardless of which team finds that outstate results were misleading, the weekend of play did nothing to detract from the likelihood that St. Louis could regain some national attention in Legion ball this month. Aubuchon won by scores of 11-0, 4-1, and 25-0; Maplewood by 13-1, 9-2, and 8-0. Several games were called before the completion of nine innings because of the 10-run rule, so the totals could have been even more lopsided.

Maplewood has a streak of 14 victories going now, and in the final against Jefferson City looked as sharp as ever. With just a day of rest, Wayne Thompson came back strong. He didn't walk a batter, allowed two scattered singles, and struck out nine. In six of the innings he pitched to just three batters.

In addition, Thompson helped out with a home run over the fence at the 310-foot mark with one on, and hit a single later on. Thompson has shown slugging power on other occasions, including the county playoffs, when he hit the center field wall at Ballwin for a triple.

"It's Mighty Whitey" Now.

The home run king of the tournament for Maplewood, however, was a boy nobody figured as a slugger—Second Baseman Marshall Whitecotton. Marshall (now known as Mighty Whitey) was the only player in the meet to clear the fence twice. His drive in the final probably would have cleared the boards even if they had been set 20 feet further away.

Coach Pete Palumbo's club had 16 hits in all. Shortstop Bob Harris had three, including the one that got the team off to a start that quickly cracked the morale of the Jeff City club.

With the ground muddy because of a night-long rain, Harris followed Palumbo's instructions and bunted the first pitch of the game. The ball rolled dead 20 feet from the plate and Harris was on first. Jerry Wolff followed with a sharp hit to left. Both advanced on a passed ball and scored on Hank Kuhlman's single. That put Maplewood ahead 2-0 in just a few minutes and the home runs and other hitting later were just clinchers.

Aubuchon-Dennison Coach Jim Robinson used a different pitcher in each of his three games, and still has another top-notch hurler who never had to leave his post in right field—Jack Willie, who had four hits in the Sunday game. Fred Walton pitched a one-hit shutout Friday night against Rolla, George Werley allowed Festus only two hits and one run Saturday, and Don Mitchell hurled a three-hit shutout in the second meeting with Festus.

The zone tournament in the southeastern section of the state has been a rugged one for St. Louis clubs in other years, but the traditional power, Cape Girardeau, is rebuilding now and didn't have many experienced players.

Tournament Notes.

Mexico went all out for its tournament. Missouri Military Academy permitted the four teams to use one of its barracks without charge, a laundry donated free linen service, restaurants kept special late hours to accommodate the teams, and other merchants contributed generously to a program. The lighting system at Sportsman's Field is one of the best in the Midwest.

Al Quevreaux, With 74, Is Leader in Caddie Tourney

By Robert Morrison

NORWOOD HILLS COUNTRY CLUB, Aug. 2—Webster High boys took charge of the first day's play in the annual St. Louis district caddie tournament here.

Not only did Al Quevreaux set the early pace with a blistering 74 but a couple of his Webster classmates, Jay Aldinger and Bill Johnson, tied for second with 75s.

Quevreaux, a 17-year-old high school senior, is working this summer at a nursery and has been caddying weekends at Westborough club. Aldinger and Johnson caddy at Algonquin.

Quevreaux, playing in the annual tourney for the fourth time, shot a stronger game of golf the longer he was out. He toured the first nine in 39 and then came back in 35.

Par for the Norwood course is 36-34—70.

Among the better scores among the early finishers in the field of 55 were: Jack Shalper, Westborough, 77; Larry Ziegler, Westwood, 80; Bob Ens, Bellerive, 80; Jack Delahunt, Norwood, 80; Mike Kennedy, Triple A, 80.

Thirty-two of the contestants who finished the first round with scores of 91 or better, will be grouped in the championship class tomorrow. Those with 92 and higher scores will play for the Class A trophy.

The record score for this tournament, which has been held on Norwood's east course in all but one of its eight years, was the 73-72—145 which Earl Moeller Jr. shot in 1951. And the hottest single round was 70, a mark established by Don Guariglia in 1949.

There will be plenty of trophies to go around. Each low qualifier from each golf course in the district will receive a small trophy. But the sought-after cups are those for the winner and runner-up, and the Class A winner.

The championship winner and runner-up qualify for the all-expense trip to the national tournament which will be provided by the Post-Dispatch. The national event at Columbus, O., is scheduled for Aug. 16-21.

St. Louis has had one national caddie champion—Don Guariglia in 1949. Except for that year, however, St. Louis boys haven't come close.

Patterson Quits Yanks, Gets Job With Dodgers

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Aug. 2 (UP)—Arthur (Red) Patterson who resigned as publicity director of the New York Yankees last week, today was named assistant general manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Patterson, 45, accepted the position after a conference this morning with President Walter O'Malley of the Dodgers. He said his duties with Brooklyn have not yet been outlined but he expected to help Vice President Buzz Bavasi with administrative details.

Chicago Team Beats Belleville In Legion Game

CANTON, Ill., Aug. 2 (AP)—The Darius-Girenas American Legion Post team of Chicago squared the best-of-three series for the state Junior American Legion baseball championship yesterday by defeating Belleville, 3 to 1.

It was the first defeat of the season for the Belleville squad, most of whose members were also on Belleville High School's state prep champions.

Belleville scored first yesterday but Royce Stroud, who struck out 15, walked in the tying run in the fifth. The Chicagoans went ahead in the seventh on two singles, a sacrifice and an infield error. Chicago's Jim Kudlinski yielded only three hits and fanned seven.

Ted Tedesco of Belleville also had 15 strikeouts Saturday night in a 12-5 victory over the Chicago club which jumped off to a 3-0 first-inning lead. Belleville then scored seven in the second.

The title game is scheduled tonight.

St. Raphael Upsets St. George In C.Y.C. Senior Title Series

By Neal Russo

Competition in a tight race all season, with every game a big one, has paid off for St. Raphael in the first round of the C.Y.C. senior baseball playoffs.

Just as in 1953, the Cardinal Glennon League fight went down to the final week with all four clubs having a chance to win. Yet, after Raphael won out, it was given little chance in the playoffs. Certainly hard-hitting St. George, playoff runner-up last year and runaway champion in the Bishop Winkelmann League this season, was rated a strong favorite.

But Bob Horas, righthander from St. Mary's High, stopped the St. George sluggers to give Manager Bob Johans's club a 4-3 victory. In the other first-round game before 506 fans at Busch Stadium, St. Philip Neri No. 1 beat its old neighbor, St. Engelbert, 4-2.

Play St. Engelbert Next.

Next week, in the single round robin to determine a successor to Notre Dame, St. Raphael (9-4) faces St. Engelbert (10-3) and St. Philip (12-1) opposes St. George (10-2). The games are tentatively set for Fairground Park but the big Muny contest between Kutis No. 1 and the Kellys is scheduled there. Notre Dame, champion three straight years, didn't field a team this season because of heavy manpower losses to services and colleges.

St. George threatened in the ninth, scoring once on doubles by Clem Coleman and George Stovesand, but Horas made .387 hitter John Coleman his third strikeout victim of the inning to end the game. Singles by Lou Schellman and Bob Hannegan, a walk, Don Kolasch's two-run single and a wild pitch produced three runs for St. Raphael in the sixth.

Reiter Strong in Pinches.

Horas fanned eight, walked only two, allowed seven hits. Raphael got seven hits off Joe Becker and Rich Schaeffer.

Little Rich Reiter, drafted from St. Philip No. 2, was strong in the pinches in beating St. Engelbert. Big Jim Reidy, Engelbert's starter, was even more impressive the first four innings but retired after a rough fifth in which St. Philip collected five hits for two runs and a 2-0 lead. Singles by Fred Guy, Ed Hilton, Reiter and Jack Cary accounted for the tallies. Don Schmidt singled home two more runs for Philip off Stan Rekowski in the seventh.

By far the hardest hit ball was Reidy's smashing line drive which Pitcher Reiter speared in self-defense as it headed for his head.

MARK CHRISTMAN A LOSER IN MUNY MANAGER DEBUT

Mark Christman, former Brownie star who has been coaching the Carondelet Sunday Morning Club this season, took over as acting manager yesterday but the Muny South Side League champions were beaten for the third time by the Kimacks, 6-2.

Carondelet Manager Monte Gummels suffered a broken leg in a fall off a ladder while at work and is confined to Lutheran Hospital. Manager Herb Mueller's Kimack club has been hot, posting a 6-2 record since dropping its first six starts. Erv Liberton held Carondelet to six hits.

In the North Side No. 1 league, Kutis No. 1 (11-3) stayed a game ahead of Kelly Shamrocks (10-4) by routing Union Printers, 12-4, behind the pitching of Dick Loeser and Lloyd Rupp. Loeser also had three hits and a sacrifice fly. Kellys won on a forfeit from Craigs when the latter failed to field nine men. They played a practice game with Kellys winning, 6-3. The regular season ends next Sunday with Kutis meeting the Kellys.

Manager Roy Fleddermann's double drove in Pitcher Dave Lauck with the winning run in a four-run seventh that gave McNearys a 6-5 victory, their first in five meetings with Carondelet Advertisers, Heine Meine League champions. Dethroned Hoffmeisters got 21 hits behind Pitcher Jack Johnston to rout Simpkins, 17-5.

Rich Wright pitched Cupples, Harold Hummel League champions, to a 7-0 victory over Koch. He allowed two hits.

Garner of Washington Gets Printers' Award

Bill Garner of champion Washington, D. C., was voted the most valuable player in the Union Printers International Baseball League tournament held here last week.

Garner, who had two hits in Washington's final game 4-3 victory over St. Louis, scored the tying run and drove in the winning tally with a triple. St. Louis Pitcher Frank Munsch was MVP runner-up.

St. Louisans Stan Mann and Bill Keenoy each hit .421 to share batting honors.

Gene Collins of Washington received the pitching award with Charley Cepicky of St. Louis, winner of two games, runnerup.

Marks Fall in British Empire Championships

VANCOUVER, British Columbia, Aug. 2 (AP)—With two of their favorite sports dominating today's calendar in the British Empire games, the Australians hope to carry off honors.

The track and field athletes are taking today off and the chief attraction for sports-minded Vancouver and its thousands of visitors will be the swimming—and the Aussies are tops in the tank.

They are expected to dominate the cycling too. Also scheduled is competition in wrestling, fencing weightlifting and lawn bowling.

Records tumbled right and left as the 1954 games, fifth in the 24-year series opened Saturday. Eighteen-year-old Jon Henricks of Australia predicted another mark would be brushed aside today in the 110-yard free-style swim if it is, he'll do it.

Henricks won his heat in the event Saturday in 56.9 seconds to beat the old mark of 59.6 and said the finals should produce a 56 clocking to lower it again.

Virginia Grant of Canada had the best time in the women's 110-yard free-style, but Lorraine Joyce Crapp of Australia loafed to a victory in her heat of the race and is the favorite in the finals.

Gold medals were awarded to 11 champions Saturday and nine records were smashed. England picked off three of the medals, winning one each in track, fencing and wrestling and making its biggest show in the six-mile race.

Peter Driver won the event in 29 minutes 9.4 seconds, a record for the games but a minute and a second slower than the world mark held by Czechoslovakia's Emil Zatopek, Frank Sando and Jim Peters followed him across the finish line to make it 1-2-3 for England.

From that triple triumph came a big chunk of the points which put England in front unofficially with a total of 68. Official team totals are not kept but the press corps scores final events on a 10-5-4-3-2-1 basis.

This put Australia second with 47 points, Canada third with 34 and South Africa fourth with 28.

Mike Agostini of Trinidad earned a gold medal with a victory in the 100-yard dash. The women's 100 brought absolutely no surprise when Marjorie Jackson-Nelson of Australia breezed to an easy victory. Marjorie, who holds the world's record of 10.4 seconds, says she'll retire after this year's games.

Crosshanded Golfer Shoots Hole-In-One With No. 3 Wood

ROBERT (COBB) ENZWILER, a cross-handed golfer, became the first man to shoot a hole in one on 354-yard No. 7, a par 4 hole, yesterday at West Haven course in Belleville.

Enzwiler, a member of the East St. Louis Board of Education, had traded in his old set of clubs just before going out on the round and made the ace the first time he used the new No. 3 wood.

No. 7 is U-shaped and blind with a pond and trees in the middle. Enzwiler thus had to clear all those obstacles. Les Jackson witnessed the shot, a double eagle.

Enzwiler, a lefthanded batter in baseball and softball, said he adopted the cross-hand grip because he couldn't obtain any lefthandad golf clubs when he took up the sport.

He had a 40 for the nine holes.

Cahokia Drops Its Day Card For Saturdays

There'll be no more combined afternoon and night thoroughbred racing programs at Cahokia Downs on Saturday afternoons. Following last Saturday's trial, officials announced that hereafter there would be a 10-race night program each Saturday beginning at 8 o'clock.

Last Saturday, the seven afternoon races drew a handle of only $91,695, which, counting the breaks as one per cent gave the track a "take" of only $9169. And the purses for the events totaled $10,500.

For the first Saturday of racing at the St. Louis district's newest track, the mutuel handle for 14 races totaled $313,699, bringing the total for five days to $1,154,949, an average daily handle of $230,989.

Following an open date, racing will be resumed tomorrow night with posttime at 8:20 o'clock.

Junior Golf Is Postponed

The annual Crystal Lake junior golf tournament, scheduled to open today, was postponed until tomorrow because of wet grounds. However, competition will be speeded up so that the meet ends Thursday as planned originally.

An 18-hole qualifying round will precede match play for the field of approximately 75 boys in three divisions.

The field will be classified as follows: Juvenile boys, 13 and under; junior boys, 14 to 16 years, and invitational juniors, up to 20 years of age.

2. Promotions and rate increases based on ability, energy and job concentration—what you know—not who you know!
3. Pleasant working relations with our manufacturing organization. Co-operation and teamwork are Lockheed realities and not just talk. Our shops want to tackle new ideas.
4. One of the country's finest facilities, completely air conditioned—and the tools to get the job done. We are constantly expanding and improving them.

In addition, Atlanta and Marietta offers one of the most attractive, clean-living areas in the nation with good housing priced right to fit any need. Recreational facilities are excellent with golf courses, swimming pools and parks throughout the residential sections.

We very seldom swelter in summer heat, and we don't need snow shovels in winter. For example, here is what official weather reports show for 1954:

Average Monthly Temperatures 1954	High	Low
January	55.4	34.9
March	63.5	42.6
June	88.8	61.7
July 1st-26th	93.0	75.0

The monthly mean temperatures covering a period of forty-five years in degrees Fahr. are as follows:

	Degrees
January	43.2
February	45.2
March	52.9
April	60.8
May	69.4
June	76.1
July	78.1
August	77.1
September	72.8
October	62.5
November	52.1
December	44.7

Don't swelter or freeze . . . Just live as you please!

Texas League Free-for-All Puts One Player in Hospital

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Aug. 2 (AP)—A riot in the San Antonio-Oklahoma City game in the Texas baseball league last night sent one player to the hospital and left six other players bruised.

About 50 of the 3487 fans joined in the rhubarb in the fourth inning.

San Antonio went on to win with Frank Kellert's homer in the eleventh inning.

The trouble began when Outfielder Jim Neufeldt of Oklahoma City slid back safely to second base on a pickoff play. But San Antonio's shortstop, Witty Quintana, fell on him. They came up slugging.

Peace was restored but Oklahoma City Manager Tommy Tatum began exchanging words with the San Antonio bench. Pitcher Rinold Duren, not in the game, tangled with Tatum and both teams and the fans took it up.

Duren suffered a dislocated jaw and an almost-closed eye. He will be out of action about a week.

Umpires banished Tatum, Duren, San Antonio Manager Don Heffner, San Antonio reserve catcher Don Masterson and Al Cross of Oklahoma City.

Quintana and Neufeldt remained in the game.

Ulrich's 268 Wins Tourney

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 2 (AP)—Smiling Wally Ulrich of Rochester, Minn., had his first major golf tournament prize—$4000—today and he knew "just what to do with the money."

Ulrich, former national intercollegiate champion and once second in the Canadian Open, won the $20,000 Kansas City Open with a record breaking 24-under par 268 for 72 holes. He shot a final round 66, seven strokes under par, yesterday.

He edged out the veteran Lloyd Mangrum, of Niles, Ill., and young Gene Littler, each with 270s, on the Blue Hills Country Club course.

E. J. (Dutch) Harrison of St. Louis, totaled 276 to tie for fifth place and collect $950.

Ulrich won it with Littler and Mangrum working one three-some behind him. The 30-year-old Minnesotan shot the first nine yesterday in 31 for a 63-hole score of 233. Mangrum and Littler each were three strokes away at that point.

Littler, who started the final round in a tie with Ulrich at 202, had a 68, while Mangrum finished with a 67. It was the first P.G.A. sponsored tournament in which Littler was eligible to collect cash. He had just completed a six-month probationary period. He and Mangrum each collected $1950.

Ulrich's putter was extremely warm on the 6625-yard par 73 course that got a drenching rain that delayed the start of the final round by an hour and 15 minutes. He had putts of 10, 12, 20 and 25 feet going out.

Ed (Porky) Oliver, of Lemont, Ill., who shot a record 269, 19 under par, in winning the tournament last year, finished well down the list with a 71 and 277.

Johnny Palmer, of Charlotte, N.C., finished fourth with 274 strokes. He matched Ulrich's 66 yesterday. Tied with Harrison were Earl Stewart Jr., Dallas; Doug Ford, Kiamesha Lake, N.Y.; and Bob Toski, Livingston, N.J., with 276s.

Frank Stranahan, of Toledo, who won the tournament in 1946, was low for the amateurs with a last round 70 for 282. Kansas State Amateur titlist Jim English had 74 and 283, nine strokes under par.

Knoxville Uses Negro Player, Spartanburg Quits Tri-State Loop

ASHEVILLE, N. C., Aug. 2 (AP)—Immediate future of the Tri-State League hung in an uncertain balance today after the Spartanburg, S. C., club withdrew suddenly in a fuss over a Negro player.

League President Bobby Hipps said he is waiting for word from Spartanburg President R. M. Littlejohn confirming withdrawal of the club.

Littlejohn says he has already sent the word to Hipps.

The dispute reached a climax yesterday when Knoxville fielded First Baseman Aldo Salvent, a Negro third baseman they recently acquired from Kingsport of the defunct Mountain States League.

Salvent was held out of a game at Spartanburg last week because of a local ordinance.

Knoxville beat Spartanburg 5-1 yesterday but then the South Carolina squad refused to complete the four-game series because of Salvent.

Spartanburg Manager Jimmy Bloodworth said Littlejohn requested him to head for home if Salvent played.

Littlejohn said Knoxville had agreed not to use Salvent.

Hipps said: "The Tri-State League is facing its most serious problem since the formation of the league in 1946. The fat is in the fire. I don't know whether we can finish the season or not."

Hipps said the league directors will meet here, possibly tomorrow, to decide whether to continue with five teams or disband.

10-Hole Playoff Needed to Decide Irvin Cobb Event

PADUCAH, Ky., Aug. 2 (AP)—Fred Smith of Nashville, Tenn., a rugged tournament campaigner, outlasted boyish Bobby Keller of Cairo, Ill., yesterday in a 10-hole playoff for the eighteenth annual Irvin Cobb amateur golf championship.

Smith, a plumbing contractor who took up golf 11 years ago when he was 25 years old, used a neatly executed birdie three on the sudden death tenth hole to master the young jet flier.

The playoff became necessary when the two former Cobb champions finished the regulation 36 holes with 140's. Keller had rallied on the final 18 holes to wipe out a two-stroke Smith lead.

In the overall picture, Smith actually won runner-up honors, because Roy Glenn, a professional from Fort Campbell, Ky., turned in the best 36-hole score with 139, but the Cobb is played in two divisions.

Third prize in the amateur division went to Joe McDonald, a naval officer stationed at Memphis, with a 144.

U.S. Cup Team Sweeps Series

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Aug. 2 (UP)—The United States completed a 5-0 clean sweep of the American Zone semifinals of the Davis Cup eliminations against Cuba.

The United States Team clinched the victory Saturday, but Hal Burrows of Charlottesville, Va., and Hamilton Richardson of Baton Rouge, La., made the score a perfect one yesterday by beating Cuba's Garrido brothers in a pair of singles matches.

Burrows had the toughest match of any American in the series but managed to puzzle Orlando Garrido with his drop shots to win, 6-4, 6-4, 6-4. Richardson played faultless tennis and won easily over Garrido's brother, Reynaldo, 6-1, 6-2, 6-2. It took only 58 minutes for United States intercollegiate champion to score his victory.

The series triumph advanced the United States squad to the American Zone final scheduled next month, against the winner of the semifinals between Canada and Mexico. Thus far, the United States squad has yet to drop a single set in the competitions.

Sgt. Benner Cleans Up In Pistol Matches

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Aug. 2 (AP)—Army M. Sgt. Huelet (Joe) Benner made a clean sweep in the Southeastern Regional pistol matches here yesterday by taking the .45 caliber and grand aggregate titles.

The West Point sergeant scored 2625 points of a possible 2700 in the combined .22, .38 and .45 caliber events over three days. He won all three of those plus the slow fire and rapid fire events opening day.

Marine Lt. Thomas Mitchell of Camp Lejeune, N. C., became the eleventh man of all time to better 2600 in the aggregate scoring. He hit 2602 to take second place to Benner. Marine Lt. Col. Walter Walsh of Arlington, Va., was third with 2589.

TO NOMINATE THE BEST QUALIFIED CANDIDATES IF WE ARE TO ELECT THE BEST MEN IN THE NOVEMBER ELECTION

It now appears that all of the present office holders of the St. Louis holdover Democratic machine politicians will be renominated.

Your best method of securing the kind of efficient government that you want is to nominate the type of civic-minded business man who is capable of and interested in giving you a good businesslike administration.

We recommend "JOHN S. BROWN," a civic minded St. Louis business man, for the office of License Collector, on the Republican primary ballot in TOMORROW'S primary election.

Last year 5,250,529 passengers placed their CONFIDENCE in EASTERN

You're in good hands, honey. Your mommy and Eastern will take care of you on this, your first flight.

You see, Eastern has had long experience handling travel needs such as yours. During the past twelve months* Eastern carried 5,250,529 passengers. Every day Eastern flies 240,000 plane-miles, almost ten times around the world at the equator.

These are but some of the facts that mark Eastern's 26 years of dependable air transportation. And such experience has earned public confidence.

Then, too, you're flying in one of the fastest, most luxurious and most advanced airliners in the world—whether it be Eastern's new Super-C Constellation, magnificent 88-passenger Super-Constellation, famous 60-passenger Constellation, or 40-passenger Silver Falcon.

AIRCRAFTS, STEELS, LOW-PRICED LEAD

Mo. Pac. Preferred Gains Sharply on New ICC Ruling on Reorganization.

NEW YORK, Aug. 2 (AP)—Aircrafts and steels joined with a wide variety of low-priced securities to push the stock market upward today. However, most railroads declined.

Just before the close, United Aircraft raised its quarterly dividend from 75 cents to $1, sending the stock up 2½ points at 63¾. When Lockheed declared a regular 50 cent dividend, it dipped ⅜ at 38½.

Motors, radio-television and utility stocks also tended to rise. Railroads were generally lower. The rest of the market fluctuated narrowly.

The market was 2 issues broader than Friday's at 1220 issues. There were 563 gainers, 368 losers, 289 unchanged. There were 171 new 1954 highs and 3 new lows.

(Dow-Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was 1.65 points higher at 349.57 at the close. The 20 rails dropped .36 of a point to 119.20. The 15 utilities added .30, making the figure 60.40. Both industrial and utility components were new 1954 highs.)

Associated Press average of 60 stocks closed up .4 of a point at 133.6, a new 24-year top. The industrials and utilities recorded new tops.

Last hour and half sales, including day's odd lot sales, were 1,030,000 shares.

Sparked by Government announcements of stepped-up defense production, aircrafts found ready buyers. Douglas, United Aircraft, Fairchild Engine and Glenn Martin moved upward. General Dynamics was especially strong. The company will participate in both the aircraft speedup and the Government's shipbuilding program.

Steels advanced under the impetus of Bethlehem and Youngstown Sheet and Tube. Both companies are slated to merge if acceptable terms are reached.

Motor Products jumped nearly two points after a disclosure that General Tire & Rubber Co. is considering an offer to acquire a controlling block of that company's common.

Though carriers were under selling pressure, Missouri Pacific was an exception. Late last Friday, the Interstate Commerce Commission came up with a new reorganization plan for the bankrupt road and demand for Mo. Pac. preferred was evident today.

MO. PAC. BONDS STRONG ON I.C.C. RULING ON PLAN

NEW YORK, Aug. 2 (AP)—The bond market held within a narrow range today with the exception of a few strong spots in the rail and industrial groups. Bonds of the Missouri Pacific Railroad were outstandingly strong.

The general list was a mixture of small gains and losses late in session, with the gainers having a bit the better of the deal numerically.

A block of 25 Inland Steel 3¼s traded at 121⅝, up 1¾ points. A block of 17 Hudson & Manhattan income 5s crossed the tape at 27, up a point.

Missouri Pacific loans and those of its subsidiary, International Great Northern, were all over the tape almost from the start of trading.

Leading the parade were convertible liens of the Missouri Pacific Railroad, for which the Interstate Commerce Commission approved a new reorganization plan. Mopac 5s of 1965 bounded up 2½ soon after the opening and the carrier's 5 per cent bonds of 1977, '78, '80 and '81 each gained 1½.

U.S. Government liens were quiet and virtually unchanged.

Foreign bonds were mixed and narrow.

RAINFALL IN GRAIN BELT BREAKS PRICES

CHICAGO, Aug. 2 (AP)—Ample rains over a wide section of the Midwest broke soybean prices 10 cents and sent corn down for wide losses on the Board of Trade today.

Other cereals eased with the drop in the Midwest's two major crops. Dealings were active everywhere except in soybeans, where activity was stymied by the fact buying orders were few even at the 10 cent daily limit decline.

Illinois, Indiana, Iowa and Missouri, among other states, received moisture over the week end and during the day. Precipitation was heavy in many spots, touching areas much in need of moisture.

Exporters said West Germany bought some more wheat over the weekend. They estimated that since July 29 West Germany has bought 2,225,000 bushels of American wheat, 1,500,000 bushels of red and 750,000 bushels of hard.

To millions of American Families who want more, need more, should have more life insurance—

Equitable Proudly Announces Living Insurance in a New Low-Cost "Economy Size Package"

NOW you and millions of Americans—who never dreamed it possible to own more life insurance—can give your families more protection than ever before.

For you, Equitable has devised special low-cost "living" insurance—a policy which protects your family if you die and pays you higher-than-ever cash benefits if you live. You don't have to die to win!

This new development in life insurance can't be bought elsewhere!

IT'S AN ECONOMY-SIZE PACKAGE available in amounts of $10,000 or more. Here's why Equitable can offer you this wonderful special policy at rockbottom cost. Because you purchase this much protection, Equitable can pass on to you important savings in the form of low premiums.

For example, at age 35 the premium you pay for this life insurance that continues in force for the rest of your life is 15% less than before—only $23.41 a year per $1000! Annual dividends may be used to reduce your premiums.

NEW FLEXIBILITY. Conditions change; and people's insurance needs change. This special new policy is designed to fit changing circumstances in your life. Only Equitable offers you these low-cost 'change-over' features.

For instance, if you take out the policy at age 35, you are guaranteed the right at age 55 to adjust your policy so that you will not have to pay any further premiums after 65. Or you may exercise the privilege of changing to a policy that will permit you to collect the full face amount at 65 or choose an income plan, whichever you wish. And you do so at a special low rate. Again—you save!

No other policy offered today at such low cost is so flexible. Even if you are not a standard health or occupational risk, you may be able to obtain this protection at an appropriately low rate.

SEE THE MAN FROM EQUITABLE. Ask him about this Special Equitable Adjustable Whole Life Policy. It's insurance designed to fit your needs and your pocketbook!

At Equitable, the fifth largest company in the United States, your needs—and America's needs—always come first!

Whole Life Insurance—available in amounts of $10,000 or more. 20 Year Illustration Assuming Dividends Are Applied to Reduce Premiums on $10,000 face amount.

Furor in Ireland

A Town Transformed To Film 'Moby Dick'

By Art Buchwald

YOUGHAL, Ireland.

WE were invited to attend the launching of John Huston's latest film, "Moby Dick," which is being shot, in part, in the sleepy town of Youghal (pronounced you all), Ireland.

JOHN HUSTON

Huston has transformed Youghal into New Bedford, Mass., because he claims that Youghal looks more like New Bedford in the early nineteenth century than New Bedford does.

The transformation has not only been a physical one, but a sociological one as well. Before Huston selected Youghal, this town, with a population of 5000, just 144 miles from Dublin, had been fighting a losing battle against unemployment, poverty and emigration. About 70 years ago it was an important Irish seaport, but as silt and mud filled up the harbor, Youghal lost its shipping industry, and, in a way, its spirit.

Then came "Moby Dick."

★ ★ ★

THE TOWNSPEOPLE, who had never seen a movie camera before, much less a live Hollywood actor, suddenly found Youghal the most talked-about place on the Irish map.

Tim Murray, the local contractor, was given the task of making the Youghal quay look like New Bedford. Paddy Linehan's combined pub, butcher shop and slaughter house became headquarters for the actors and crew.

The British Legion Hall was repainted and turned into offices for the production. Large barrels of Guinness were rolled on to the dock to represent whale-oil barrels. Sailing ships were brought in and anchored in the harbor. New England had never seen anything like this.

★ ★ ★

MRS. ROHAN, WHO RUNS the stationery shop, sold out every autograph book she had, and had to send to Dublin for more. She also sold 100 copies of "Moby Dick." As the town took on a New England atmosphere, tourists from all over Ireland poured in to see the making of the "fillum," as it is called in Youghal.

Paddy Linehan, who formerly sold six barrels of stout a week, has been averaging 32 barrels. The turf accountant (Irish bookie) says his business has doubled. A police force was sent in from Cork because Youghal police couldn't handle the traffic or the crowds.

You would be thinking that everyone in Youghal would be happy over the arrival of "Moby Dick," but such is not the case. Take John O'Connor, for example. O'Connor owns a pub about 200 yards from Paddy Linehan's. When Tim Murray, the contractor, came to see O'Connor about painting his pub for the fillum, O'Connor said his pub didn't need any painting and if they were going to paint it they could just as well pay him 75 pounds or forget about the whole thing. Now as everyone in Youghal knows, there has always been bad blood between Murray and O'Connor, and so it came as no surprise that Murray said he didn't need O'Connor's pub in his fillum, and he was not about to sign any sort of guaranty with O'Connor in case the pub was damaged.

So what did the fillum company do? They blocked off O'Connor's pub from the quay and now it's Paddy Linehan who is getting all the business and John O'Connor who is cursing the day "Moby Dick" ever came to Youghal.

WE WENT INTO O'CONNOR'S PUB to talk to a few of O'Connor's loyal customers. Sure and they gave us an earful about the fillum.

How many people showed up at the town hall for jobs as extras when the call went out? Two thousand, that's how many. But did the fillum people take the poor people? They certainly did not. They took the bank clerks' wives, and left the poor people's wives and kids out in the cold. That's what they did, said the people in O'Connor's pub.

And when it came to carpentering and painting, did Tim Murray hire the people who were unemployed? He did not. He hired the factory workers from the textile plants who were on vacation. That's what Murray did.

John O'Connor did the right thing when he refused to let the fillum company use his pub, said the customers. When it's all over his roof will still be in good shape, and he won't have no cheap paint on his building. Paddy Linehan may have the business now, but the customers will be coming back to O'Connor's as soon as all the nonsense is over. That's what they say in O'Connor's pub.

★ ★ ★

BUT IT ISN'T O'CONNOR who is the saddest man in Youghal. The saddest man is Kevin McCarthy. When it was first announced that "Moby Dick" would be fillumed in Youghal, McCarthy discovered there was a part in the picture for a man with a wooden leg. Since McCarthy was the only man in Youghal who had a wooden leg, it was obvious he would get the part. And while thousands of citizens were queued up in front of the town hall begging for parts, McCarthy walked about safe in the knowledge that his part was guaranteed.

The only man he feared was Patrick Kennedy, his life-long enemy. If Pat found out about the need for a man with a wooden leg, McCarthy was sure Kennedy would cutsoff a good leg just to spite him.

But McCarthy, alas, did not get the part, and it wasn't because of Kennedy either.

The part went to Gregory Peck who plays Captain Ahab, the one-legged tyrant of the Pequod's crew and the leading character in Huston's fillum.

Dog of the Week

If the current Dog of the Week is a bit on the homely side, it's no accident. It's the nature of the breed. The four-month-old pup is a female Staffordshire terrier, and the breed was developed from a cross between the bulldog and the English terrier. The dog encyclopedia says the Staffordshire originally was bred as a fighting dog, but this particular animal is as gentle as she can be. She is available for adoption on application, in person, at the Humane Society shelter, 1210 Macklind avenue.

Postcard

Real Theatrical

By Stan Delaplane

SAN FRANCISCO.

THIS MORNING while the sun streamed through the open windows and the trade winds toyed with the curtains, my man Arbuckle brought the mail. Naturally on a silver salver.

STAN DELAPLANE

A theatrical group implores me to become a member. They point to my "lifelong interest in things theatrical."

Well, gentlemen, I thought you'd never ask. I do have a lifelong interest in things theatrical. Which I will outline.

My first acquaintance with the theater began at an early age. Balaban & Katz had a number of theaters in Chicago. And it was my desire to patronize these theaters.

★ ★ ★

THIS LEFT ONLY the financial structure to be worked out. It was my thought to patronize these theaters without purchasing a ticket. Being short on the ready, a condition which has plagued me a good deal of my life. Balaban & Katz, on the other hand, believed in a cash deal. And we had a good many years of fine association on this basis. I am happy to state in these later years that I was fairly successful in giving these theaters a good deal of action.

For some time I carried on a successful amour with Miss Pearl White who appeared each Saturday afternoon in "The Perils of Pauline." I also formed a manly attachment for Mr. William S. Hart who, I thought, looked a bit like his horse and also a bit like me. I believe I did a good deal for the theater. Keeping Messrs. Balaban & Katz alert and on their toes.

★ ★ ★

IT WAS THE THEORY of our set that theaters might be entered by the backward hat method. That if a small boy puts his cap on backwards and mingled with the outgoing crowd, he could actually move toward the entrance. The management seeing the cap pointing in the other direction would assume he was departing.

I mention this because I am now committed to more upright methods. Being taller for one thing. And for another, no longer wearing a cap.

★ ★ ★

I SKIP BRIEFLY over theatrical ventures, gentlemen. Such as the time I rose in a south side grammar school and, in my own poetry, advised the assembled students to forsake ju-ju beans for war bonds. I have no space to recount certain triumphs in the amateur theater. As for instance when I had the opening lines in "Street Scene" and, in my excitement, opened with the second act. This simply proves my lifelong interest.

I assume all this was known to the Hollywood organization who invites my membership. I have been wondering what additional interests I have shown in recent years to be admitted to Olympus.

Possibly my daily writings. I have examined the theater closely. Commenting from time to time on the welter of screen ladies whose press releases say they sleep bare as a radish. Or wear no underwear. And such details of lifelong theatrical interest.

★ ★ ★

HOWEVER, THIS SEEMS only adding to a four-star record. Possibly what has put me over the hump is that I now sit in loge seats. Paid in advance.

Yes, gentlemen, I am glad I have gone over these things carefully. And found that indeed I have had a "lifelong interest" in the theater.

I am happy to be able to enter this organization with my head held high. And my cap on backwards.

A New Approach

By Glen R. Shepherd, M.D.

THE treatment and understanding of mental illness may get a large shove in an entirely new direction as a result of recent discoveries in chemistry.

The only chemical help for the mentally ill has been sedatives or drugs to induce shock convulsion. Chief dependence has been on treatment by conversation (psychotherapy and psychoanalysis), convulsions induced by insulin or electricity, and surgical procedures that mutilate the brain (lobotomy, topectomy, ice pick through the orbit).

The latter are repugnant to many physicians. Even their proponents use psychosurgery only as a last resort after other treatments fail.

The disadvantage of prolonged psychoanalysis obviously is the number of doctor-hours required for treatment, meaning few patients can be treated. To a lesser extent, this is true of other forms of psychotherapy.

★ ★ ★

RECENT EXPERIMENTAL WORK with new drugs suggests to more and more physicians that at least some mental illness may have a chemical cause. Perhaps this is a lack or deficiency of some complex chemical normally needed in the brain for rational thinking.

For instance, Drs. D. W. Woolley and E. Shaw, of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research in New York, suggest that natural mental disorders may arise from a serotonin deficit in the brain. They base this on experimental work in which psychoses (severe mental illnesses) occur from taking chemicals that nullify the effect of serotonin. Serotonin is a newly discovered natural hormone.

There's other experimental work in this direction that indicates we have reason to hope for practical results in the future. Make no mistake—all the work so far is experimental. No one claims that the pill treatment of mental illness is either available or just around the corner.

★ ★ ★

IF THIS SORT of experimental work is confirmed and extended to show chemical causes underlying mental illness, it will be the biggest break-through ever in understanding and treating mental illness. It would do as much for the mentally ill as did the discovery of asepsis and anesthesia in the nineteenth century for those needing surgery.

Clinical work, using various new drugs on persons with mental illness, shows promise that eventually some pill, perhaps combined with a short course of psychotherapy, will cure some mental illnesses.

The two most interesting drugs were originally used for other treatments. For instance, Rauwolfia serpentina is a Himalayan and Malayan herb that yields an alkaloid used for treating high blood pressure. A few physicians thought it relieved emotional disturbance in some of those with high pressure.

Two recent studies tend to confirm this. I have seen all the reported results in just one pilot group of 12 chronically ill patients in a state mental hospital. The Reserpine "produced a favorable change in the psychiatric patient characterized by his becoming more expressive, more outgoing and less reserved." The authors, Dr. C. G. Gunn and J. M. Catlett of the University of Kansas Medical Center, suggest that such a small group doesn't prove anything, but these patients had been mentally ill and unchanged in behavior for a long time before treatment.

The other and even more promising drug is chlorpromazine. Its experimental use is so interesting that it deserves a separate article, which will follow.

Youngster's Bedtime Is Critical Time

By Angelo Patri

IT had been one of those days. Dinner had been late, the dishes were still to do, the baby was fussing and Bobby, an hour late for his bedtime was being eased into his pajamas, when Uncle Bob arrived full of pep and ginger.

"Hallo-o-o, how's the boy," and he tossed the small boy shoulder high—tossed him higher, then higher, while the child shouted in excitement, partly in joy, partly in fear. "Let him down, Bob," said the weary mother. "It's long past his bedtime and he needs his rest."

"Oh, let him stay a while. I hardly ever get to see him awake. It won't hurt him for once."

* * *

WHAT IT DID was keep him awake and fussy for a long time. He wanted a drink, he needed to go to the bathroom, he wanted to hear a story about a bear that could talk; he just wanted and wanted, except to go to sleep.

Bedtime is a critical hour in any home where younger children live and flourish. It needs preparation and busy mothers are hard pressed to make such preparation. There needs to be a quiet time about half an hour or so before the small child's bed hour, no noisy, active play, no tossing on high, no shouts, just ordinary peace and quiet, if possible.

The clock should mark the hour so that the child learns that his parents are not banishing him, but that inexorable time has demanded his retirement from activity. If there can be quiet soothing music to accompany bedtime routine, so much the better but no dance music will be helpful here.

If the mother has the time, or if father can officiate, a bedtime story is a useful and comfortable sedative. The idea is, quiet, calm, and peace.

* * *

FOR OLDER CHILDREN, those between 5 and 7, roughly grouped, the same quiet preparation is needed. This group is more likely to ask for a light in the room. It is no sin to allow that. Provide a night light close to his bed so that he can turn it off and on at will and the light problem soon vanishes. The electric light is a double blessing to all mothers of small children.

A radio? If the radio is under supervision, the program limited and selected wisely no harm will be done. It is just as well to do without it, however, at sleep time.

Passenger Pickup

When a passenger is to be picked up on a crowded thoroughfare it is embarrassing and confusing to the driver of the automobile to arrive ahead of time.

As the automobile slows up to the curb cars behind it will be blocked and motorists will blow their horns impatiently. The noise may very well attract the attention of a traffic policeman who will demand the reason for the car blocking traffic.

The public and the officer of the law will not appreciate the importance of picking a passenger up on a crowded street. They will refuse to co-operate. They will make themselves unpleasant. They will show a selfish attitude.

Then the automobilist will have to move on, using up time by going around the block. But he will become entangled in a complicated system of one-way streets. Aiming to go around one block he will find himself driven into going around several blocks. He will ask himself whether he will ever get back to the spot where the passenger is to be picked up.

All of these complications can be avoided if the precaution is taken not to arrive too soon. Under the circumstances the driver of the automobile is justified in taking an optimistic view of the time it will take him to reach the spot where the passenger is to be picked up.

In fact, he may be excused if he deliberately names a time for reaching the appointed place, the accomplishment of which is a physical impossibility. Then there will be no blocking of traffic, no blowing of horns by irate motorists and no questioning by the police.

What more perfect solution? But the driver had better not tell this to the passenger who trusted in his honesty, took him at his word and has been waiting impatiently for half an hour.

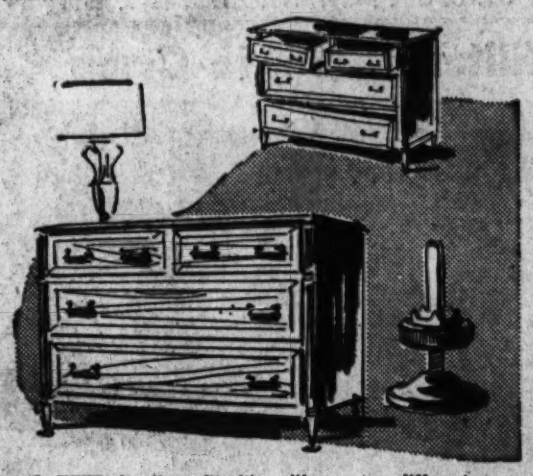
Keep It on the Level

By Elizabeth Hillyer



TO KEEP furniture fit, it's important to keep it level. Almost no floor is perfectly even, and when a leg or two of a piece of furniture doesn't sit as solidly as the others, many things can go wrong. The whole piece may wobble, drawers stick, doors won't stay closed, locks won't lock, glued parts become unglued, wood panels may crack.

Because wood naturally tries to adjust to strain, it warps, and the shape of the whole piece of furniture changes, just enough to cause serious damage.

Some new furniture comes equipped with casters that adjust the length of legs to the uneveness of floors, and casters that can be fitted onto legs that lack them are available.

One such caster is sketched. This type is inserted into a hole in the leg slightly larger than a strong screw hole, and has a thread adjustment to regulate length. This adjustment device locks at the right length so it doesn't need adjusting every time the piece of furniture is moved for cleaning, but length can be regulated again if the furniture is moved to a new position on a different area of floor.

MRS. A. W. H. "Are tier curtains right over Venetian blinds? I feel that they might be out of place, but I've taken a particular fancy to this type of curtain and would like a change from draperies."

Draperies give finish at the sides of a window that has Venetian blinds, but tier curtains would cover the blinds. The function of the blinds, which regulate light and air so well, could not be performed if they were covered by layers of an opaque fabric. You might make wide draperies in tiers for the sides of the windows.

Now's a good time to make plans—before you begin to shop for new furniture. Send for Elizabeth Hillyer's leaflet "Seven Point Plan for Home Furnishings Buying" and profit by expert advice. The leaflet is yours for the asking and a stamped, self-addressed envelope sent with your request to Miss Hillyer at the Post-Dispatch.

Let's Explore Your Mind

By Dr. Albert E. Wiggam

Answer to Question One.

YES, the psychopathic criminals. As pointed out by Dr. Walter Alvarez, they're born that way. Unlike normal persons, they make no plans for the future—marriage, home, children, or business. Science Service states that California scientists are working on tests that will pick out future psychopathic criminals among psychopathic delinquents and also the healthy misguided youth.

Answer to Question Two.

True. San Francisco Drs. Gordan, Bentinck, and Adams have shown as much blood flows through the brains of crazy people thinking "crazy throughts" as of normal people thinking "normal thoughts." I'm never able to tell which kind I am thinking, but my wife can.

Answer to Question Three.

Apparently yes. Science News Letter relates that several doctors found that women under hexobarbitol slept four or five times as long as men under the drug. However, when male hormones were given to the women and female hormones to the men, the men slept like the women and vice versa.

My Day

Booklets on Children of Other Lands

By Eleanor Roosevelt

NEW YORK.

FROM Castline, Me., to Westbrook, Conn., is quite a long drive, but having missed a night with Esther Lape last week I decided to ask her if I could spend a night on my way home. And so we started off early Saturday morning and found it was no difficult feat to cover the intervening miles by dinnertime.

I had a delightful visit and next morning motored over to Hyde Park, where I spent a few hours getting my house in order for my niece and her four children, who arrive this week, and for my own return on Wednesday evening. In the meantime I shall do a little more traveling, but I shall tell you about that later.

* * *

NOW I WANT to bring to your attention some publications which I think anyone with young people in the house would be delighted to have. They can be obtained from World Youth, El Quito road, Los Gatos, Calif., and the two samples sent me are called "Adventures in Egypt" and "Adventures in India." Though written primarily for children, I found them interesting reading.

I have never been in Egypt, but the booklet on India brought back many pleasant memories. In a letter that accompanied these two booklets, Carolyn D. Smiley tells me that they are trying to give children an understanding of other children all over the world. They have published 60 booklets, and each contains "adventure stories laid in some one country, showing the children (8 to 14) of that country in a friendly, attractive light."

Judging from the two I have, there is so much of educational value in them that I think a set of the whole series should be in every school. I am going to order one for my oldest granddaughter in Hyde Park to take to school with her. She will be in junior high school next year and I think these will help any teacher who wants to lead her students out into the world of today. Those of you who have read Lillian Smith's "The Stranger" will remember one of the young men who kept a motel and talked about the "good teacher" who had made the whole world come alive for them even though they never left their little one-room school in Georgia.

* * *

ANOTHER BOOK which I have just read in galley sheets is entitled "Your Deafness Is Not You." It is written by Mrs. Grace E. Barstow Murphy, and is a record of her own experiences as a totally deaf person. It is written with care and sensitivity and deep understanding, and I think it will help anyone who suffers either from partial or complete loss of hearing. It will also be a great help to the understanding of those who can hear and sometimes make it so hard for those who can't.

Mrs. Murphy's husband wrote a book which my husband greatly admired, "Oceanic Birds of South America," and she came to tea with me once at the White House.

Secrets of Charm

Healthy Example

SINCE habits formed in childhood take lifelong hold, it is important that you set a sensible health program for your small daughter, just as you instruct her by example in beauty, manners and dress.

Remember that a youngster is more likely to observe practice than preaching. Remember, too, that the health program which will bear dividends for your daughter as she grows to maturity will help you to stay young!

You might make a game of your mother-daughter health plan with a chart of "do's and don'ts" for each of you to check daily.

* * *

HERE is a list to start you off. Good posture while walking, sitting, standing. Active exercise out-of-doors, or before an open window. Balanced diet, with plenty of milk, meat, and vegetables. Eight glasses of water daily. At least eight hours of relaxing sleep.

You can continue with a long daily list that begins with brushing teeth and bathing, a weekly list to check off such things as shampoo and manicure. All these, and many other health and beauty practices, you and your daughter can accomplish together to make you feel more attractive and daughter feel more grown-up.

For example, here is a setting-up exercise that one physical education consultant and her 6-year-old do together. Little Betty calls it the "Rag Doll Game!" Arms over your head, stand tall and with feet slightly astride. Drop your hand toward your toes and let them dangle, close and closer to the floor. Now straighten up a little and walk, body limp, arms loose. Straighten to full height and repeat the exercise five times more, letting yourself go limp; just like a rag doll.

* * *

POSTURE practice is good for both of you. No one is too young or too old to learn and practice correct posture. Mothers who constantly remind their children to stand and sit erect are as right as they think they are. But since verbal reminders aren't nearly as effective as physical examples, get into the habit of beautiful carriage yourself, and watch the little one follow suit.

Good health is the stuff that clears and pinks your skin, puts the shine in your hair, that sparkle in your eye, the smile on your lips, the lilt in your voice, and life into your charm. It's the thing that enables your daughter to grow up with zip and vitality . . . the thing that lets you keep up with her in pep and energy.

Add a dash of curry powder to a cream of chicken soup you are planning to serve either hot or cold, then sprinkle each bowl or cup of the soup with minced chives.

Martha Carr's OPINION

REG U S PAT OFF

Dear Martha:

I AM a man 22 and am falling in love with a lovely girl two years younger than I. Her husband is overseas and we have been seeing each other regularly for a year. I am sure she is in love with me, but I do not want to fall in love with her or anyone else because I have but a few years left before receiving my Ph.D. degree in physics. She has been talking of divorcing her husband to marry me. I do all I can to discourage her without hurting her but it does no good. I tell her my future does not include a wife for several years and that my work would suffer if I had her to consider in my plans, but she persists and I am beginning to share her feelings. When I was 17, I fell hopelessly in love with a girl who led me on, then dropped me. I was a wreck during the entire courtship and contemplated suicide afterwards. I am driven to desperation and I write for your advice. GEORGE.

In other words, George, you think it's perfectly all right to break up another guy's home while he's overseas, but you can't be bothered with a wife while you're working for that precious degree! Boy, that makes it fine and dandy. Maybe you don't want to worry about her, but I have an idea that her husband will be happy to do just that if you'll stop trying to undermine his marriage. Why don't you and this girl grow up? Think about her husband for a change. Sure, you've been hurt. Most people have. But the fact that one girl dropped you years ago doesn't give you the right to try to take another man's wife. Play it fair, George. Say goodby now before it's too late.

Dear Martha:

I WOULD APPRECIATE IT if you would be good enough to ask fathers, mothers and teachers to teach children to "do unto others as they would have others do unto them." Teach children to be kind to those who are less fortunate than they. The summer is on and there are some children who are handicapped in many ways and a little kindness shown them by other children will go a long way to make these tots happy. If mothers would only sit down and explain to their children that one of their playmates is a little less fortunate than they, the children will understand. WORRIED.

Teen-Age Drivers

By Dr. Paul Popenoe

EVERY teen-ager with a new driver's license in his pocket has the blessing of few people except his parents. Police officials and insurance companies, older drivers and the general public look at him suspiciously. Too many traffic tragedies involving young drivers is the reason. So great is this feeling that the term "teenicide" has been coined.

Add to this the condemnation of the automobile, particularly the jalopy and hot-rod as an adjunct of juvenile delinquency (in the minds of most police and social workers) and you can count two strikes on the adolescent driver before he clears his driveway. What's the answer to all this?

★ ★ ★

IT'S PLAIN ENOUGH to Mr. W.: "It's time to call a halt on all this," he declares, "and the simplest way is to make it illegal for a minor to drive a car, unless he has a special permit given in cases where parents are unable to drive, or something of that sort. There is plenty of public transportation for these youngsters. I feel pretty strongly about this just now because we have had a run-in with our own son—he thought he should be allowed to drive the car when he was 16. Nothing doing! Are you with me, Dr. Popenoe?"

Certainly, Mr. W., I'm with you—for a short distance. I went through this successfully with my own four sons. Let's keep in mind a few general principles:

Scientific studies show that a boy or girl of 15 or 16 may be particularly adept at learning to drive. They take to it naturally and easily—much more easily than a quarter of a century later.

Ability to drive a car is, to the youngster, a symbol of his attainment of adult stature. It gives him a feeling of maturity, freedom, power, that is important to him—even though it carries some risks. We ought to want him to feel grown up and act accordingly.

★ ★ ★

THEY SHOULD LEARN TO DRIVE as soon as others of their group do—which generally means as early as the law allows. Otherwise they feel inferior, frustrated.

After that, it is up to them to show that they are mature enough, worthy of enough confidence, to be allowed to continue to drive. If they can drive as well as you and I (which I suppose is not 100 per cent perfect, Mr. W.), they have as much right as you and I. If they are reckless, careless, try to show off, then the right to drive should be taken away from them. That's for their parents or guardians to enforce. If parents have no control over their offspring, they'd better ask the court to appoint a guardian at the outset!

In other words, I think you and I should be discriminating, Mr. W. Don't punish the majority of safe and sane teen-agers for the misdeeds of the minority of reckless and dangerous. On the contrary—come down hard on the malefactors, but reward good behavior, responsibility, on the part of others.

How far are you with me on that, Mr. W.?

Social Problems

By Emily Post

A WOMAN writes: "The husband of a neighbor of mine has just died, leaving a family of three young children. He had been in and out of hospitals for some time and I know his illness has practically drained his wife of their life's savings. Instead of sending flowers, could I send a check, or might this be considered an insult?"

If you know her really well, you could write a note saying, "I feel sure that John would like help given to you and the children rather than flowers bought for him."

★ ★ ★

DEAR MRS. POST: A friend of mine has just adopted a baby. Would it be proper to send her a printed card of congratulation such as the ones sent to new parents on the birth of a baby?

Answer: If you can find one with suitable wording, such as "the arrival of the baby" instead of "the birth of the baby," it would be both proper and pleasing to receive.

NUNS FROM VARIOUS ORDERS STUDYING BETWEEN CLASSES AT FONTBONNE COLLEGE SUMMER SESSION.

By Mary Kimbrough

Out of Total Enrollment of 616 At Fontbonne College, 562 Were Sisters From 25 Religious Groups

IT WAS like nearly every other college summer session in the country, with such typical courses as American history and advertising, plane geometry and elementary Greek. Classes met in the mornings, with the afternoons given over to study and recreation. The cafeteria line was crowded three times a day and the soft drink machines were emptied in a hurry. As most classes drew to a close last week, there was an end-of-school excitement in the air and home economics students planned a picnic to celebrate.

During their stay on the campus, the students swam, watched television and an occasional movie, played checkers, Scrabble or organized a softball game. They stood around the piano or record player to listen to hit tunes.

But there was one big difference between this and nearly every other college summer session in the country. They didn't burn the midnight oil. That was against the rules.

This unique summer session, where late study hours were forbidden, was at Fontbonne College, and of 616 enrollees, 562 were nuns, subject to the discipline of their respective orders as well as campus regulations. They were up every morning by 5:15 and in bed by 9:45 p.m., with a busy schedule of classes and recreation sandwiched in between. The recreation, incidentally, was as compulsory as the class work.

Most of the classes ended Friday, but some work is continuing through this week. Students represented 25 different religious communities from all over this country and Puerto Rico. Some were teachers, some were nurses or dietitians. They learned everything from how to bake a pie or design a dress to chemistry, either to obtain college credits for themselves or added knowledge and techniques to pass along to their students in Catholic institutions.

As members of different orders whose histories thread back across the centuries and across the world, they wore habits varying from the familiar and somber black to navy blue, brown or white. Their headdress varied from the huge white bonnets of the Daughters of Charity to the simple black veil which identifies the Sisters of St. Joseph of Carondelet. The purposes of their religious communities range from education and missions to care for the sick, the orphaned and the aged.

More than half the registrants —312—were Sisters of St. Joseph of Carondelet who conduct Fontbonne College and St. Joseph's Academy. The story of their order began in 1650 when the Rev. Peter Medaille, a Jesuit, founded the sisterhood in LePuy, France. In 1836 Mother St. John Fontbonne of the religious order sent six pioneer nuns to America, and they settled in a two-room log cabin in the village of Carondelet just next door to the trading town of St. Louis and began to teach a group of deaf mutes. From the motherhouse in Carondelet, now located at 6400 Minnesota avenue, the Sisters of St. Joseph have gone all over the United States and Hawaii to establish schools, hospitals and welfare institutions.

THREE SISTERS PLAY SCRABBLE WHILE ONE NUN LOOKS ON.

Back to study as an alumna of Fontbonne and a member of the Sisters of St. Joseph of Carondelet is Sister Mary Malachy, C.S.J., who graduated from the school in 1940 and now is teaching in an Indian school of 400 boys and girls at Keshen, Wis. She is the former Miss Dorothy Daly of Fort Smith, Ark.

The blue-garbed Daughters of Charity, next in line with 87 students, trace their order back to the seventeenth century when it was founded by St. Vincent de Paul in Paris and the dress worn by peasants of that time adopted as the official habit. They came to St. Louis in 1828 to establish and staff the old Mullanphy Hospital.

★ ★ ★

THE Daughters of Charity boasted the student who had come the greatest distance to study at Fontbonne. She is sister Candida of Puerto Rico, who found that the bonds of the religious order easily cut across national lines and felt right at home with her American-born colleagues. She is a teacher in Puerto Rico working toward her college degree.

There were 51 Ursuline sisters, members of an order founded in Italy in the sixteenth century, which sent the first nuns to North America. They established the first convent within the present limits of the United States in 1727 at New Orleans.

Three of the registrants were Benedictine sisters, all home economics students, whose order is said to have been founded by St. Benedict during the fifth century. Six were Sisters of St. Dominic, distinguished from the others by their white habits and threading the history of their order back to 1206 in France.

Three wore the apron and snowy white collar, cuffs and coif ending in a broad bow which mark the Sisters of Christian Charity. Exiled from their native Germany, the first Sisters of Charity came to this country in 1873 and have established hospitals, mission school and homes for the aged as well as other welfare institutions.

Representing one of the younger orders was Sister Mary Cunegunda, B.V.M., from Burbank, Calif. She took the Fontbonne course in home economics to prepare herself to teach that subject next fall in Burbank, where her students will include boys as well as girls. Her order, Sisters of Charity of the Blessed Virgin Mary, was established in 1833 in Philadelphia and the mother house in Dubuque, Ia.

Only 150 of the nuns lived on the campus, with the others, commuting to and from Fontbonne on streetcars or chartered buses, in station wagons or private automobiles.

The complete list of orders, some of which are divided into different congregations with mother houses in various parts of the country, follows: Sisters of St. Joseph of Carondelet, Sisters of St. Joseph, C.S.J. (Georgia); Sisters of St. Joseph, S.S.J. (Florida); Daughters of Charity; Sisters of St. Ursula, O.S.U. (Kirkwood); Sisters of St. Ursula, O.S.U. (Maple Mount, Ky.); Franciscan Sisters, O.S.F. (Gasconade-St. Louis); Franciscan Sisters, O.S. F. (Manitowoc); Franciscan Sisters, O.S.F. (Springfield, Mo.); Sisters of the Most Precious Blood, C. PP. S.; Sisters of the Incarnate Word, C.C.V.I.; Benedictine Sisters, O.S.B.; Sisters of St. Dominic, O.P. (St Louis); Sisters of St. Dominic, O.P. (St. Catherine, Ky.); Sisters of St. Dominic, O.P. (Grand Rapids, Wis.); Sisters of Notre Dame, S.S.N.D.; Sisters of Notre Dame, S.N.D. (Toledo, Ohio); Sisters of the Visitation, V.H.M. (St. Louis); Sisters of Mercy, R.S.M. (Chicago); Sisters of Mercy, R.S.M. (St. Louis); Sisters of Charity of the B.V.M. (California); Sisters of Christian Charity, S.C.C.; Sisters of the Blessed Sacrament, S.B.S.; Sisters of the Blessed Sacrament, S.S.C.M., and Sister Zelatrices of the Sacred Heart, M.Z.S.H.

★ ★ ★

GOVERNED by regulations of their respective orders, the nuns followed different rules. Some, for instance, were permitted to swim in the college pool. For others, that was forbidden. Throughout each day, groups would be seen congregating in the chapels to say their required prayers together.

They attended Mass together at 6:15 each morning and at noon the Angelus called them to prayer again. When they weren't in class, or at Medaille Hall for recreation, they gathered in the familiar arcades of Fontbonne, talking quietly or boning up like any other college students on algebra or government, calculus or a chemistry problem. Upstairs, in the up-to-date food laboratory, others were trying out fancy recipes or washing dishes after preparing a meal, with white aprons tied around their serge habits. The home economics class was divided into groups of three, with each unit planning its own menus and making out its own grocery orders.

In an office off Ryan Hall, the pleasant-voiced president of Fontbonne, Mother Mary Marcella, C.S.J., drew the strings together to keep the program running smoothly. This is one of the largest enrollments in Fontbonne's summer session history.

SISTER DOLORITA, O.S.B., OF FERDINAND, IND., IN HOME ECONOMICS.

She also made sure that the nuns had time and opportunity for recreation. They are required, she said, by church law to set aside a certain part of the day for that.

"And recreation doesn't mean curling up in a corner with a good book," she explained. "It means getting out with other people and joining some kind of group recreation. They played cards or games, watched an occasional movie, and a few of them chose up partners for dancing. Regular ballroom dancing, you know, with the older ones going in for waltz steps. I wouldn't be surprised if some of the younger ones were jitterbugging a little.

"There weren't many real problems and those that did come up were of a personal nature, perhaps illness in a student's family.

"Certainly," she smiled, "with a student body of nuns, we had no problems of discipline."

Contract Bridge

By Ely Culbertson

NORTH made a common mistake in the following deal—he took it for granted that his partner, having made two bids, would not suddenly stop short of game. The fact was, however, that South had "run out of bids" and that North himself should have taken a little more action.

North, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.
East-West 60 on score.

	♠4 ♥KQ63 ♦AQ82 ♣K752
♠AQJ763 ♥J42 ♦53 ♣Q8	NORTH WEST EAST SOUTH	♠K109 ♥A1085 ♦97 ♣J643
	♠852 ♥97 ♦KJ1064 ♣A109

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1♥	Pass	2♦	2♠
3♦	3♠	4♣(!)	Pass
4♦	Pass	Pass	Pass

As is usually the case, the opposing part-score raised something of a bidding problem for South and North. North's opening heart bid, and South's two-diamond response (influenced by the opposing score) were clear-cut enough, as was North's free raise of diamonds on the second round, but when South had to make a decision over East's three-spade bid, a subtle point entered the picture.

South knew that if he bid four diamonds at this juncture, North might take the view that South was merely competing, and North might decide to pass with a hand that could perhaps offer a good play for game. South himself was not strong enough to jump to five diamonds, so he deliberately selected the four-club bid to encourage North if his holding wafranted optimism, and to indicate that South was not merely competing but had genuine game hopes.

Actually, since the four-club bid found North with a good fit in that suit too, he obviously should have jumped to five diamonds. When he bid only four, South had to subside.

Even though the heart ace was offside, South made 11 tricks by executing a squeeze against East, who could not hold on to all of his hearts and at the same time keep the club jack sufficiently guarded.

The garden wheelbarrow will keep enough cokes iced for a crowd. Decorate handles and wheel with frills of crepe paper.

Fix It Yourself

Making Outdoor Furniture Last.

A GOOD deal of outdoor furniture has just about the same life expectancy as a New Year's resolution. In the case of wood outdoor furniture this is due to the fact that it's left outdoors a good deal of the time and before you know it, the wood has started to rot.

A good way to preserve the life of outdoor furniture is to coat it with a wood preservative before it's put out for use. This must be done before the wood is painted. If you don't feel like trying to coat the entire piece with a wood preservative, at least do those vital areas where decay is likely to get started. If you are building the furniture yourself, this can be done before the parts are assembled. If you bought it assembled, it will pay you to take it apart to treat the areas.

All holes in the wood drilled for bolts should be treated with a wood preservative, also where two pieces fasten together so that you have wood touching wood. These spots need a preservative for they don't get much ventilation and should the wood become damp, it would be a long time before it dried out.

It's a good idea to treat the ends of the legs, too, because they absorb moisture from the ground, and also coat the end grain of the wood for this absorbs moisture more rapidly than the flat surfaces. Last but not least, treat any checks or cracks in the wood.

Gala Season For Guests in Michigan

By MILDRED CHAMBERLAIN

HARBOR SPRINGS, Mich. Aug. 2.

IF THE season in this cool lake country is not at its peak, it is certainly close to it. There are parties galore! House guests in many of the cottages provide incentive for a gay round of luncheons, dutch treat parties and informal cocktail gatherings.

At the Roaring Brook Shores cottage of Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Manassa, St. Louis guests are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Grote of Brentmoor Park and Mrs. Charles Spalsbury, who now makes her home in Boca Raton, Fla. Several parties have been given in their honor, including cocktail and dinner parties at both Roaring Brook Inn, overlooking Little Traverse Bay, and the Little Harbor Club.

Among the luncheon hostesses honoring Mrs. Grote and Mrs. Spalsbury are Mrs. John S. Swift of St. Louis; Mrs. John Denvir, a former St. Louisan now making her home in Miami, Fla.; and Mrs. Raymond W. Peters, who is in her summer cottage.

A dutch treat party of Wequetonsing cottagers gathered at the Little Harbor Club on Thursday evening for the fall fashion show given by the Reinhertz shop of Petoskey. Among the group were Mr. and Mrs. Peters, their recently-arrived son and daughter-in-law, the Raymond Turner Peters of St. Louis; Mr. and Mrs. Grote, Mrs. Spalsbury, Mr. and Mrs. Manassa, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hollerith of Jackson, Mich., and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lontz of Richmond, Ind.

* * *

FALL FASHIONS were shown during the cocktail and dinner hour Friday evening at Roaring Brook Inn, where models made a lovely picture as they descended the red-carpeted winding stairway dressed in original gowns and furs. Several St. Louisans attended. The Harbor Point Club House put on a fall fashion show Tuesday evening.

Mrs. J. S. McIntyre, who has a summer home near the Inn, gave a luncheon last Wednesday for her newly-arrived St. Louis house guest, Mrs. X. P. Wilfrey, here for a two weeks' visit. Other St. Louisans at the luncheon were Mrs. John R. Caulk and Miss Hazel Duncan, who are spending the summer in Wequetonsing at Colonial Inn.

The roaring brook which winds its way through tranquil forests down to the shores of Little Traverse Bay is blanketed these days with tiny little blue forget-me-nots. The beauty of the pines and the silver birch trees serves as a backdrop at the beach, where sea gulls perform their endless ballets.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Howe, among the St. Louisans living on the Roaring Brook Shores, will return the middle of the week to their cottage here after a month's visit in Hawaii. With their daughters, Miss Sallie Adams, who will be a senior at Smith this fall, and Eleanor Howe, they have just completed a tour of the island and a stay at the Royal Hawaiian. They were joined in San Francisco this weekend by Mrs. Howe's son, Lt. John Denson Adams Jr., who is stationed in Sacramento.

Mrs. Clifford W. Gaylord, at home in Wequetonsing, has a four-ring circus this summer. Grandchildren ranging from 5 years to 4 months in age are visiting with their mother, Mrs. Gilbert R. Pirrung, in a nearby cottage. They speak with a combined Georgian and English accent, surprising their grandmother by alternating between the charming accent of their English mother and that of their Southern nurses on their plantation, Aragon, in Bainbridge, Ga. Mrs. Gaylord's son, Mr. Pirrung, who is now busy with cattle and peanuts, will join his family, Lynette, Mark, Christy and 4-month-old Timothy, sometime next month. The children spend many hours of the day in their grandmother's picket fence playground near the blue bay.

Miss Julia Terry joined her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Whitelaw T. Terry, in their Wequecottage this week. She was among the guests at a gay party held Thursday afternoon at the Richard Baldwin home with hostesses, Miss Marye Baldwin and Miss Shelley Bush. The party followed the first sailing race of the season, sponsored by the Little Harbor Yacht Club.

Among St. Louisans of the younger set attending were Miss Betty Niedringhaus, Dixon Spivy, Mrs. John R. Gardner and her brother, Keith Scripps of Detroit and Bel Air, Calif.; Shepard Bryan, Mr. and Mrs. John Mills, Miss Almira Baldwin and Miss Susan Stinson of Baltimore, who is visiting Miss Shelley Bush and her mother, Mrs. Patterson Bush, in their Weque home.

* * *

FREQUENT FISHERMEN from the dock in Wequetonsing, who make quite a picture with their miniature poles, are Mrs. John Gardner's young sons, four-year-old John Ridgely Jr., and year-and-a-half old William. The boys have landed a number of small perch with their mother's help.

Water skiing is one of the favorite hobbies of Mrs. Gardner and her brother, Keith, who is visiting her. With Miss Baldwin and Miss Bush, they often go to the Little Harbor Club for tennis, sailing and speed boat racing.

Mr. and Mrs. P. Taylor Bryan arrived from St. Louis last week with their daughter, Miss Mary Ann and son, Shepard, who is visiting from Los Angeles in their Weque cottage.

The Kenton Cravens are entertaining this month their daughter and son-in-law, St. Louisans Mr. and Mrs. William J. Phelan Jr., and two-year-old Phoebe. Their stately home on Glenn Drive, Windy Hill, is situated high on a bluff looking out over the bay. A breath-taking view meets the eye from their flowered terrace, a perfect spot from which to watch the sailboat races now held twice a week.

Other guests in the Cravens spacious home are old friends, Mr. and Mrs. G. Carlton Hill of Cincinnati, and Mr. and Mrs. Milo B. Hopkins of Montclair, N. J.

Miss Mary Kennard Wallace has had as her guest over the weekend Mrs. Ralph Frew Peters (Jean Coulter) a former St. Louisan, whose husband, Lt. (J.G.) Peters is overseas with the Navy. Mrs. Peters left her baby daughter with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Russel Coulter, in Peoria, Ill.

Miss Wallace is the daughter of the John Kennard Wallaces, 10450 Whitebridge lane, Ladue.

MR. AND MRS. J. ROY STOCKTON, AFTER THEIR MARRIAGE EARLY SATURDAY EVENING AT THEIR NEW HOME, 15 DANFIELD ROAD, LADUE. MRS. STOCKTON WAS MRS. JOSEPHINE KNOX RASSIEUR, DAUGHTER OF MR. AND MRS. JOSEPH McLEAN KNOX, JACKSON, MO. MR. STOCKTON IS SPORTS EDITOR OF THE POST-DISPATCH.

Miss Jeanne Ruenzi, William S. Kenney To Be Married Aug. 14

Plans are now complete for the wedding Saturday morning, Aug. 14, of Miss Jeanne Harvey Ruenzi, daughter of Mrs. H. Harvey Ruenzi and the late George Harig Ruenzi, to William Stewart Kenney, son of Mr. and Mrs. George F. Kenney, 2537 Annalee avenue, Brentwood. They will be married at 11 o'clock by the Rev. Joseph A. Scheijbal at St. Roch's Church. A breakfast will be given by the bride's mother at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mel Taylor, 8 Maryview lane, Ladue, for the immediate families and bridal party.

Miss Mary Ann Tiemeyer will be maid of honor for Miss Ruenzi, and Miss Jacqueline McMahon, Mrs. Joseph A. Lawton (Mary Latta Clarkson), and Mrs. James P. Bick (Joanne Monahan) will serve as bridesmaids.

The prospective bridegroom has asked his brother, George Kenney, to be best man. His ushers will include his cousin, William Barnes, Oliver Trittler, Donald Wren, Robert Dauber, and his brother-in-law, David Koempfer, Jackson, Miss.

Among the forthcoming parties in honor of the bride-elect will be a buffet supper and linen shower tonight to be given by Miss McMahon at her parents' home, 6173 Waterman avenue. On Saturday, Aug. 7, Mrs. James Barnes, Mr. Kenney's aunt, will be hostess at a luncheon for Miss Ruenzi and her contemporaries.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Harley B. Caywood, 4951 Laclede avenue, recently arrived in Harbor Springs, Mich., having stopped in Chicago for several days on their way. They also visited friends in Douglas and Charlevoix, Mich., while en route. They will remain in Harbor Springs for a week or ten days, before returning to St. Louis by way of Chicago.

International Designer's Pattern

BIKI is one of the leading members of the Italian couture, a group that is steadily receiving more and more recognition from the wise men and women in the fashion business who set the pace by their selections, as well as from famed, chic, private individuals. Biki herself is noted among them for her clean, lean lines that do things for the wearer's figure and that have an unquestionable look of high style. Her model today is a sleek example of this trade mark with its smooth fitted midriff and abbreviated hip yoke from which spring those tiny but important hipbone gathers that emphasize and point out a smallness of waist. The button detail is a typical couture touch and the pattern includes new instructions for making professional appearing bound buttonholes with the greatest of ease. For now, use a faille, taffeta, shantung or linen; in the fall, use a worsted flannel with sparkling buttons, and wear it as a cocktail dress. (Informal daytime wool fabrics are being seen quite frequently as the media for party clothes.)

This pattern is cut to DESIGNER MEASUREMENTS, not standard pattern measurements.

BUST	WAIST	HIPS	SIZES
34	24	35 inches	10
35	25	36 inches	12
36½	26½	37½ inches	14
38	28	39 inches	16
40	30	41 inches	18

Pattern S-230, size 12 requires 3⅛ yards of 36-inch material or 2⅛ yards of 54-inch material for dress and ¼ yard of 35-inch material for interfacing.

To order a pattern, address International Designer's Patterns, care of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, P.O. Box 993, Dept. SX-17, G.P.O., New York 1, N.Y. State size. Send $1, add 4 cents for handling, if paid by check or money order. Airmail handling 25c extra.

How It Started

By Jean Newton

The Word "Shamefaced."

THE correspondent who poses the question of shamefaced brings up an interesting subject. In its use today, this expression can hardly disassociate itself from the idea of shame—even though it is sometimes still used in the sense of diffident or bashful, and correctly designates a person easily put out of countenance.

When John Dryden wrote, "Your shamefaced virtue shunned the people's praise," he shameful. And this brings us to surely had in mind nothing Timothy 11:9, the allusion to the word's history as shamefast—a term formed in similar fashion to steadfast. Its sense is clear in Chaucer's line, "Shamefast she was, in maiden shamefastness"!

The now archaic "shamefast" had its origin in the Anglo-Saxon "scamfaest," and lest there remain any doubt as to its primary sense in modesty and diffidence, the best definition of it is perhaps in further quotation. In Shakespeare we find this: "Conscience is a blushing, shamefast spirit." And in 1 Timothy, 11, 9, the allusion to "Modest apparel with shamefastness"!

Thus, clearly, it is not really face that confronts us in shamefaced.

Lingerie Trends

Lingerie shades are getting deeper, and there is a definite trend toward colorful printed and embroidered petticoats and slips. Rose-colored and pale blue slips are being introduced by several manufacturers. Petticoats made of dark-colored taffeta have rosebud embroidery in pink and other pastel shades.

Middy Collar

The middy collar appears on many dresses, and also is being adapted for coats and suits. Large, rounded collars also are increasing in numbers, many of these extending over the top of the arms. Both shapes add novelty ties. Some ties are of the bow type while others are narrow fore-in-hand styles.

Salmon Timbales

Ingredients: One cup uncooked rolled oats (quick or old-fashioned), one teaspoon baking powder, one-half teaspoon salt, one-eighth teaspoon pepper, one teaspoon paprika, one and one-half cups milk, one teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, two cups flaked cooked salmon (about one pound), two eggs (separated).

Method: Stir oats, baking powder, salt, pepper and paprika together thoroughly. Add milk, Worcestershire sauce, salmon and beat egg yolks, mixing well. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Turn into greased custard cups and bake in moderate (350-degree) oven 50 minutes to one hour. Unmold. Makes six servings.

Note: If canned salmon is used, substitute the salmon liquid for part of the milk.

Bitter Sage

By Frank Gruber

Chapter One.

During the Civil War, Sam Older rode with the infamous Quantrell. He raided and looted and he was at the bloody massacre of Lawrence, Kan. After the war when even the guerrillas received amnesty and returned to peaceful pursuits, Sam Older became an outlaw.

Then Sam Older was killed and became The Great American Legend, the man who was hounded into outlawry and stole from the rich to give to the poor. The name of Wes Tancred, the man who killed Sam Older, became an epithet.

LIFE has to be lived. Wes Tancred rode the lonely trails. He saw Dakota and Wyoming, he rode through Kansas and Colorado. He went to Texas and Louisiana, Illinois and Kentucky, Ohio and Missouri. He visited towns and cities, he rode for days without seeing another human being.

He had to live, so he worked. He worked as a laborer on the railroad as it crept across Nebraska and Wyoming. He sold shoes in a store and once he read law in an attorney's office, but mostly he worked as a printer, a trade at which he had had some apprenticeship back in Missouri before . . . before he had killed Sam Older.

In the spring of 1876 a doctor in Michigan listened to his heart and tapped his chest and his lungs and said, "Get rid of the tension, get out in the sun and work with your hands. Forget everything that's ever worried you and relax."

The doctor knew him as John Bailey. A lot of people had known him by that name and quite a few of them had talked to Bailey . . . about the black-hearted traitor who had killed the great Sam Older. Someone wrote a song about it and the man who called himself John Bailey heard it. Bailey heard it a thousand times.

And the doctor told him to get rid of the tension! He did not know that John Bailey was Wes Tancred.

Well, one place was as good as another, So now in the spring of 1877, the man who called himself John Bailey looked over the log poles of the corral behind the stage station and saw miles of Kansas prairieland.

He watered the horses and he fed them. He rubbed them down and he hitched them to the once-a-week stage as it paused for moments every Thursday on its way to Kansas & Western a hundred miles to the south. He drove the relieved horses into the corral and rubbed them down and fed and watered them and tended them, and on Saturday he hitched them to the north-bound stage as it stopped for moments on its run to the Union Pacific 220 miles to the north.

And when there was no work to be done, which was most of the time, he sat in the sun and watched the sod-covered stage station.

* * *

AND Laura Vesser. Laura was 20, a slim, fresh girl with the bluest of blue eyes and a freckled nose. She had lived here with her father at this lonely spot on the Kansas plains for six years. It was a sorry life for a girl, but Vesser had no relatives in the East with whom she could live and he had only one lung and could not live in the towns.

Then one Wednesday morning the three men came out of the north and tied their horses to the corral poles.

They were whiskered and unkempt and none had washed for days. They were ravenously hungry and they ate every scrap of the food Laura cooked and set before them and no word was said about payment for the food. They asked for whisky.

"I don't sell it here," Vesser told them.

"Who said anything about selling?" sneered the worst looking one of the trio, a man the others called Jethro. "We ain't got $2 between us."

Vesser shook his head. "I've no whisky to give you."

Dave, who might have been the leader of the trio, a cold-eyed man in his early thirties, got up from the table and went into the lean-to where Laura did the cooking.

Angrily, Vesser started after him. The squat man sprang up from the table and cut off Vesser.

"Don't," he said.

Vesser swerved to the wall where a rifle was suspended across two wooden pegs. Jethro came up as Vesser reached for the gun. He clouted him a hard blow with his fist.

Laura screamed and the squat man lunged for her, but Laura evaded his grab and made the open door.

Outside, Tancred was coming toward the station from the corrals.

"John!" Laura cried. "Those men . . ."

The squat man came out of the stage station, a Navy revolver in his grimy fist.

"Don't make no play, bub," he said.

* * *

TANCRED held up his hands, palms forward. "I've no gun." The squat man showed his bad teeth in a wicked grin. "Good thing!"

Vesser came hurtling out of the stage station, propelled by Jethro who followed with Vesser's rifle. He looked coolly at Tancred, then with a sudden hard blow, smashed the gun barrel over a rock, cracking it. He threw it to the ground.

"Just so we don't have no trouble."

The leader of the trio came out with a flask of whisky. "Your cooking whisky, I suppose," he remarked.

Vesser said, bitterly, "All right, you've had food and you've got the whisky. Pile on your horses. . . ."

"Uh-uh," said Jethro. "Not just yet."

The man with the whisky regarded Vesser coldly. "The south stage stops here tomorrow, doesn't it?"

Tancred saw that Vesser would not answer and as the squat man moved in on him, Tancred said, "Yes, the stage comes through here on Thursday, usually around 2 o'clock in the afternoon."

Dave grinned wolfishly. "You've got more sense than he has." He inclined his head at his companions and headed for the corral. They followed. When they were out of earshot, Vesser said to Tancred, "You shouldn't have told them."

"What difference does it make? They can see it coming 10 miles away."

Vesser exhaled heavily. "They're going to hold up the stage."

Tancred nodded agreement.

Vesser's forehead creased: "The rifle's out of commission." He paused a moment. "I've got a revolver—if they don't search my bed."

"No!" Tancred said, quickly. "You can't fight them. Fighting is their business."

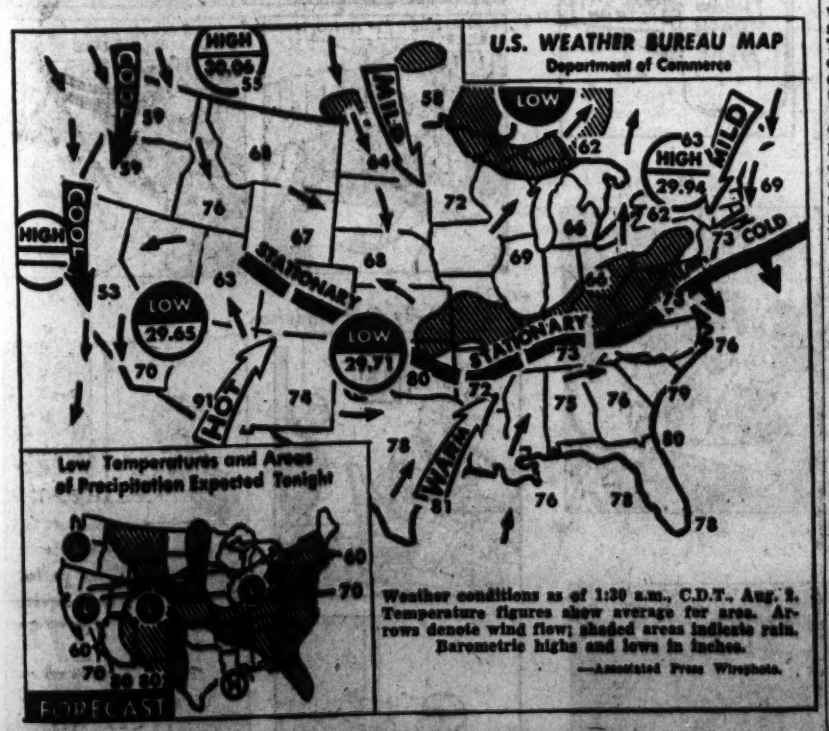
Peas and Green Onions

Ingredients: Two pounds green peas, four green onions (scallions), one half cup boiling water, one-fourth teaspoon salt, one tablespoon butter or margarine.

Method: Shell peas and put in saucepan. Clean onions and slice in one-half-inch pieces, including green part; add to peas with water, salt and butter. Bring to a boil quickly; reduce heat and cover, but keep boiling rapidly until peas are tender. Serve with pan liquid in sauce dishes if desired. Makes six servings.

More Thundershowers Tonight



Weather conditions as of 1:30 a.m., C.D.T., Aug. 2. Temperature figures show average for area. Arrows denote wind flow; shaded areas indicate rain. Barometric highs and lows in inches.

—Associated Press Wirephoto.

Cooling and refreshing thundershowers across the northern and central Midwest, brought pleasant temperatures to the St. Louis area today following the heat wave of last week. Meteorologist Harry F. Wahlgren said skies will be partly cloudy here through tomorrow with occasional thundershowers tonight and possibly continuing tomorrow.

Wednesday, the weatherman said, should be generally fair with moderate temperatures. Maximums in Missouri yesterday were all in the 80s, and minimums early today ranged from 61 at Butler to 69 in St. Louis and Malden.

Highs over the nation varied yesterday from 54 at Tatoosh Island, Wash., to 110 at Las Vegas, Nev. Low early today was 39 at Craig, Colo. Heavy rain fell over the weekend in Kansas, Minnesota, Illinois, Arkansas and Missouri.

Uncle Ray's Column

THE BIRDS known as parakeets, or budgies, are the most popular cage birds of the present age. They now rank high above the large-sized parrots which were very common cage birds in past times.

Parakeets may be described as little parrots—but what a difference! Instead of the big, clumsy Polly-want-a-cracker birds, we now have small, pretty birds. Parakeets seem to be smarter than parrots and their owners think they are more pleasant to have around the house.

* * *

WHETHER OR NOT a parakeet learns to talk, it is an amusing bird. It is quick to learn little tricks, and it seldom causes much bother. If there is any trouble the owner is likely to laugh about it. His bird supplies far more pleasure than trouble.

Seventeen years have passed since I saw a budgie for the first time. During a trip around the world, I visited my old friends, Kenneth and Dorothie Smith, in Stratford-on-Avon, England. Their father owned a store where seeds were sold, along with other things for gardens.

In the Smith household was a four-year-old budgie which had come from western Australia. His name was Sammy, and I was pleased when he perched on my shoulder. Sammy could speak a number of words, including his own name.

* * *

BUDGIES DIFFER in size, but many of them are about as large as robbins. They fall far short of robins and bluebirds in power of song, but they can learn to speak. Never have I heard a robin or bluebird utter a word, but budgies can become expert talkers!

Australia's budgies have feathers of several colors, including green, blue and yellow. Less common are cobalt and cinnamon feathers.

Besides the budgies of Australia, the parakeet family contains birds of Africa and southern Asia. In past times, Carolina parakeets were common in some sections. Those wild birds seem to have become extinct.
